$200,673 Is Allocated For UR Rehabilitation

Department of Housing and Urban Development has approved a loan for $200,673 for the purchase and rehabilitation of 15 low rent units in Kingston.

The announcement came from Senator Robert F. Kennedy and noted that all contracts will be awarded by the Kingston Housing Authority.

The rehabilitation will take place in the Seventh and parts of the Eighth Ward, Broadway West.

Alexander Yosman, executive director of Kingston Housing Authority said today he was pleased to hear the news but that his office had not been officially notified, as yet, by the federal government.

The application by the housing authority was filed April 6 of this year and approved by the Common Council at its May 2nd meeting. The delay in approval was attributed to the lack of a workable program in Kingston which was approved Oct. 10.

No estimate on completion of the 15 units for rehabilitation was given by the housing authority since the buildings will be purchased as they become available from private owners.

The dwellings will be used as a relocation resource by the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency which had 84 families on its relocations lists at the end of September.

All persons applying for residence in the 15 units, when completed, will have to meet Kingston Housing Authority requirements.

Retirement Goes Back to Council

Mayor's Veto Rapped

BY HUGH REYNOLDS

The Common Council, which passed the 25-year retirement plan for city police and firemen, will now be faced with the decision to override Mayor Garraghan's veto of that measure.

The Council passed the measure at its Oct. 3 meeting, 12-0. The other alderman, William G. Davis L-13th Ward), was in California on vacation at the time of the October meeting.

Wednesday, the day after the Council meeting, Garraghan said he would veto the measure, claiming the aldermen had no right to pass the retirement plan since they had no idea of what it would cost.

Fight Vowed

The next day, representatives of policemen and firemen in the city vowed to fight for the plan in a front-page Freeman article. The fire fighters and cops estimated the total cost of the 25-year retirement plan at $14,000.

In the meantime, City Treasurer Orrie R. Riehl was instructed by the mayor to write to Albany to find out what the actual cost of the 25-year retirement plan would be.

Oct. 6, Mayor Garraghan vetoed the 25-year retirement plan for reasons of lack of information on the cost of the plan. Information on the cost of the plan, indicating about a $15,000 tab, arrived from Albany on Monday, Oct. 9.

Garraghan then informed the public, in a Freeman article of Oct. 10 that he was reconsidering his former decision to veto the 25-year retirement plan. Little was heard on the issue after that.

Reaction Mixed

Reaction of the veto today was mixed. A spokesman for Uniformed Fire Fighters Local 461 said his unit had no comment to make on the veto but had been aware of the veto on the 10th.

John Machione (R-12th Ward) said he was "shocked" at the mayor's veto. Machione said he was "led to believe by the majority (Democrats) that the mayor would approve the plan."

"Is seems peculiar that the mayor, who is head of the police board and a member of the fire board, would veto a measure to benefit both those departments."

Machione also repeated his suggestion that members of the board of public works should share in all benefits that are approved for other city employes.

Bechtold Blast

Republican Mayoral candidate C. John Bechtold said the mayor's veto of the 25-year plan is typical of the Garraghan double-talk we've been subjected to in the past two years."

"For the past few months he (Garraghan) has been stressing the importance of the city arriving at a program to induce qualified young men to join the police and fire departments," Bechtold said. "Almost in the same breath he discards a plan that would have acted as a strong inducement for these men to join our police and fire departments which are now suffering from a severe lack of applicants."

Bechtold continued, "Garraghan's handling of the retirement plan is only too typical of the manner in which he operated. Any big lie to cover the situation of the moment is used."

"I, for one cannot understand why he vetoed the plan at all. Surely he had a strong mandate from the Common Council. Garraghan criticized the council for passing a measure when he says they had no idea of what it would cost but then he turns around and vetoes a measure before cost figures were in."

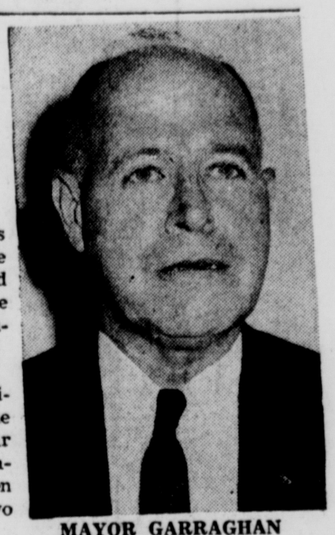

No Comment From Mayor

"His statement of Oct. 10 whereby he said he was reconsidering his decision to veto the retirement plan was nothing more than deliberate misleading of the public. How could he reconsider his decision when he had, in fact, vetoed the measure on the 6th? Perhaps he intended to "unveto" the retirement plan," Bechtold concluded.

Garraghan was not available for comment as his office reported he was out of town today.

Alderman - at - Large Francis R. Koenig, contacted by The Freeman this morning said the council would probably not meet in special session on the 25-year retirement plan veto. Rather, he expected the council to act on the measure at its Nov. 13 meeting.

In order to override the mayor's veto it would take at least 10 votes by the 13 aldermen. A ¾ margin is required to override a mayor's veto.

Pentagon Braces for Marchers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An antiwar rally at Brooklyn College erupted Thursday in a bloody clash between demonstrators and police after more than 40 of the protesting students and two faculty members were arrested.

In Oakland, California, police braced today against a threatened resumption of demonstrations at the Oakland Armed Forces Induction Center at the end of a sometimes violent "Stop the Draft Week."

Reluctant Vote

University of Wisconsin faculty members meanwhile gave a reluctant vote of confidence to Chancellor William Sewell who initiated a get tough policy with unruly student demonstrators on the Madison campus.

Defense officials in Washington airlifted troops from as far away as California to counter a threat by antiwar demonstrators to ignore government restrictions and employ "acts of civil disobedience" in laying siege to the Pentagon.

The military policemen debarked Thursday from 15 to 20 Air Force transport planes were the vanguard of what could grow to 5,000 regulars to handle the 70,000 demonstrators sponsors hope to muster for the weekend demonstration.

Leaders of the National Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam accepted a permit specifying ground rules Thursday but a spokesman said the group intends "to engage in acts of civil disobedience" which could go beyond the scope of the permit.

A demonstration in support of the war is planned in New York City this weekend by the National Committee for Responsible Patriotism. A two-day vigil will be held in Battery Park and five parades will step off in the greater metropolitan area on Sunday.

Participating groups will include veterans organizations, union, fraternal orders and "anyone who wants to march or show any spirit for his country," said Charles H. Wiley, executive director of the committee.

Another thrust against the antiwar movement occurred Thursday in San Marcos, Tex., where students at Southwest Texas State College, President Johnson's alma mater, burned antiwar literature spread on the campus by demonstrators from the University of Texas at Austin.

The Brooklyn college battle began with a sit-in to protest the presence of a Navy recruiting team in a student activities building. Several hundred students turned on police after the arrests.

One policeman was injured in the melee and dozens of students suffered cuts, bruises and torn clothing when a flying wedge of officers fought its way into a student crowd that blocked a roadway.

Wisconsin Chancellor Sewell won the vote of confidence after nearly five hours of heated debate. The professors voted 681-378 in the wake of Wednesday's bloody antiwar campus demonstrations.

The students skirmished with police over on-campus recruiting by the Dow Chemical Co., which makes napalm for the Vietnam war.

Tempo Is the Name

One month ago today The Freeman undertook the renovation of its weekly magazine section. The Saturday supplement, which had previously featured television scheduling and news of that media only, was completely revamped; given a new format spotlighting the arts and culture from a local slant.

The experiment appears successful and plans called for the future growth and enlargement of the section. The Saturday tabloid, long known as Showtime, will undergo still another change with this week's issue, to keep pace with the timeliness of the project, The Freeman magazine will boast a new masthead and cover tomorrow. Showtime has become TEMPO, a name change we feel captures the pace of modern living and the spirit and aims of the magazine.

With the new name will come a new cover each week—a cover featuring a full-page photograph of some personality or event aligned with the arts in this area. At other times, the cover may highlight the scenic beauty of this communities' landscape or a human interest snapshot taken on the scene.

Behind the new cover each week, TEMPO will continue to bring readers historical features, profiles, interviews, tidbits from television, signs of the life of the times in the Mid-Hudson Valley, theater and movie reviews and a wealth of other material.

Look for the newer, brighter TEMPO this week and every week and keep in step with Ulster and Dutchess Counties as they move forward in the arts.

He was a good living man who rendered valuable public service to the City of Kingston. We can ill afford to lose people of his caliber."

Commenting on the death of Mr. Goodsell, Postmaster Newkirk, who as mayor appointed him to the city treasurer post, said "the City of Kingston has lost an upright and outstanding citizen—an individual who was always vitally interested in community affairs."

DeGaulle Theory Of JFK Death

PARIS (AP) — Silence and skepticism were the main reactions today to a French journalist's book reporting that President Charles de Gaulle believes police were involved in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy and the slaying of Lee Harvey Oswald.

De Gaulle's office refused to comment on the report by Raymond Tournoux that the French president said of the assassination: "The police did the job, or else they pulled the strings or else they let it happen. In any case they were involved."

Police Chief Charles Batchelor of Dallas said: "We are standing on the reports of the investigation by the Warren Commission and will have no comment on the statements attributed to General de Gaulle."

The White House also refused comment. Asked if De Gaulle had ever told the U.S. government he had such a view of the assassination, White House press secretary George Christian replied: "I never heard of it at all until this moment."

Some Taunts, Praise For Marchers Here

The feeling, in many quarters, that only the very young people are against war in Vietnam, was somewhat disproved yesterday as 16 peace marchers paraded outside the county office building on Fair Street.

Sylvia Day, leader of the Ulster County Peace Committee, to which the marchers belong, singled out the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, pastor of Old Dutch Reformed Church; Robert Gannon, High Falls writer and Anton Refregier, Woodstock artist and other adult members of the community who joined the parade for peace.

Mixed Reaction

Undaunted by a sudden downpour, the 16 were greeted with mixed reaction.

"Good work" someone passing said surreptitiously to the group, according to Mrs. Day.

Upstairs in the county building, an office gal, observing the marchers through a rain spotted window remarked, "I hope they get soaked!"

When asked about the relatively small number of persons engaged in the demonstration, Mrs. Day, who conducted a similar effort last spring, claimed that although results are not "immediate," she feels action will be forthcoming.

"People are wondering," she said, 'Why are these nuts doing this?' Well, she adds, the people who are wondering will eventually begin to ask themselves, 'why do I condone the war?' "

Asked why only 16 out of the 45 members of the peace committee were participating, Mrs. Day explained that it was difficult for working people to get away from their jobs and that some school teachers were not able to come.

Enthusiastically she told of a chartered bus trip Saturday to New Paltz for further demonstrations, terming it "over subscribed."

Placards Vary

"Ban Napalm," "Stop the Bombing," "Peace Now" — That's what the marcher's placards read.

"And to think, they think they're helping our boys," mumbled an onlooking World War II vet.

While unidentified photographers took pictures of the marchers, members of the peace committee handed out literature to passersby.

"We are holding this vigil today," they said, "because we believe the war in Vietnam is unconstitutional and illegal. We believe that the United States has not exhausted all peaceful efforts before engaging in the war in Vietnam.

"We believe that every man and woman has a legal and moral duty to exert every effort to end the war . . . and to avoid collusion with it, to encourage others to do the same and urge the return of American boys from Vietnam."

HIGHEST HONOR — President Johnson will present the Congressional Medal of Honor to Marine Corps Major Howard V. Lee (shown in file photo) in ceremonies to be held at the White House Wednesday. 18,000 Back Protest Against Ethnic Slurs

NEW YORK (AP) — It was a rally of the American Italian Anti-Defamation League and 18,000 persons filled Madison Square Garden to applaud protests against ethnic slurs and pay their tribute to Frank Sinatra.

As national chairman of the 18-month-old group, Sinatra was organizer of the rally Thursday night which marked the opening of a drive to increase the league's membership from 20,000 to a million.

President Johnson, saluting the contributions to American life made by citizens of Italian descent, said in a telegram: "I am sure that every American applauds your purpose in focusing national attention on this long and cherished legacy."

Civil Court Judge, Ross J. DiLorenzo, league president, sounded the keynote, saying: "We must uncover and combat, the fallacy that organized crime is in control of Americans of Italian ancestry."

He told the cheering crowd of two television programs in which the criminals in "documented crime stories were alleged to be Italian." An AID investigation proved both cases fictional, he said.

DiLorenzo noted that Sinatra had recently been criticized in various publications for having in the past associated with notorious racketeers, including Salvatore (Momo) Giancana, one-time Mafia leader in Chicago.

The Nevada Gaming Control Board revoked Sinatra's gambling license in 1963 because the singer had offered Giancana hospitality in his Cal-Neva Lodge, a gambling casino in North Lake Tahoe.

"Frank Sinatra is guilty of having associated with presidents, heads of stages, governors, dignitaries and notables from all over the world," DiLorenzo said. "(Sinatra) is guilty of having toured the world. . to do benefits for and make contributions to the needy."

Early in the evening there were occasional shouts of "Where's Frank?", from the audience. From 10 p.m. on until Sinatra appeared, telephone booths at the garden were jammed.

"They're calling home," explained a garden official. "They're calling the babysitters, they're calling the buses and the trains but NONE of them are going home."

Finally at 11:15 p.m. Sinatra, flanked by detectives, arrived on stage and was greeted by a four-minute ovation. Extra police took up positions around the dais.

Sinatra, in a tuxedo with a red pocket handkerchief, picked up a hand microphone and sang several of his standard hits such as "Fly Me to the Moon" and "I've Got You Under My Skin."

Governors Battle Over Viet Pledge

CHARLOTTE AMALIE, V.I. (AP) — Democrats and Republicans at the National Governors' Conference headed today for a countdown in their battle over a proposal to pledge support for President Johnson's prosecution of the war in Vietnam.

Doubts Dem Chances

Gov. George Romney of Michigan predicted the Democrats would fail to get the three-fourths majority necessary to bring before the conference a resolution expressing 'resolute support' for the President's course.

Gov. Calvin L. Rampton of Utah, one of the resolution's sponsors, said he thought the Democrats have a chance of putting it over although 20 of the 44 state and territorial governors at the conference are Republicans.

"When it comes to a showdown of supporting the boys who are fighting in Vietnam, I don't think some of the Republicans are going to vote like they talk," said Rampton.

GOP Govs. David F. Cargo of New Mexico and Paul Laxalt of Nevada said that wasn't the issue at all.

"We just don't think the governors' conference is the place or this is the time to be making policy statements about Vietnam," Laxalt said.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who supported the decision of a Republican caucus decision to oppose bringing up the Vietnam matter, flew home Thursday and said he saw little chance the resolution would be passed. He added that "we all support our boys in Vietnam, but what the governors say or don't say is immaterial.'

Romney disclosed at a news conference that he is trying to draft an alternative course to Johnson's.

He said that as a part of this effort he hopes to visit Vietnam in December and be there for Christmas.

He also said he would use a half-hour television program on Nov. 15 to discuss a recent tour of big city ghettos. But he said he wasn't sure whether he would announce then whether he would seek the 1968 GOP presidential nomination.

The governors already have ducked one controversy—over the open housing issue—with a recommendation of the conference executive committee that a task force report be commended but not accepted officially.

Massive Program

The report, prepared by a committee headed by Romney, laid out a massive program for rebuilding of ghettos, elimination of racial inequalities and adoption and implementation of an open housing law.

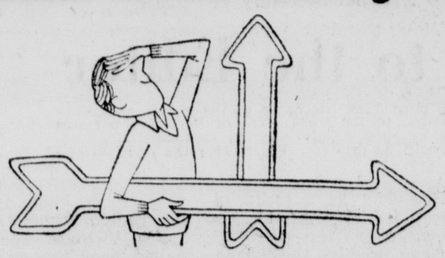

Resolutions approved by the executive committee for expected conference acceptance included a fresh commitment to law and order and improved riot control training for police and National Guardsmen. The governors also recommended wire tapping approved by federal courts to combat organized crime.

Board Approves Part 1 of Salary Survey

On recommendation of the Salary Study Committee of the Board of Supervisors, the board last night approved Part I of the Hanawalt Associates salary and classification survey which suggested salary increases to some 700 county employes, other than highway employes whose jobs will be further studied. The recommended increases will cost the county about $81,000.

No Reductions

Supervisor Peter Williams, Saugerties Republican said none of the county employes received a reduction in salary. The only opposing vote was by Gardiner Democrat George Majestic.

Chairman Peter Savago, who with Supervisors Williams, Joseph Martorana, Franklin Kelder, James Carroll and Daniel Smith, sponsored the resolution, all county employes had been notified by letter of the study and Hanawalt had met with 48. Majestic objected on the grounds there had been no meeting with Civil Service employes as a body.

The board unanimously voted to make a study for construction of a memorial plaque at the county building of Jesse McHugh of Wallkill, who served as chairman during the building of the County Office site.

Difficulty in securing probation officers was responsible for unanimous passage of a resolution by Chairman Savago raising the salary of the two remaning probation officers to $6,345 and setting that salary for newly recruited probation officers.

A resolution by Supervisor Ralph Bush, (R), Shandaken, calling for the board to endorse and recommend support of the $2.5 billion Transportation Bond issue, was tabled.

It was suggested by Supervisor William West, Woodstock Republican, that this was a matter for the voters on election day and the board should not take a stand.

An exchange of road mileage in the town of New Paltz was authorized by resolution by Chairman Savago. The entire length of both Plutarch and North Ohioville Road, comprising 6.44 miles becomes New Paltz town roads and the South Putts Corners, North Putts Corners road and a portion of Horsended Road, 5.17 miles becomes county roads.

The board authorized issuance of a budget note in the sum of $119,000 to pay part of the cost of snow and ice removal for 1967.

Reservoir Span Contract

James Berardi Inc., Kingston, was awarded a contract for construction of the Kingston Reservoir bridge in town Woodstock, it being the low bidder. The bid is $87,157.18.

County Treasurer Fred DuBois was authorized to disburse the Air Pollution Control Grant of $11,310 which has been received from the Federal authority. The resolution was offered by Supervisor De Felicis, (R-Rosendale.)

Chairman Savago was authorized to enter into contract with IBM for purchase of a 360/20 IBM System for the Tabulating Department at a cost of $201,490.

Authority was granted for transfer of money from the Tuberculosis Hospital fund to the Ulster County Infirmary Annex fund and the Chest Clinic Account. This became necessary when the TB Hospital was closed as a TB hospital and converted to infirmary purposes and for continuation of the Chest Clinic. Offered by Sup. DeFelicis, it was carried 27 to 5. The board also authorized transfer of employes now at the TB hospital to the new Infirmary Annex and Chest Clinic payroll.

The matter of overtime pay for employes of the Mental Health Department was tabled for study on motion of Majority Leader Douglas Dye, (R), Kingston town.

Donald G. Ross, trustee of the D & H Canal Society, appeared and urged abandonment of a plan to construct a new county highway through the bed of the historical canal between Accord and Alligerville. The proposed cost of the road is $165,000. The Society seeks to protect the abandoned canal and make it a historical site.

Seek Perrine Fund

On motion of Supervisor Roger Mabie, Esopus Democrat, and Sup. De Felicis, the board was authorized to make application to the State for matching funds, not to exceed $25,000, for preservation of Perrine's Bridge. The State Historical Trust is meeting Oct. 24, when it is expected it will approve plans and make available matching funds for work on restoring and preserving the bridge.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, OCTOBER 20, 1967

GOP Confusior

With an excellent chance for a 1968 Presidential victory, the GOP powers at this point are so sadly lacking in leadership and cohesion that if this continues into the fall of next year, Republican Party hopes will go down the drain. Republican aspirants for the White House are so divided on the Vietnam issue that it depends on which potential candidate tells it whether we are winning or losing the war in Vietnam.

Governor Reagan of California declares the United States is winning the war in Vietnam, but President Johnson is not telling the people.

Governor Romney of Michigan says the United States is losing the war in Vietnam, but President Johnson is not telling the people.

"I have a feeling we're doing much better in the war than we're being told, that the corner has been turned," said Reagan. "We'll be told when it's politically advantageous for the administration to tell us, with an election year coming up."

"The administration is pursuing a ping pong policy in Southeast Asia, first saying that the United States was protecting South Vietnamese interests, then contending that this country's national interest was pre-eminent there," said Romney.

With this confusion, the party faithful is as confused as these hopefuls themselves.

There is one ray of hope that no one in the GOP hierarchy seems to be pursuing and that is the September Gallup poll, which showed that Governor Rockefeller would beat President Johnson for the top spot if the election were now. Rockefeller, who garnered 48 per cent of the total vote to LBJ's 46 per cent, disavows any further Presidential ambitions and says he is still backing Governor Romney. Another poll shows that a Rockefeller-Reagan ticket could right now ride to the Presidency, but Reagan says he isn't interested in the Vice Presidency. But greater obstacles than Rockefeller's reticency and the Reagan aspirations have been overcome at national convention time.

The next President chosen by the people will have to have a clear program for ending the Vietnam war soon and, of course, without loss of national honor. Richard Nixon is so hawkish that far from ending it, he would undoubtedly lead us to the precipice of a third World War, if not over and into it. Reagan's views place him not far behind the Nixon thinking. Romney, after repeated attempts, has yet to make his position clear.

Senator Dirksen, who staunchly supports the President on Vietnam, isn't running for the Presidency, but he too is hurting his party's chances.

Governor Rockefeller has managed to keep out of the malestrom of confusion, to keep a clear head above water, with the result that he is topping the polls. Considered an Eastern Liberal, and therefore anethema to the Midwest and the West, the pools nevertheless show he is just about the only Republican leader who hasn't spread confusion.

General James Gavin, who bolted the Democratic Party in protest of Mr. Johnson's Vietnam policies, said last week in an interview with Newsweek that he clearly believes Rockefeller is the best candidate and that when he does enunciate his foreign-policy views they will be courageous. But as of right now the greatest tragedy of the American two-party system is taking place as the GOP flip-flops and flounders over a made-to-order issue.

Longest Boom

The starting or ending day of a boom are not easy to pinpoint. But Wednesday, Nov. 1 has been chosen by economists as the day and date on which the American economy will enter on its 81st month of expansion.

The economists tell us the boom began in February, 1961. Assuming that it continues through the winter, it will be seven years old the coming February. That is a boom period unequalled even by the long upswing that encompassed the years of World War II and beyond.

The effect on unemployment is perhaps the most dramatic. At the outset, just under 70 million were working and 5.5 million were out of work. Now, 74.5 million are at work and just under 3 million are unemployed. The economic growth added 7 million jobs, one million for each year of the boom, despite the disappearance of uncounted numbers of jobs due to automation.

The boom began when President Kennedy was scarcely inaugurated. Partisans will claim credit for him and his successor, but the only substantial government action was Kennedy's cut of taxes by $15 billion. Johnson is now trying to restore some of it with a surtax instead of with cuts to keep the government operating within its hugely inflated income.

The boom has not wiped out poverty, it has not slowed down the usual upward push of wages and prices when nearly full employment is reached, and it has not reduced the ratio of unemployment of blacks and whites. More money has helped a lot of people, but it has not been a cure-all for the nation's ills.

"Set 'em Up in the Other Alley!"

David Lawrence Says

Red China, Soviet Main Adversaries

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—What is the Vietnam War all about? Many a citizen has been misled by the argument that the United States should "stop the bombing and make peace" with the North Vietnam government. The trouble is that the Hanoi government is not the only enemy. Red China and the Soviet Union are the main adversaries.

This was made clear thirteen years ago when Richard Nixon, as vice president of the United States, delivered an off-the-record speech on the subject of Vietnam before the American Society of Newspaper Editors on April 16, 1954. The text was not given out, but a paraphrase was printed. The main points were summarized as follows:

"But the Vietnamese lack the ability to conduct the war by themselves or govern themselves. If the French withdrew, Indo-China would become Communist - dominated within a month.

"The United States as the leader of the free world cannot afford further retreat in Asia. It is hoped the United States will not have to send troops there, but if this government cannot avoid it, the administration must face up to the situation and dispatch forces.

"Therefore, the United States must go to Geneva and take a positive stand for united action by the free world. Otherwise it will have to take on the problem alone and try to sell it to the others."

This speech caused a sensation as the hint of armed intervention made the headlines. The State Department announced the next day that the speech enunciated "no new United States policy in regard to Indo-China," but that it supported the official policy set forth by Secretary of State Dulles on March 29, 1954, when he said:

"Under the conditions of today the imposition on southeast Asia of the political system of Communist Russia and its Chinese Communist ally, by whatever means, would be a grave threat to the whole free community. The United States feels that that possibility should not be tacitly accepted, but should be met by united action. This might involve risks, but these risks are far less than those that will face us a few years from now if we dare not be resolute today."

The Geneva Conference on Indo-China took place shortly after Mr. Nixon's speech was delivered. The United States made every effort there to obtain collective action to insure the independence of Vietnam and the right of the people to free elections. The conference instead decided on the partition of Vietnam, and the United States "disassociated" itself from the agreement. Secretary Dulles tried hard to prevent a communist takeover, but neither France nor Great Britain would join in this undertaking. The Secretary said that "Peace is always easy to achieve — by surrender," but is short-lived. He argued for a plan of collective defense as the best way to assure a durable peace.

So it is clear, after 13 years of accumulated evidence, that the only answer to the Vietnam problem is a collective defense against communist aggression. This cannot be achieved today through the medium of the United Nations because of Soviet influence therein. The United States has brought to its side a few allies — Australia, New Zealand, the Phillipines, Thailand and South Korea. Until more of the free countries of the world — especially the larger European nations — join in a collective defense, neither the Soviet Union nor Red China is likely to be persuaded to stop the war.

Thus, the problem of peace in Vietnam boils down to a simple issue: the Soviets and the Red Chinese must be convinced that their course—which has brought on a crisis in Vietnam — cannot be successful. Repelling communist aggression in southeast Asia is more and more coming to be viewed by the United States and its allies as the only way to forestall a major war. The sooner other nations, therefore, join the "alliance for freedom," the quicker will Moscow, Peking and Hanoi realize that their war of aggression cannot succeed.

Jerusalem, Israel. — The old city has been defeated again and it crouches within its ancient walls hugging history. It is as stony and sun-bleached as when David examined the thresher's rock and swore to build a temple on it. The rock is still there, a white hilly limestone inside a Moslem temple.

There are fresh scars. Yellow bulldozers complete the work begun by Israeli shells. Houses come down here and there, and Arab children chant wisdom in a nearby school. Jews, who have not been permitted to cross the border from new Jerusalem to old, now ride jeeps and bicycles and ancient limousines through the city where once the Great Temple of Solomon stood.

Nothing is left of the first one. That too was sacked and reduced, until a stone was not left on a stone. The second is gone too, but a 400-foot section of wall still stands, the stones big and square and gray. Religious Jews stand near it, bowing heads swiftly and weeping for the great days of Israel and the promise of a Messiah.

An Arab guide sees me watching and invites me to see the Dome of the Rock, the gold-domed blister which now dominates Solomon's courtyard. A short walk to the west, Christians kneel inside the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, the architectural abomination which shrouds in darkness the place where Christ died on a cross.

The old city, two miles long by a mile-and-a-half across, is so holy to so many religious groups that each one goes to war for sole ownership of God. It has been pillaged so many times that it lives on its own rubble. The Jerusalem of Jesus lies twenty feet below the surface of the narrow alleys. There, the huge Roman flagstones of Pontius Pilate remain as they were when the Roman procurator washed his hands and murmured: "Ecce homo."

Israel has no intention of giving up the old city of Jordan, or anyone else. The young Hebrew nation says: "Let us talk" to Nasser and King Hussein, but there is duplicity in this because there is little to talk about. All the Jordan money has been called in, and the Israel pound ($ .33) is now the coin of the realm.

Israel social workers have undertaken the work of feeding the poor Arabs within the walls, as well as poor Jewish families. The dole is $8 a month for an Arab family; $33 for a Hebrew one. The difference in price is accounted for by the difference in standards of living.

Engineers from Tel Aviv have already reamed out the earth from the Wailing Wall and 11 more feet of it are now exposed. The filth of Jerusalem is being cleansed, and young Israeli soldiers, with Browning automatic rifles on their shoulders, close gates and open them at will, arrest Arabs who will not move quickly on order, and hoist the blue and white flag of Israel in front of hotels administered by Christians.

The new bosses are polite and firm. You can take a picture here, but not there. Your automobile can travel on this street, but not that one. Girls in toreador pants stoop to enter the Tomb of Christ, and boys conversant with their religious rules, but not of others, keep their hats on.

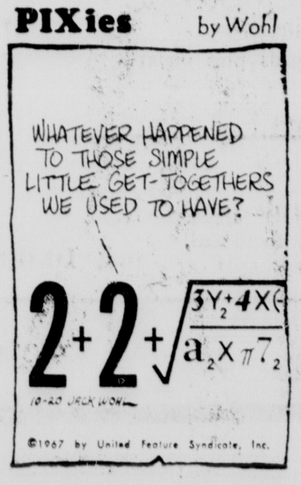

I found an Arab who speaks English and asked him what life is like under the Jews. "Better," he said. I thought he was being diplomatic. He assured me that life is better, cleaner and more productive now than before.

He does not feel oppressed. The non-Jewish hotel, the Intercontinental, a beautiful place overlooking the walled city, has stopped serving bacon and eggs. The manager, an Austrian, says that he stopped it because it might offend kosher laws.

The best thing that could happen to old Jerusalem is to place it under United Nations jurisdiction. This is impossible, because Israel is spending millions to reclaim the city in spirit as well as physically. The Eshkol government would not commit itself this far unless it plans to keep the city, no matter what the United States and the Soviet Union agree to.

Jerusalem is fated to be fought over again and again. And yet, somewhere in the sand, the blood of a Man has congealed and granulated. His favorite preachment was: "Love ye one another."...

Drew Pearson Says

Oilmen Sweating Over Auto Modifications

Barnett Comes Forward

As early as Dec. 21, 1964, Drew Pearson reported that "the most carefully guarded civilian in the United States today is Horace Barnett . . . who gave the FBI a signed confession that he participated in the murder of three civil rights workers in Philadelphia, Miss. . . . Barnett is under day-and-night FBI guard."

Last week Barnett turned up in Mississippi as the key witness for the government against the Mississippians accused of murder.

WASHINGTON — The oil barons have broken out in a sweat under their fancy silk shirts and tailored suits over the extra miles per gallon that most 1968 cars offer.

In conformity with the anti-pollution regulations, the 1968 models have been equipped with more efficient engines. These not only reduce exhaust emission but also require less gasoline.

This means, of course, that new car buyers should get more miles to the gallon and blow out less stifling exhaust fumes into the faces of the drivers behind them. But the oil boys are alarmed because it also means they will sell less gasoline.

Result: They are now pressuring their friends in Washington to ease up on the drive against air pollution.

By the 1970s, under the present program, the anti-pollution standards will require auto manufacturers to cut exhaust emissions still more drastically. Detroit engineers plan to meet these standards by continued engine modifications. To the dismay of the oilmen, this will bring even greater engine efficiency and more fuel economy.

An estimated 90 per cent of the 1968 engines offer greater horsepower plus added overall efficiency. This has been accomplished, in most instances, by improving the distributor and heating the intake air. The heated air allows the engine to operate on a leaner fuel mixture, and the new distributor provides better fuel ignition.

The oilmen are also haggling with the auto manufacturers, particularly Ford, over reducing the oil-change requirements. Ford is recommending to its 1968 customers that they need change the oil no more often than every six months or 6,000 miles.

The longer interval would be safer, of course, if better motor oils were used. The oilmen, preferring more frequent oil changes to increase sales, refused to improve the quality. Ford, in turn, threatened to include a list of approved oils in the glove compartments of its 1968 models.

Ford held off the move when the oil boys, showing the first signs of repentance, agreed to reconsider. It remains to be seen, however, whether the oil industry will change its attitude of putting profits ahead of the public good.

Note: There isn't the slightest indication, of course, that the oil crowd will accept any reduction in their tax privileges to help pay for the Vietnam war. They keep the taxpayers' money circulating in dizzy circles by draining it from the U. S. Treasury through tax loopholes, then pouring it back into the pockets of the politicians to make the loopholes in the tax laws still bigger. Most oil millionaires prefer to make cheap speeches against the communist menace and let the less-blessed taxpayers put up the money to fight communism.

Spendthrift Budget Pruners

The Congressmen who clamor the loudest for budget cuts apparently haven't heard that economy begins at home.

Republican Floor Leader Gerald Ford, for example, keeps agitating for reductions in federal spending. Yet he makes impassioned speeches every year on the need for federal school aid in the depressed areas of his native Michigan.

Rep. Mel Laird, R-Wis., another economy crier, definitely does not want to economize on the Food and Drug laboratory he has persuaded the government to build in Madison, Wis. In fact, he pulled Congressional strings to get the government to transfer the laboratory from Beltsville, Md., to his home state — though Beltsville is closer to headquarters and would require less money for travel.

Although everyone on Capitol Hill is, of course, for God, country and economy, the average Congressmen favors economies in someone else's district.

Taking note of this, House Appropriations Chairman George Mahon remarked dryly at a closed Senate-House conference on HEW appropriations: "There are 21 different projects in this bill over and above those recommended by the Budget Bureau. If we are going to cut, let's start cutting there. We can't economize by padding the President's budget."

Mahon also warned his committee colleagues that the Ways and Means Committee, headed by Wilbur Mills, by holding up a tax increase until federal spending is cut, was encroaching on their territory.

GOP Reversal

"Wilbur and I have been discussing this matter almost every day," added Mahon. "I'm convinced that he doesn't really want to intrude on our powers, but the pressure is on us. We are in danger of losing our authority over federal spending unless we knuckle down and do the job we're supposed to do."

The Republican Coordinating Committee, the party's top policy-making body, charged last week that President Johnson's clean-air program lodges too much authority in the federal government. The committee demanded that air pollution be handled more by the states. Yet it was the Republican members of the House Commerce Committee who insisted upon federal controls and refused to let California set its own, tougher standards.

The Republicans, with help from a few Democrats, knocked a provision out of the anti-pollution bill that would have permitted California to set more stringent standards. The Republicans deserted their traditional states-right stand, of course, because of pressure from the automobile industry. The auto manufacturers want the federal government to set and enforce the standards for all states. Otherwise, they will have to install special devices for cars sold in California.

In other words, the Republicans put the big auto makers ahead of their own party principles.

Hanoi Seen on Downhill Slide

BY BRUCE BIOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The Johnson administration is growing increasingly confident about the outcome of the Vietnam war at the very time popular disenchantment with it is reaching unprecedented heights.

Vice President Humphrey, who, of course, sees the key war reports, is known to believe that U. S. bombing of North Vietnam is proving heavily effective for the first time.

The steadily more daring raids on the port facilities at Haiphong are said to be hurting Hanoi's supply flow to forces in South Vietnam seriously.

Raids along a lengthy stretch of the North Vietnam-China border may be even more telling. Hanoi has long been using as a war-preparation sanctuary the 30-mile border zone where U. S. bombers feared to go because of the danger of violating Chinese air space. Sophisticated new flying techniques have nearly eliminated that peril and permitted repeated attacks against storage depots and other backup installations.

Except for the pounding Red forces are giving dug-in Marines at Con Thien and other fixed points below the "demilitarized" North Vietnam-South Vietnam border, Hanoi and the Viet Cong are not mounting anything major.

A high administration official not given to bursts of optimism about the war told this reporter that the situation today is "a whacking amount better" than it has been in the 2½ years since sizable U. S. forces entered Vietnam.

He believes that, aside from the troublesome DMZ area, Hanoi is on a downhill slide. Guerrilla activity is weakened in many sectors. Viet Cong recruitment is said to be down by half. Intelligence gathered by both U. S. and South Vietnamese forces is vastly improved, a fact partly due to an evidently growing popular conviction that the VC are losing.

The Vice President is said to feel that greatly increased flow of rice from the rich Mekong delta to Saigon is an especially significant barometer of the war. Until fairly recently, a sizable part of this flow was being diverted to or confiscated by the Viet Cong.

One consequence of the rising confidence about the war in administration circles is that some key officials seem much less nettled than they once were over antiwar criticism from some intellectuals.

In a few instances, official attitudes now border closely on contempt. A widening feeling is that the critics have never produced viable alternatives and have ignored the larger stragetic aspects of the war in Southeast Asia.

It is felt that Secretary of State Dean Rusk's stress on this aspect, with focus upon Red China as the great enemy, represents a significant turn in the administration's argument for its war policies.

The President himself foreshadowed this turn in his late September San Antonio speech. As long ago as March, 1966, the Vice President urged him to give heavier emphasis on China's role. Concern for possible direct Chinese involvement is thought to have held Johnson back.

Whether this new stress will make the needed deeper dent on the increasingly disenchanted American electorate is not at all clear.

One top authority thinks that, even though the war is going much better, the gains are not dramatically visible to the American people and are not likely to be in the next several months at least. He suspects a continuing clamor of discontent which could present a grave peril to the President in a 1868 re-election bid.

Though the Vice President is understood to be one of those sharing in the present more confident mood, nothing suggests he has any illusions about the difficulties facing a Johnson-Humphrey ticket next year. Some "visible victories" are needed in Vietnam. The hard question is how to get them, how to find the course that is more decisive and yet not imprudent. Johnson's answer may determine his fate at the polls in 1968.

Phoenicia, New York

Editor, The Freeman

David Lawrence's pompous column of October 17th in the Kingston Daily Freeman is scarcely worthy of refutation. Nevertheless, issue ought to be taken with Representative Samuel Stratton's quote in reference to opponents of the Vietnam War. (Mr. Stratton is quoted as having said most opponents of Administration policy say "My mind is made up—don't confuse me with facts.")

Both Mr. Stratton and Mr. Lawrence are obviously confused in their facts. The major proportion of these opponents only became opponents after a very searching study of the facts. Furthermore, to label senators, as Mr. Lawrence does, as "currying favor" when they speak out against Vietnam is a gross libel. And if Senator Dirksen worries about the loss of prestige of the President as a result of this criticism, how great is his concern over the loss of American prestige throughout the world because of our activities in Vietnam?

The vast majority of opponents of the Vietnam War are all too painfully aware of the facts. They are soul-sick to see the American image almost daily more besmirched. They are frightened to calculate the satisfaction of Communist countries who have only to sit back and watch the United States exhaust itself in Vietnam. They are appalled over the unwarranted slaughter of those whom Mr. Lawrence casually tosses off as "a few thousands" of our American youth who are being sacrificed in Vietnam

Speaking of brainwashing, Mr. Lawrence, are you doing it—or showing the effects of it?

Yours very truly,
RUTH F. LANDESMAN

The New Constitution

The Legislature Would Be Enlarged

Editor's Note: This is the last in a series of five articles discussing provisions of the revised state constitution to be submitted to New York voters in the Nov. 7 election.

By GERRY McLAUGHLIN

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — If New York voters decide to approve the revised state constitution Nov. 7, the many ensuing effects will include a slightly enlarged Legislature and new powers for the governor.

No details of those and other provisions will appear on the Nov. 7 ballot. The voters must pass judgment on the proposed charter as a single entity.

A Constitutional Convention that included 41 present or former legislators adopted a provision that would add three seats to the 57-seat Senate and continue the Assembly membership at 150.

The proposed legislative article also would create a special commission — to be named by the Legislature's leaders and the Court of Appeals—to handle the usually controversial questions of the legislative and congressional redistricting.

The majority and minority leaders of the Senate and Assembly each would appoint a member of the five - member commission, with the Court of Appeals to name the chairman.

The commission would re - draw Senate, Assembly and congressional district lines after each federal census; that is, every 10 years. Its product automatically would become law.

The only other substantial change in the legislative article would eliminate the controversial "lulu" — the lump-sum expense allotment granted legislators "in lieu of expenses." Instead, legislators would be reimbursed for "actual and necessary expenses."

In the area of state departments and officers, substantial revisions would affect the governor and the Public Service Commission.

The governor would be granted broad power to reorganize departments and agencies, subject to veto by the Legislature. At present, the Constitution fixes the number of state departments a 20, and only the Legislature is authorized to increase or diminish the responsibilities of individual departments.

Amid continuing controversy over the role of the Public Service Commission in dealing with such subjects as atomic-generated electric power, the convention voted to revamp the commission.

The plan, advanced by a political ally of U.S. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, would require the Legislature to set up a seven-member commission. It would include four members appointed by the governor and three members elected at a joint session of the Legislature.

It also would limit terms on the commission to six years.

The present system provides for at least five commissioners, with the possibility of expanding to seven depending on need. All are appointed by the governor to 10-year terms at salaries of $29,160 a year.

Otherwise, the proposed constitution would leave substantially unchanged the existing provisions for the executive branch of state government.

The date on which the new constitution would become the state's fundamental law would be Jan. 1, 1969.

Among the final provisions is one that would direct that the people be allawed to vote in 1972 on the question of whether to hold a constitutional convention. It also would provide for the question to be submitted every 30 years thereafter and at other times set by the Legislature.

If the voters should reject the proposed charter in November, the provisions of the existing constitution would remain in effect. In that event, the question concerning a constitutional convention would have to be put to the people again by 1977.

College Dedication Set Saturday

All Ulster County residents are invited to visit Ulster County Community College Saturday for the dedication of the college's new Stone Ridge campus, President George B. Erbstein said today.

"This is an ideal time for the county's residents to see their new community college, said President Erbstein, "and we hope they will come out to the campus then. After the dedication ceremony, these visitors will have an opportunity to tour the four new buildings and have the facilities and educational program explained to them."

Javits to Speak

The program, to be conducted outside on the plaza in front of the Macdonald DeWitt Library, will start at 10:30 a. m. with a concert by the Stewart Air Force Band. The conductor is Chief Warrant Officer Louis C. Kriebel.

The dedication ceremony will start at 11 a. m. with President Erbstein presiding.

The principal speaker will be U. S. Senator Jacob K. Javits. He will be introduced by August Hecksher, administrator of recreation and cultural affairs and commissioner of parks in New York City.

There also will be greetings from John C. Quimby, chairman of the college's Board of Trustees; Peter J. Savago, chairman of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors; Dr. John F. Park, chairman of the Faculty Organization at the college; Ward D. Todd, president of the Student Government Organization at the college and Dr. Kenneth T. Doran, associate university dean for Two-Year Colleges in the State University of New York.

The dedication prayer will be offered by the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, minister of Old Dutch Church in Kingston.

The invocation will be by the Rt. Rev. Monsignor John J. O'Reilly, dean of the Catholic Clergy in Ulster County and pastor of St. Joseph's Church in Kingston. The benediction will be by Rabbi Jonathan Eichhorn of Temple Emmanuel, Kingston.

Buildings Open

Four buildings are being dedicated on the new campus. They are the Macdonald DeWitt Library, the George Clinton Administration Building, the Jacob A. Hasbrouck Building and the John Burroughs Science Building.

After the dedication ceremony, these four buildings will be open to the public. Faculty members and students will be available to answer questions and act as guides.

Hurley Demos Dine Saturday, Gorman Speaker

Dr. Gerald P. Gorman, Democratic County chairman, will be the guest speaker at the Hurley Democratic dinner to be held Saturday night at the Alpine Restaurant.

Dr. Gorman was recently elected to the Democratic chairmanship in a spirited contest. He is also serving as Democratic City chairman.

Dr. Gorman was born in Staten Island in 1920. He received his BS degree from Manhatten College in 1941, and was awarded his MD from Georgetown University in 1944.

Gorman served in the U. S. Navy in World War II and was recalled to active duty during the Korean conflict.

In 1956 he opened his office in Kingston and has been in the practice of surgery here for the past 11 years. During that time he has served as a member of the Ulster County Board of Health, president of the American Cancer Society, Ulster County Chapter, as well as the Ulster County chapter of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society.

In 1965, Dr. Gorman was the Democratic candidate for coroner, losing by less than 400 votes. He campaigned on the establishment of a medical examiner system for Ulster County.

He is married to Dr. Lorraine Gannon Gorman and they reside at 159 Main Street with their five children.

Due to the recent controversy involving Dr. Gorman's proposal to adopt a code of ethics for elected officials, it is expected that he will have some comments to make on the matter at Saturday's gathering.

Birth Rate Dips

HONOLULU (AP) — State Health Department statistics show Hawaii's birth rate and birth count have been dropping for 13 years. The decline has been greatest during the last three years.

The birth rate stood at 34.1 per thousand in 1953; it's now down to 20.9.

Officials attribute the drop to the heavy exodus of military dependents following the departure of husbands to Vietnam, availability of birth control measures and sizable emigration of young people in the most eligible, child-bearing age group.

Instrument Data Of Venus Craft Raises Doubts

By HENRY BRADSHER
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet reports of Venus 4's space triumph indicate that the instrument package radioed back information from the atmosphere of the earth's sister planet not from its surface.

The reports also raise doubts that the device made a soft landing on Venus.

The planet's surface conditions still may be unknown in detail. The highest temperature recorded by Venus 4, 536 degrees Fahrenheit, and the greatest pressure, 15 times the earth's at sea level, could be readings of the atmosphere and not those of the planet itself.

A brief Soviet announcement Wednesday said data was radioed to earth while the instruments were floating toward Venus on a 15.5-mile, 90-minute course through the planet's atmosphere.

But there has been no Soviet claim that the instrument package, a rounded object 35.4 inches in diameter, was still transmitting when it reached the surface. Just where and why it stopped transmitting has not been disclosed.

Observers suggested that Soviet scientists may not know. One possible explanation is that the heat melted the instruments or burned up the parachute that was carrying them, sending the device crashing into the surface of Venus.

The official announcement said the instruments descended smoothly through the atmosphere and that they landed. But it did not claim a soft landing, in the sense of a space vehicle floating down intact on an object.

Britain Faces National Rail Stoppage Threat

LONDON (AP) — Britain was threatened today with a national railroad stoppage that could deal a crippling blow to the country's already shaky economy.

Brakemen at more than 40 depots were on strike, forcing the cancellation of hundreds of trains on routes between London and the north. The state-run railroad system was threatened with spreading chaos.

With vital exports already curtailed by a five-week-old dock strike in London and Liverpool, Prime Minister Harold Wilson cut short his vacation in Scotland and told newsmen on his return to London: "This industrial unrest is an extremely serious problem."

Wilson's Labor government blames the upsurge of industrial unrest on Communist agitators who it says are trying to plunge the nation into "a winter of disruption." Union leaders deny and resent the charge.

Unions backing the brakemen's strike appeared on a collision course with the British Rail Board. If neither side backs off, a total shutdown of rail services would become inevitable.

Rail board chiefs rocked leaders of three unions with word that they are considering the withdrawal of all pay from railmen made idle by the dispute, not just the strikers. This would be done by ending the guaranteed 40-hour week for railroad workers, in operation since 1919. It now guarantees railmen a basic rate of pay ranging between $31.64 and $56 a week.

"We will certainly pick up the gauntlet," said Albert Griffiths, general secretary of the Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen. "This is tantamount to threatening a lockout."

Len Neal, the railboard's industrial relations chief, replied: "With our finances running down as they are, we cannot see it right to pay out public money in this way if thousands of our employes have no work to do."

Lack Quorum

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., and five Republicans walked out of a meeting of the House Education and Labor Committee Thursday night, blocking efforts to complete action on the administration's antipoverty bill.

As they headed for the exit, Rep. Phillip Burton, D-Calif., said "I hope we won't see an effort to deprive us of a quorum."

Shigeru Yoshida, Former Japanese Official Dies

OISO, Japan (AP) — Former Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida, who led Japan back to prosperity from the ruins of World War II and firmly allied it with the United States, died in his sleep today. He was 89.

An aide said Yoshida died while taking his afternoon nap at his seaside estate in Oiso, 50 miles southwest of Tokyo. Doctors said a gall bladder inflammation and general deterioration of his condition overburdened his heart.

Yoshida's death caused Prime Minister Eisaku Sato to cut short his tour of Southeast Asia. His office said Sato — now in Manila—would return to Tokyo Saturday night after only a brief visit to Saigon instead of spending Saturday and Sunday there as he had planned.

A state funeral will be held in Tokyo in about a week, a government spokesman said.

Yoshida, a prewar diplomat and the foreign minister in Japan's first two postwar governments, became prime minister in May 1946 and headed the government until 1954, three years after the U.S. occupation ended with the signing of the San Francisco peace treaty.

He headed the government longer than anyone else since the parliamentary system was established in Japan in 1870.

During his first months in office millions of soldiers had to be demobilized and resettled, a democratic constitution was promulgated, food had to be imported quickly to stave off famine and aid was needed to reconstruct shattered industries.

Five years later Yoshida signed the peace treaty in San Francisco, then signed a security treaty with the United States firmly tying his newly independent country to the free world.

County Court Dispositions

A 38-year old New York city man, who said he had more faith in the "jailhouse" lawyers than he did in a regularly assigned member of the bar and sought to have a law library assigned to his use in the county jail, will have counsel assigned him to give advise before a grand jury indictment charging criminal possession of a loaded sawed off shotgun is disposed of in County Court.

David Marcus, who said his place of residence is 45 West 35th Street, New York City, and his occupation that of "sales manager", was arraigned before County Judge Raymond J. Mino Tuesday. He has been assinged Herbert Weisoff as counsel.

Marcus said he would like to have the court assign other counsel since he had heard Weinsoff was a district attorney. Assured that was not the fact, Marcus said that had been the advice he had obtained in jail and appeared to be still skeptical. He asked to have other counsel assigned since Weinsoff was a justice of the peace in the town where Marcus is accused of violation of the law.

Attorney Weinsoff did not object to being relieved. Marcus then said he wanted to ask for a writ of habeas corpus and was advised before the case progressed, it would be well to have an attorney assigned. Marcus said he could not get paper and pencil in jail to prepare his papers and suggested when told by Judge Mino that he could have paper and pencil, that he be provided with law books in jail so he could prepare his papers.

Judge Mino informed Marcus there was no law library in the jail and suggested he take the matter up with an attorney who will be assigned before the adjourned date, next Wednesday at 11 a. m. Judge Mino entered a formal plea of innocent for Marcus who was remanded to custody of the sheriff. The charge arises out of an incident in Ellenville.

Among other defendants brought before the court by District Attorney Joseph P. Torraca was George Greenidge, 17, Kingston, who had been indicted for third degree burglary; unlawful entry and first degree grand larceny. Greenidge, represented by Sherwood E. Davis, had recently withdrawn a plea of guilty to an attempt to commit grand larceny, first degree, and had pleaded innocent. Tuesday he changed his plea once again to guilty. On trial of the charge, a jury some time ago was unable to agree on a verdict and the case had been restored to the trial calendar. The charge grew out of an elleged affair at the Saccoman Jewelry store on Broadway. Judge Mino sentenced Greenidge to Elmira Reception Center there to be classified and transferred to a reformatory term of not to exceed five years.

Sean Roger Landers, 43, East Durham, charged with first degree grand larceny and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, entered a plea of not guilty and case was adjourned to Nov. 1 at 11 a. m. Edward Greene appeared for Landers. Remanded to jail.

Gerald Hollwedel, also known as Jerry Higgins, New York City, and Patrick McLaughlin, also known as Malacki P. O'Hara, both Ellenville employes, were arraigned on a charge of grand larceny, first degree, and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle last May 16. Frank Spada appeared for defendants and entered a plea of innocent. Adjourned to Nov. 1 and defendants remanded to jail.

Spencer Marshall, also known as Rocky, 18, Kingston, accused of first degree grand larceny and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, had his case adjourned to Oct. 25 at 11 a. m. The grand jury recommended the boy be treated under the youthful offender statute. It is alleged Marshall took a car from the J. H. Byrne Chevrolet lot last July 7. Joseph Avis was assigned counsel and adjourned one week. Remanded.

Other cases adjourned to Nov. 1 at 11 a. m. after arraignment were:

Richard John Francis Maguire, 23, New York windowwasher, accused of possession of burglar instruments. William Baron assigned counsel. Remanded.

John Joseph Harnen, New Paltz, second degree murder. Francis Tucker attorney. The adjournment was taken to permit a mental examination to determine whether defendant is competent mentally to defend himself. Remanded.

Andrew Grimm, Ellenville, charged with second degree assault arising out of an alleged attack on three Ellenville police officers. George Beck, counsel. Remanded.

Karl E. Spangler, charged with first degree robbery, second degree assault and petit larceny, entered a plea of not guilty and his case was marked ready for trial on the opening of the November trial term. William Mullany is counsel.

Sam Butler, whose home is in California, pleaded not guilty to second degree assault on one Mary Fuller with whom he was residing. Butler said he had already been sentenced to 90 days in jail for an assault on the same party by City Court. District Attorney Torraca said that had been a third degree charge and involved another assault on the same person. Thomas Saccoman appeared for Butler and the case was adjourned to Nov. 1 at 11 a. m.

Judge Mino reserved decision on a motion to release the defendant in custody of his counsel.

Marvin Elwood Depuy, 18, Ellenville, entered a plea of innocent to a third degree burglary, unlawful entry and petit larceny charge arising out of an incident July 4, last. Frank Spada, counsel, moved to have the defendant treated as a youthful offender. Decision reserved and case put over to the opening day of the November trial term. Bail was continued.

Two indictments charging Casper Davis Jr., Highland, with burglary, unlawful entry and grand larceny, were moved over to Nov. 24 at 11 a. m. Charles Saccoman appears for defendant.

The case of Leonard Sanders, charged with entry and burglary at the Wallkill Central School last March 11, had his case adjourned to Nov. 25 at 11 a. m. when his counsel, Marshall Lipton was engaged in another court. Sanders had pleaded to second degree grand larceny and awaited sentence.

Two Crashes At Same Locale In Ulster Town

Kingston State Police Investigated three traffic accidents on Thursday, one of which resulted in personal injury. Two of the mishaps occurred at the same location on Route 209, Town of Ulster.

Shortly before 5 p. m. Marlene Harpur, 19, of 62 Hurley Avenue, was driving south on Route 209 when she saw an unidentified person picking up lumber that fell on the pavement. The young woman swerved to avoid the pedestrian and her car struck guard rails, according to Trooper John McMickle.

While the damaged car was on the pavement Mary Ann Wheeler, 28, of West Hurley, was traveling south on the highway when she came upon the scene of the earlier mishap. She stopped her car and a vehicle driven by Wayne Roberts, 37, of Golf Terrace, swerved to the right to avoid the other cars and his car skidded into the Wheeler automobile. Both accidents were investigated by Trooper Patrick Sheehan.

Sheila Grant, 19, of Route 2, Kingston, sustained lacerations of the forehead at 12:45 p. m. yesterday, when her car hit a tree off Sawkill Road north of Route 209. Trooper McMickle said the car was traveling east when the right wheels went on a soft shoulder. The driver lost control as the car went up an embankment and hit a tree, according to a report of Trooper Roy Martinussen.

Deceased Man's Eyes Continue To Serve Navy

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — For 20 years Thomas N. Brown served in his country's Navy and his eyes may continue to serve even though Brown is dead.

The 66-year-old retired chief petty officer died Monday.

Before his death, however, Brown specified that his eyes be made available to assist servicemen injured in Vietnam.

Within hours of his death, one cornea was transplated to a young sailor whose eyes had been damaged by an exploding booby trap.

Lt. G.E. Reeves, patient affairs officer at the Corpus Christi Naval Air Station Hospital, said without the transplant the sailor "faced permanent blindness." He said he could not reveal the name of the recipient.

Tuesday, the second cornea was transplanted to another patient who also had been wounded in Vietnam.

It was too early to determine the success of either operation, Reeves said.

Brown, who retired last July, moved with his wife, Marian, to Corpus Christi, where he had been stationed.

Death was caused by cancer.

Brown is to be buried at Saranac Lake, N.Y.

Absent-Minded

CINCINNATI (AP) — Paul Rudy, a gas station attendant, filled a customer's car, promptly made change, awarded trading stamps, washed the windshield and provided a gift tumbler. As the driver pulled away, he called to the manager to commend Rudy on his fast, efficient courteous service. Then Rudy noticed that he had forgotten to remove the pump's hose from the car's gas tank. The hose snapped, starting a fire.

Katrine Youth Suspect in Theft of Cars

A Lake Katrine youth, suspected in the theft of five cars appeared in court today and had his case adjourned until Tuesday to seek counsel.

The accused, James D. Beecheh, 16, was nabbed by detectives Thursday afternoon. Police said two other youths have been named as accomplices but records indicate the pair is underage.

Charged with unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and third degree burglary, Beecheh is listed by detectives as having been involved in a series of Sept. auto thefts, plus cashing a check that was not his own.

According to court records, the young defendant is accused of participating in the theft of two autos from Doc Smith's garage on the night of Sept. 16. One of these autos was wrecked that night, police disclosed.

Beecheh has also been charged with the Sept. 17 and 18 theft of cars from behind Kingston Hospital and armory. In addition the Sept. heist of another auto from Doc Smith's garage has been linked to the accused, police stated.

Court records indicate that the Lake Katrine youth is also accused of cashing a check belonging to Robert Hatch at Caldor's Dept store on Route 9W.

Utility Cable Across River Termed Eyesore

TARRYTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — A state advisory commission has rejected as an eyesore a utility's plan to string a power line across the Hudson River south of Albany.

But since the Hudson River Valley Commission was given only advisory powers by the Legislature, its recommendation could be disregarded by Niagara Mohawk Power Corp.

The commission suggested Thursday that the 345,000-volt transmission line be installed under the river instead, at what the utility estimates would be more than seven times the cost of overheading it.

Overhead lines, the commission concluded, "would have an unreasonable adverse effect upon the scenic resources of the river."

To suggestions that overhead lines would be less objectionable if placed adjacent to the Hudson River bridge of the State Thruway's Berkshire spur, the commission replied: not so.

"The use of bridge structures to support transmission lines would have no less serious impairment to scenic values," the commission said.

The unitility sought to string overhead power lines from 235-foot-high towers from the Albany County town of Bethlehem to the Rensselear County town of Schodack on the river's east shore. Company engineers estimated the cost at $1.8 million, and said at least another $12 million would be tacked on if the lines went underground.

Escape Module Saves Crewmen In Crash of F111

BOWIE, Tex. (AP) — A supersonic F111A fighter-bomber crashed in a North Texas pasture Thursday night. A new escape system saved both crewmen.

The $5 million plane was an Air Force version of the controversial TFX, a variable-sweep wing jet built at the Fort Worth plant of General Dynamics 70 miles southeast of here.

The plane hit and broke apart as two oil operators, Ed Spragins and Dick Darner of Wichita Falls, worked on a farm nearby.

The two men heard a loud boom about 6:10 p.m. and saw a parachute lower the craft's ejection module into a field 10 miles southwest of Bowie.

Test pilots David Thigpen and Max Gordon, civilian employes of General Dynamics, were unhurt as the parachute draped across a power line and left them hanging upside down in the module. They quickly freed themselves.

Spragins said, "According to the pilots, the hydraulic system failed and they were unable to maneuver the aircraft. It began to pitch and roll, and they had to get out of it."

Thigpen told newsmen only that "something went wrong" about an hour after takeoff at General Dynamics and "I made the decision to eject."

A rocket motor shot the ejection module upward and a large beige parachute unfolded in a light breeze.

In addition to the F111A for the Air Force General Dynamics builds the F111B for the Navy. One of each had crashed earlier.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market declined early Friday in active trading.

Losses outnumbered gains by a good margin.

The Dow Jones industrial average was down between 1 and 2 points.

Rails, however, were buttressed by New York Central and Pennsylvania Railroad, each of which rose about 2 points.

IBM picked up 3 points or so in a routine move, Zenith, Xerox and Illinois Central rose around a point each. Pfizer was a 1-point loser.

Ford, off a fraction, continued its small, uncertain movements as from day to day an agreement to settle the strike was reported near, but no hard news was forthcoming.

Potomac Electric Power, up a fraction, was far ahead on volume.

Strength in New York Central and Pennsy was attributed to a decision by a three-judge federal court in New York that the projected merger should not be delayed.

Opening blocks included:

Youngstown Sheet, off ¼ at 31 on 29,500 shares; Alcan Aluminum, off ⅝ at 25 on 15,000; Montgomery Ward, off ⅜ at 23⅛ on 11,000; American Telephone, unchanged at 51¼ on 10,000; and Union Carbide, off ⅛ at 48 on 5,000.

The failure of Thursday's strong early rally to win a following was discouraging to the trading community. The result was an extra dose of caution before the weekend.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange.

Milady's Change of Mind Overlooked in Surveys

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — After all these years, it seems that one of the reasons consumer surveys are wrong is that the housewife changes her mind in the time that elapses between the question and the purchase.

This is a discovery that husbands, hairdressers, grocers and real estate agents have long and sometimes patiently understood, but which explorers of the consumer mind have often overlooked in asking questions.

As a result, as much as 60 per cent of new products that market tests suggest should be successful are instead left on store shelves to turn dusty and eventually to be withdrawn forever.

It is a matter of confidence, says Prof. John Howard of Columbia University, confidence in her own ability to judge a product, her knowledge of the product, the intensity of her feeling for it.

Not Just Yes or No

Howard feels that precise measurements of a woman's attitudes—not just her yes-no answers—must be made before any accurate prediction of her future behavior—her buying behavior—can be made.

Attempts have been made before to correlate attitude and behavior, but the studies had a built-in defect. A person's attitude might have been measured, but no followup was made to see if the person purchased.

"As a result," said Howard, "the surveyor often got Mrs. Jones attitude and Mrs. Smith's buying."

Howard's study, which aims to eliminate this defect, indicates that the more confidently a woman expresses her approval of a brand, the more likely she is to purchase the product being tested.

If her confidence in judging the merits of a brand is low, then her initial attitude to the product may be nearly irrelevant to her subsequent buying behavior.

Wide Implications Possible

Because confidence is based in the amount of information available, the findings could have wide implications for advertising, influencing greatly its content and approach.

"Housewives don't have good information," Howard said. "They must take what information they can get, and the problem is getting worse. The number of new products is rising, and their complexity is also."

Because of this complexity, and because housewives have only a limited amount of time for shopping, the confidence factor therefore will become increasingly important. So also will the need for better information.

Blue Chip Label
Highly Elastic

Q—Our stock portfolio is for our retirement in 10 years, since we will have no pensions. We have substantial savings and a conservatively mortaged home. Our holdings include A.J. Industries, Castle & Cook, Chesebrough-Pond's, Continental, Illinois Bank & Trust, General Motors, Pfizer. We think we should make some changes for better growth and favor more blue stocks. What do you suggest? — S. M.

A—With the exception of A.J. Industries, all your stocks may be rated blue chips. This classification is extremely elastic, for it could include such slow movers as Union Carbide and such fast gainers as Avon Products.

Castle & Cook is an excellent stock, but it has shown little growth in recent years due partly to the seasonal nature of its business. I advise you to switch it into Del Monte, the world's largest food packer, which has been extremely successful in smoothing out seasonal changes and establishing a long basic uptrend in earnings.

But Chesebrough and Pfizer measure up fully to your requirements. General Motors has been a good stock to own over a period of time, but is subject to cyclical dips, and you might do better with Plough Inc.

Continental Illinois Bank is a strong and conservative holding which, with others in its group, has fallen out of favor in a rather speculative market and sells at a low price-earnings multiple. I would retain it for its stability and its potential for enhancing your capital over the next 10 years.

A.J. Industries appears well managed, but its large stake in military business makes it too speculative for you. I would exchange it for Warner-Lambert.

Q—I bought Murphy Oil. I hear this stock is in a "buyout" position. What does this mean? — R. M.

A—It means that the company is a possible candidate for acquisition by another concern. I have heard of no such move, but I would nevertheless hold the shares for their good appreciation potential.

Deli Owner Wins $5,000 In Lottery

"I've never won anything before. I am happy but not excited."

That was the comment of Karl Glotzl, proprietor of the Terminal Delicatessen at 458 Broadway, Kingston, a $5,000 winner in the September state lottery.

Glatzl's name was the first drawn from a drum in Albany on Tuesday by State Tax Commissioner Joseph H. Murphy and he was one of five tagged for post position No. 1.

On Thursday Glotzl was eliminated with many others from chances of getting the $100,000 or other top prizes. He was a $5,000 winner.

"I have bought three tickets each month since the lottery started," Glotzl said today. "I am going to keep trying and will buy three tickets each month from now on."

Glotzl said he and his wife had made up their minds that they would be satisfied with the lowest prize—$150. "That would have been better than nothing," he said.

What is he going to do with the $5,000 — after taxes are paid?

"I am going to give a share to my son, Karl, and my daughter, Carol," Glotzl said. "My three grandchildren will get a share and my wife will get her share."

The balance of the money will be deposited in a bank. "We hope to use that for a trip to Europe after we retire," Glotzl said.

Masks for Real

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)— Two men and two women artists here estimate they may frighten at least a million people this Halloween. With their faces, they say, they can't fail.

The foursome, designers for Hallmark cards, created Halloween "fright" masks by photographing their own faces. These are the first masks ever produced that reproduce the faces of actual people.

"IN MY FIRST YEAR AS A SWIFT HOMES DEALER, I NETTED OVER $26,000!"

Fred Kessler, owner of Kessler-Swift Homes in New England, had his own engineering and manufacturing firm for many years. "But the profit squeeze was getting tighter and tighter," he says. "I wasn't clearing enough money for all the headaches."

After he learned about Swift Homes, he sold the business and applied for a Swift franchise in a portion of New Hampshire and Vermont. Now he and his wife, Florence, work together, clear more than they did with his previous business and have time to enjoy the resort area in which they live.

"We're looking forward to a greater second year," Fred says. "The housing business in general is better than it was our first year. The special Swift features are so appealing to customers that we really see no ceiling on this new career."

Maybe you have a business that doesn't reward you enough. Or maybe you're working for someone else and would like the challenge and prestige of being a Swift Homes dealer. Send the coupon below to find out more about this exciting opportunity.

Veteran Stars Busy In Film Westerns

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The film industry in recent years has been playing a version of musical chairs to keep veteran stars busy.

A better name might be musical saddles.

It's lots of fun, especially for the stars. They can't lose, and the stakes are high. Who could ask for more?

There once was a time when a Gary Cooper or an Errol Flynn could carry a Western on his own broad shoulders. But we have entered an era of bigness, and producers believe it takes two male stars to pull the patrons in. And so studios have come up with endless combinations for box-office appeal.

Two new combos are before the cameras now. James Stewart and Dean Martin are shooting it out at Bracketville, Tex., in "Bandolero." And Yul Brynner and Robert Mitchum are galloping over the Spanish countryside for "Villa Rides."

Last year Mitchum teamed up with John Wayne in "El Dorado" and with Kirk Douglas and Richard Widmark in "The Way West." Next February the indefatigable Mitch combines Gregory Peck, James Stewart, with Dean Martin in "Five Card Stud." See how the game is played?

Tallest man in the musical saddles game is John Wayne, of course. Besides the above-mentioned Mitchum, Wayne has combined with Dean Martin in "Rio Bravo" and "The Sons of Katie Elder," with James Stewart in "The Man Who Shot Liberty Valance," with Kirk Douglas in "War Wagon," William Holden in "The Horse Soldiers," etc.

James Stewart is no slouch, either. As noted, he has been paired with Wayne and Martin, plus Richard Widmark in "Two Rode Together" and his old pal Henry Fonda in the upcoming "Firecreek."

Kirk Douglas has combined with Wayne, Widmark, Mitchum, plus Burt Lancaster in "Gunfight at OK Corral," Anthony Quinn in "Last Train From Gun Hill" and Rock Hudson in "The Last Sunset."

Nobody knows how the game of musical saddles will end. The trend continues toward bigness, and the ultimate may be something like:

The billing will be alphabetical, of course

There's only one trouble with the game. If the picture's no good, no combination of stars can save it. That was proved with "Horse Soldiers," "The Last Sunset," "The Way West" and others. And it could also be true of "The Thundering Herd."

Low Bidder

Low bid for work at the Catskill Reformatory, Napanoch, was opened Wednesday at the New York State Office of General Services of the Executive Department, Albany.

L. P. Kent Corp. of Bronx, was low bidder at $17,430 for construction work on replacement of roof, Building 20. Two bids were submitted.

Mohawk Plans Washington to Albany Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mohawk Airlines and Allegheny Airlines have been granted permission by the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) to provide service between Albany, N.Y. and Washington.

The CAB, however, ordered Mohawk Wednesday to serve White Plains on all flights between Albany and Washington.

The tentative starting date is Jan. 6, 1968, and two round-trips will be provided daily, a Mohawk spokesman said.

Allegheny flights between Albany and Washington will also have one intermediate stop when serving Washington through Dullas or National airports but may operate nonstop between Albany and Baltimore's Friendship Airport.

The CAB made the awards for an indefinite period.

Lions Slate Sight Clinic For October 28

Kingston Lions Club today announced that it plans to hold a Glaucoma Detection Clinic Saturday, Oct. 28, between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Sponsored jointly by the Kingston Lions Club and the local chapter of the Hudson Valley Optometric Society, the clinic will be held in back of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association building on Fair Street as part of the Health Fair.

Howard Stauble, co-chairman of the Lions Sight Conservation Committee, said that "it is important for persons over 40 years of age to be tested for glaucoma, which is one of the leading causes of blindness. If undetected, glaucoma may cause blindness without warning, but if it is discovered, it can be treated without loss of sight by the regular use of eye drops."

David Kline, Kingston optometrist and member of the Lions Club, will be conducting the tests along with Harry R. LeFever Jr., Kingston optometrist, both members of the local chapter of the Hudson Valley Optometric Society.

Lions Clubs throughout the world are known for their activities in connection with the blind. More and more Lions Clubs are conducting glaucoma clinics as a part of their sight conservation programs.

If glaucoma is detected in a person during the clinic, he is then referred to his own eye doctor for further examination and treatment.

The Lions Club has also announced transportation to the clinic for persons unable to provide their own transportation. Anyone needing transportation may call Stauble.

Saugerties Teachers Group Will Be Bargaining Agent

The Saugerties Teachers Association has requested that it be recognized as the negotiating agent for teachers within the system.

By-laws which provide for such recognition were adopted Monday by the Saugerties Board of Education.

They cover procedures to be followed by the board in implementing the Taylor Act, officially known as "Public Employes Fair Employment Act" which became effective Sept. 1, 1967. It guarantees public employes the right of organization and representation for collective negotiations with their employers.

The by-laws were passed following months of study and meetings on the subject by both administration and the board, according to Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Dexter O. Arnold.

The board also set the date of Nov. 6, 7 p. m. for the sale of the Cedar Grove School. Recently 23 persons attended a meeting of qualified voters and were unanimous in their wish to sell the site and the school. The sale will be held at the school.

Building committee chairman Arthur Simmons reported progress on the Glasco and Mt. Marion additions. Architectural or general construction drawings and designs for the Glasco addition are 80 per cent complete, plumbing, heating and ventilating designs, 25 per cent complete, and electrical work, 50 per cent complete. The Mt. Marion architectural designs are 85 per cent complete, plumbing, heating ventilating designs are 75 per cent complete, and the electrical designs, 50 per cent complete.

Additional appointments, recommended by Dr. Arnold were approved. Fred Seither will coach seventh and eighth grade basketball teams during the coming season and Paul Larose the ninth grade basketball team. Miss Nancy Wharman will supervise the junior high school cheerleading. Relieving Fred Seither as coach of the wrestling team will be Lawrence Dake. He served as co-captain of the Colgate University wrestling team during his senior year at that institution. In his capacity as director of athletics, Seither has recommended that Dake serve in this capacity in order that he may give his attention to the seventh and eight grade basketball squads.

The following additional appointments were made: Edna Wittenbecker, teacher aide; Melitta Dederick, food service helper; and James Bourguignon, cleaner.

Dr. Arnold reported that 69 pupils are attending the Board of Cooperative Educational Services vocational program.

Business manager Gerald Snyder was authorized to accept low bids for roofing the administration building from the J-A Roofing Company at $3,500, and for blacktopping an area at the high school by J. Mayone, Jr. at $1,995. No response was received from bidders on the brick veneering of the garage at the High School and it will be necessary to rebid in the near future.

CYO Basketball Field Day Sat.

Final plans for a CYO basketball field day were announced by Ernest Galinis, athletic committee chairman of St. Mary of The Snow CYO. The event will be held on Saturday, Oct. 21, at 10 a. m. in the Roger Donlon auditorium.

The contest is open to members of 6, 7, and 8th grades both boys and girls, and will consist of dribbling, free throws, layups, and other skills applicable to basketball.

Prizes will be awarded and the winners in the free throw contest will represent St. Mary of The Snow at the Ulster County competition Nov. 18 in Kingston.

Donald Longtoe, executive committee chairman, announced two recent appointments to the committee. They are: Peggy Karashay, cultural committee, and Mrs. Mary Coons, social committee.

Investiture into the CYO will take place on Sunday, Oct. 22, at 2 p. m. in St. Mary's Church. The Rev. Joseph F. Hamilton, CYO moderator, has announced that all members must be present in order to particpate in the activities for the coming year.

Other programs dates have been made known by the executive committee and they are: Oct. 27, Teenage Federation Barn Dance; Oct. 28, Halloween Dance; Oct. 29, Communion Breakfast in conjunction with the opening of CYO Week; Nov. 5, 6, 7, CYO benefit movie at the Orpheum Theatre; Nov. 12, checker tournament. Final plans for these events will be announced at a later date.

Senior Citizen Club Elects New Officers

Officers were elected at the last meeting of the Senior Citizens Club. Mrs. Frances Bayer was named president, Mrs. Thelma Decker, chairman and Mrs. Frederick Kukuk, assistant treasurer.

Members have been making greeting card folders for children's homes and the rehabilitation of discarded toys. The toys will be distributed by the center at Christmas. Toy donations may be made at the center, 81 Partition Street between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Senior Citizen meetings usually feature entertainment, group singing, refreshments, speakers, films and slides. No dues are required. Refreshments are donated.

Paint Windows For Halloween

Saugerties Jaycees combined with the local merchants announce their first Halloween painting contest.

The contest is open to all art students age 12 to 17, in both the Saugerties Central School System and St. Mary's School.

Students must register in groups of two, three or four with a window being assigned each group. The assignment of windows will be made according to order of registration. The painting sets necessary will be supplied by the Jaycees.

The painting will take place Saturday, Oct. 28, between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Judging and awarding of prizes will start at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Prizes will be awarded for the most artistic, in 12-14 age group; the most artistic, in 15-17 age group; the most original, the scariest, in 12-14 age group and the scariest, in 15-17 age group.

Groups may register at Buono Barber Shop, P. C. Smith's Hardware, or by calling Joe Gavner, Jaycee Chairman.

VFW Auxiliary Aiding Hospital

Veterans at Castle Point Hospital are in for a treat later this month as plans were formulated last week for the annual "fish pond" during the Halloween carnival in the hospital's recreation hall. It will be conducted by members of the Ladies Auxiliary, Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, VFW. The local group will also participate in the two bedside bingos slated for Nov. 8 and Dec. 13.

Mrs. Alice Benson, Mrs. Elsie Alte and Mrs. Mary Aiello were ceremoniously received into the Auxiliary and given their obligation by the chaplain, Mrs. Marie Parks. Mrs. Janice Dengler, president, presented each with her pin and explained the significance of it. Mrs. Benson is the wife of the present VFW Post Commander, Max Benson.

A Christmas article sale will take place in the former Delson building, Main Street, Thursday and Friday, Nov. 16 and 17 from 9 to 5 each day. Handmade novelties for Christmas gift giving and decorating will be featured. A day long demonstration of liquid embroidery will also take place.

Girl Scout Troop 192 will be presented its own American Flag Tuesday, Oct. 24 at 7:30 p. m. by the auxiliary.

Reservations for the annual Christmas bus trip to New York City Dec. 9 are now being accepted by Mrs. Mildred Sperl, Mrs. Dorothy Wood and Mrs. Mary Lou Dengler. The bus will leave Saugerties at 7 a. m. from the Exchange Hotel and return at 10 p. m. Deadline for reservations is Dec. 1.

Members are asked to make special note of the change in the meeting nights to the first Wednesday in November and in December on the usual meeting nights.

Jayncees Raise Funds for Scholarships

"Dollars For Scholars" is being initiated in Saugerties by the Jayncees. The project calls for the forming of a chapter of the Citizens' Schoalrship Foundation of America, Inc. The organization's purpose is to raise money for local scholarships.

Local service organizations are being contacted for help in the formation of an executive committee. The Lions Club and Jaycees have indicated support and other groups are invited.

Jayncees is providing speaking representatives who will explain the underteaking to interested organizations. Mrs. Barbara Buchle and Mrs. Mary Pardonner are in charge.

Democratic Pre-Election Dinner Dance

The Town of Saugerties Democratic Party will have a pre-election dinner-dance Saturday, Oct. 21 at 8 p. m. at the Flamingo Restaurant.

Assemblyman Joseph St. Lawrence from Rockland County and delegate to the Constitutional Convention will be the guest speaker. His topic will be the constitution, to be voted on November 7.

All county officers and candidates are expected to attend, as well as the officers and candidates from the town. Music will be furnished by Vince Edwards, and Saugerties Flappers will present, "The Roaring Twenties Review."

Tickets may be purchased from any of the local Democratic candidates, committeemen or inspectors.

Grim Factors at Work On Highway, Chief Warns

There is no such thing as legislating "instant safety" on our streets and highways, according to Chief of Police Gordon Keeley of Saugerties.

"The new federal safety regulations which establish vehicle standards and call for greatly expanded safety programs at the state, county and local levels are certain to bring improvement in the death rate, but it won't come soon," the chief said. "And there are other grim factors at work which convince me that things are going to get a lot worse on our streets and highways before they get better."

Among the factors listed by the chief which will make it more hazardous on the highways are the following: More young drivers, higher speeds, popularity of motorcycles, increasing travel, alcohol consumption and failure to use seat belts.

"All of these elements at work in our traffic stream are almost certain to push our death toll upward in the years immediately ahead," Chief Keeley said.

"We are approaching the critical winter months when normal driving hazards are compounded by the weather.

"Reduced visibility and inadequate traction make it tougher for drivers to stay out of trouble."

He urged motorists to study the following tips for safe winter driving.

1. Get the "feel" of the road by accelerating carefully to see if wheels spin; or brake gently to see if the skid. Reduce speed accordingly.

2. Increase your following distance. It takes three to nine times as far to stop on snow and ice as on dry pavement.

3. "Pump" your brakes to slow or stop—don't jam them on. An intermittent pumping action keeps the wheels rolling and helps maintain steering control.

4. Have good tires with good treads. Better yet, use snow tires.

5. Always carry reinforced tire chains in the trunk of your car.

6. Keep your windshield and windows clear at all times. Be sure that your windshield washer solution contains adequate anti-freeze.

"These are practical down-to-earth recommendations," Chief Keeley said. "I urge every motorist to heed them."

Legion Aux. Plans Events

Committe reports were heard and plans made for coming events at a recent meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary of Lamouree Hackett Unit 72 with President Edith Shaffer presiding.

Reports were received from Catherine Teetsel, child welfare; Anne Johnson, chaplain; Edith Shaffer, rehabilitation; Catherine Van Gaasbeck, publicity and Alice Kolano, community service.

It was announced that the Third District Fall Conference will be Friday at Kozel's Restaurant, Rt. 9-H, Columbia County. A Halloween party and dance will be held Saturday, Oct. 28.

Fuses Are Safety Valves; Don't Nullify Their Use

By MR. FIX

You burn more lights and watch more television in the winter. In the summer, air conditioners are running and the refrigerator works harder. There isn't a time of the year that electricity isn't being used heavily in the home.

Overloading of electric lines is a problem that can occur any time of the year. Fortunately, your home is equipped with a safety valve of sorts, a fuse.

When there is a short circuit or an overload, more current flows through the wires than they were destined to handle. When this happens, a fuse blows out or a circuit breaker opens. The current is turned off and the wires don't get a chance to overheat.

Fuses vary in appearance but basically they all work the same. A metal strip inside has a lower melting point than the wire it is designed to protect. Fuses are rated to handle a particular current, starting at 15 amps generally and on up.

When the current goes over this amount, the metal strip melts and the fuse blows out. Using a heavier fuse is dangerous and completely negates the value of fusing. The copper wire itself will be dangerously hot before the fuse blows out.

Never use a larger fuse than the one you should use. Never use a penny, scrap of wire or tinfoil instead of a new fuse.

Keep extra fuses on hand. Most are of the plug type which screws in .These have transparent tops so that you can see when the wire inside has melted. Fuse plugs are available which are designed to handle a temporary overload—such as the starting of a motor—without blowing. You can recognize these by the spring-like wire under the window.

The other common type of fuse is the cartridge, generally—but not always—for heavier circuits.

Fuses such as those used for electric ranges are always the cartridge type. A cartridge fuse simply snaps into a holder in the fuse box.

Fuse replacement is easy if you plan ahead. Know the location of the fuse box. Know which current each fuse protects. Make a list and paste it in the fuse box, inside the cover. Turn on all the lights, make use of all outlets, and remove one fuse at a time. This will help you locate the circuit for each fuse.

When a particular fuse blows out, you will then know on which circuit there was trouble.

Trouble is generally caused by overloading too many electrical lines on a single circuit. Occasionally on appliance or lamp may be at fault. Once in a while the trouble may be in the house wiring itself.

When a fuse blows, disconnect all items on that circuit. With a new fuse in, turn on lights and and connect appliances one at a time. If a particular item is at fault, the fuse will blow out as soon as you plug it in.

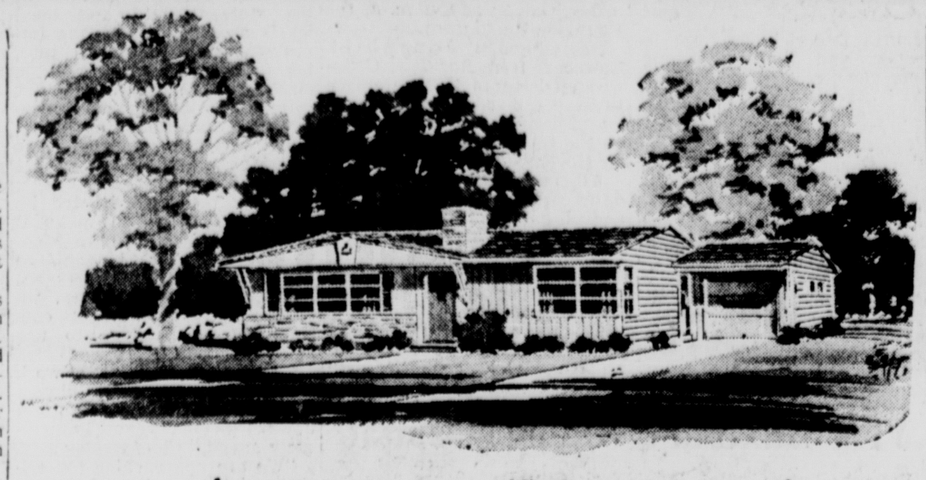

If everything is on, and in a few minutes the fuse pops again, then it was simply a matter of overloading. Eliminate something.

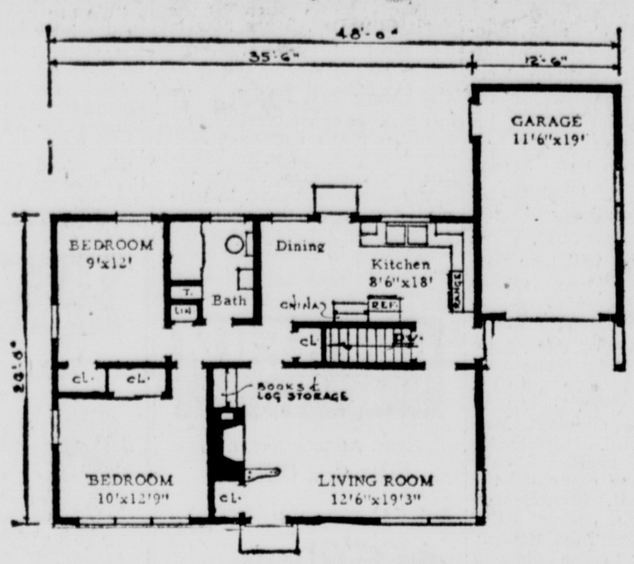

If the fuse blows out before you have turned everything on, the trouble is the wiring and you'd better call in an electrician.

If all the lights go out, then the main fuse has blown out. Most homes are protected with fuse boxes having several large cartridge fuses and many smaller fuses.

Economy Two-Bedroom Julep: Retirement Home

By JACK McELENEY

Today's feature, "The Julep," is a combination of rooms to fit the needs of small home requirements. The kitchen is fairly large and arranged for efficiency, which takes the drudgery out of meal preparations.

Bedrooms are spacious and isolated from the rest of the house to insure quiet privacy, and the living room, which has actual dimensions of 12'-6" by 19'-3", has a large corner picture window for effective light source plus a fireplace with adjoining bookcase and woodbox.

The front vestibule is created by a decorator screen wih guest closet on the left.

Of note is the one-car garage, positioned to the rear, adding interest to the overall design, and at the same time providing sheltered access to the side entrance.

"The Julep" living area has 870 square feet plus 250 square feet for the garage.

Building plans are available at moderate cost by using the accompanying coupon, and show how "The Julep" may be built of frame, brick or block.

Garden Book

Enchanting gardens of Ireland are collected in "Irish Gardens," MacMillan a big book that will take you to Mount Usher, Annes Grove, Glenveagh Castle, Ilnacullin, Mount Stewart and Glasnevin, among other places. The writer is Edward Hyams and the color and black and white pictures are the work of William MacQuitty. The skillful authors take you through the gardens that give Ireland much of its charm.

The Weeders Guide

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

It wasn't surprising that motorists stopped and climbed the sloping lawn to the side of the house to ask the name of the spectacular, tall plant with the big purple ball atop.

It was allium giganteum.

This summer we had four in bloom. This member of the onion family, sometimes called Jewel of Tibet, bloomed for a month. The bright purple ball sits on a plus-four-foot, sturdy stalk that emerges from among long, pineapple-like leaves.

Allium giganteum sparked much interest when we wrote about it many months ago.

The big bulb is planted in the fall, as tulips are, but deeper, since the bulbs are larger. The bulbs may be dug up, dried and stored in a cool place any time after the purple cluster of florets open, or when it fades. The bulb does not have to be left in the ground to ripen, we were told by Cees van der Mey of Lisse, Holland, whose firm ships thousands abroad. (Van der Mey surprised us with a visit on an early, cold spring evening.)

When we dug up our bulbs, we found that they had divided into two or three each. This means we'll have an even more spectacular show next summer, but we'll plant them with a better background — near a building or wall to show them off.

One reader asked about drying the stalk and flower. Van der Mey said he had never done this, but thought it would be right to let the flowers dry on the stem if it was a dry flowering season; otherwise to cut the flower when it had faded only slightly, and hang it upside down in a garage or other dry place.

Van der Mey recommended treating the ground with PCMB before replanting in the same area.

Dr. J. Victor Miller of Greenwich, N.Y., said he left his bulbs in the ground through a winter of deep snow and they survived with vigor.

Dr. Miller received his first bulb, unlabeled, from his grandson in 1963 and planted it. Shortly after, a small stalk appeared, it shriveled, and it happened again the next year after developing a few leaves and an eight-inch stalk.

Then he saw the allium pictured in a flower catalog and bought two bulbs. In the spring of 1966, all three grew to about 4½ feet, one with three stalks and the others with one each.

"They were a show by themselves in my perrenial border," Dr. Miller said. "Real conversation pieces. Why the first one waited three years to bloom I do not know, unless it wanted companions."

Just as Dr. Miller did, we planted the bulbs 7 to 8 inches deep. They should be planted about two feet apart because of the leaf spread.

There are many other alliums. One is aflatunense; another is albopilosum. But we do not know of any as spectacular as allium giganteum.

No One Can Afford To Buy Unseen Property

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeature Writer

"What do you think of buying land sight-unseen?" asks a working wife, who says that her husband has a friend who has a friend who wants to sell a piece of vacation property at a loss "because he needs money."

"It would require a three-day automobile trip and a loss of pay since we have had our vacation. The deal is supposed to be terrific. We don't know much about the area except that it has trees, good fishing and is a good place for retirement."

Well — if one can afford to lose the money involved, one can take a chance. If the money represents a lifetime's savings, it would be better to lose three days' pay and see it.

If it must be bought sight-unseen, a reliable real estate agent in the area should be asked to check out a few things. These include:

How is the land or lot situated? Corner? Narrow? Wide? Road frontage?

Is there water on the land? Utilities available? Are there animals in the vicinity?

Does the town have building regulations that would prohibit you from building or unloading property at the price you must ask?

Ask about the town code restrictions. Some towns regulate these codes so that vacation-type buildings can't be constructed. Sometimes the type of architecture is specified, where the house must be located on a property and so on. You don't want to buy a piece of land three days from home that will be good only for picnics.

How far is it to the nearest neighbor? Telephone? Garage? Is it a likely spot for a thruway? Has there been talk of new roads?

And don't forget to inquire about the taxes.

* * *

One lucky woman has it made. She is about to have the house of her dreams because her husband is the builder. Wonder of wonders, he has asked her to specify what she'd like in her new house.

"But now that he's asked me to give him a list of ideas, I can't think of anything but an indoor barbecue, and don't even know whether it is worth the expense. Are there other things that aren't normally included in houses that might be useful? I'd appreciate any ideas...."

The first thing to decide is whether you will get enough use out of an indoor barbecue, even if he wants to do the work. Or could the spot be used for something else. The most satisfactory barbecues are those set into the floor away from the wall. There are certain dangers in building a barbecue next to an outer wall and it is all involved with grease. If it can be built so that the grease does not become trapped in fan or hood or tile on the inner wall, fine. But many people who have had these barbecues in the early days of their popularity ceased to use them because of the large accumulation of grease.

A built-in ironing board is a great convenience. These are not often found even in new houses, probably because builders have been told that women don't want to be confined to one ironing place. But it could be useful for quick pressing. And if one wants to do a lot of ironing sitting down, one could have a spare board for such occasions. If you build in the board, plan a section above it to hold the iron.

A clothes chute that could pass dirty clothes right to the utility room would prove to be a great convenience. If he won't go for that, try him on a built-in clothes hamper.

A revolving garbage bin in the kitchen that would permit the garbage man to remove the pail from the outside of the house would get rid of that messy little carrying job, especially in bad weather.

An adjoining revolving bin might be used for deliveries for anything — parcels, laundry, groceries.

Predictions are that bathrooms in new houses will be bigger, accommodating such things as exercise machines, hair dryers, wig stands, facial saunas and other beauty and health gadgets. It's an idea.

A closet for towels, tissues, bath oils, soaps, built into the bathroom is another great asset.

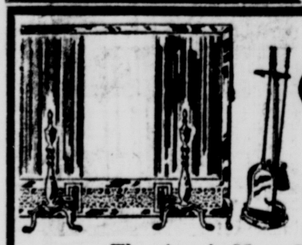

A well-planned clothes closet can take up less space than a closet planned in a haphazard way. Put it on paper, planning it so that there is room for hats, shoes, pocketbooks. There could be small drawers to hold accessories — costume jewelry, belts and so on.

The average man, builder or not, usually doesn't see the necessity of so much closet space. A man's own paraphernalia is limited, whereas the lady of the house must worry about storing everything from antimacassars to xylophones, besides her own clothes.

Major Rec Complex Planned for Onteora

John R. Parete, a Kingston stockbroker, has announced plans for the proposed construction of a major recreation complex in the Onteora area.

The preliminary plans for the project, which is estimated to cost more than one quarter million dollars, include a golf course, large smimming pool, tennis courts, riding stables, club house with exercise gymnasium and lodge. The winter activities will include skiing, tobagganing, ice skating and hunting. The preliminary plans also call for an enclosed pool, which can be used for year-round enjoyment. There are several sites in the Onteora area presently under consideration.

Parete, a resident of Boiceville, commenting on the project said "The availability of good recreation is a determining factor in the uniform growth of a community and a prime influence in attracting new investment for a community. The lack of suitable recreation facilities is unhealthy for the existing community framework and severely distorts a community's potential."

The project is being steered in its preliminary stages by a number of local business and civic leaders. They include Peter Tosi, Boiceville postmaster; F. William Sheehan, Wittenberg insurance man; Bert Mayer, Woodstock architect; John Malloy, West Shokan officer of the Kingston Trust Co.; Kent Reeves, director of The Ashokan campus of the State University of New Paltz; Edward Wiederspiel, Shokan, of Wiedy Furniture; Ronald Laduke, Shokan, manager of the Goodyear Store; Rudy Frank, Shandaken and past president of the Phoenicia Rotary. Additional members of the steering committee from the Woodstock and Shandaken area will be named. This is a privately planned project, which is independant of town government. However, local governmental bodies are encouraged to actively participate in its development.

In conclusion, Parete said "the major impetus for this program will result from the interest generated by the people in the area. Recreation is certainly needed and must be provided."

There are over 30 types of pneumococcus, the germ which causes pneumonia.

Area Youth Who Was Airborne at 15 Now Decorated Copter Pilot in Viet

By JEAN F. DOLAN

A Mt. Marion youth who started flying at the age of 15 is distinguishing himself with a "can do" spirit and flight know-how in Vietnam.

Awarded DFC

Twenty-year-old Jeffrey P. Borges, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Borges of 27 Country Club Drive, Mt. Marion, is the holder of the Air Medal with 21 clusters, a Letter of Commendation and the Distinguished Flying Cross.

Aircraft Commander of C Company, 227th Helicopter Assault Battalion, 1st Air Cavalry Division, Warrant Officer Borges is serving in Central Highlands of Vietnam.

Borges entered the Army Jan. 27, 1966, and took basic training at Camp Polk, La. Primary flight training was at Fort Wolters, Tex. and advanced flight training at Fort Rucker, Ala. He left for one year's service in Vietnam March 3, 1967.

Soloed at 17

Holder of commercial helicopter license and tactical instrument rating, Borges began his civilian pilot training at Stormville at the tender age of 15. Prior to entering service he held a student-pilot license (fixed wing) and had soloed at the Rhinebeck Aerodrome at the age of 17. His flight instructor was David R. Fox of West Hurley, noted World War I aircraft devotee who has worked closely with Cole Palen in restoration and exhibition of the early craft.

In Vietnam, Borges has distinguished himself with heroism and gallantry in one of the most precarious arms of the war—that of the assault helicopter division.

He received the Distinguished Flying Cross for bravely evacuating wounded soldiers under fire with disregard of his own safety. According to the citation which accompanied the medal, "Warrant Officer Borges distinguished himself by heroism in action" June 20, 1967.

Details of Action

Details of the action were described as follows:

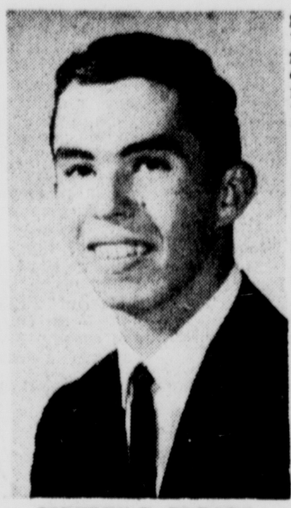

"While flying his support mission in the Nui Mieu mountains, Republic of Vietnam, Warrant Officer Borges received a call from a heavily engaged infantry company requesting the medical evacuation of several casualties, including the commanding officer. Realizing that the men were critically wounded and that there would be a delay before medical evacuation helicopters could get to the area he volunteered to undertake the mission . . ."

Which he did with "extraordinary heroism and gallantry."

His first month in the thick of Vietnam aerial combat earned him the Air Medal. He made more than 25 missions during that time and was lauded for "his outstanding degree of professionalism and devotion to duty" in the finest traditions of the service.

The Letter of Commendation was issued in July for Borges' vital service in the vicinity of Dak To.

The Infantry Commander, William J. Buchanan who sent the Letter of Commendation cited Borges for his "high degree of professional competence" while giving support to ground forces. His "wholehearted cooperation . . . was magnificent," contributing greatly to the success of the mission.

JEFFREY P. BORGES

Tradition in Family

Military devotion and competence are a tradition in the Borges family. His father is a veteran of 28 years Army service. He is still in active reserve with 854th Engineers Battalion at Staff Sgt. Dietz Reserve Center in Kingston and holds the rank of lieutenant colonel. The elder Borges served throughout World War II and was awarded three battle stars for Normandy Campaign, Battle of the Bulge and Asiatic-Pacific Theater.

Jeffrey's sisters are Valerie, a teacher in Red Hook Elementary School and Denise, a student in Saugerties Junior High School.

DINNER CALVES LIVER
The most important — both as regards its volume and excellence — of the internal of all mammals, but more particularly of the calf. Lamb's liver is rarely served as such, but is included in various garnishings; sheep's liver is of poor texture, but may be prepared for the table like calf's liver; ox's liver is coarse and a second rate substitute for calf's liver; pig's liver is used mostly in the making of stuffing and sausage meat. Fresh calf's liver is by far the best and it lends itself to a great number of culinary preparations.

Little Known Cancer Facts

Why does one woman go regularly for physical checkups while another goes only when ill?

In the field of health this tendency to be different is perhaps best seen in the attitude of the American public toward cancer, a dangerous killer that must be brought under control.

Cancer often gives very definite warning signals. They are: 1. unusual bleeding or discharge; 2. a lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere; 3. a sore that does not heal; 4. change in bowel or bladder habits; 5. hoarseness or cough; 6. indigestion or difficulty in swallowing; 7. change in a wart or mole.

In many cases, cancers can be cured when it is possible to remove or destroy all of the cancerous cells existing in a patient's body. This is accomplished either by surgery or radiation. Some forms of cancer can be treated by drugs. Early diagnosis, followed by speed of treatment, is the proper course for an individual to take to fight off the dread disease.

An American Cancer Society survey constantly brought out that women were more aware of cancer and its signals and the need for taking regular cancer checkups. And of these women, it was invariably the college educated and the upper middle income bracket groups that led the field.

PAP TEST EFFECTIVE

In the survey made concerning the famous Pap test, 67 percent of the women queried said they have had such a test, proof that this life-saving technique is gaining wide acceptance. The effectiveness of the Pap test can be seen from the decline of the death rate from uterine cancer over the past 25 years.

While there is widespread recognition that cancer plays no favorites and can strike anyone, people underestimate the likelihood of getting cancer and have little knowledge about how many people get cancer.

According to the American Cancer Society, cancer will strike about 25 percent of the population, or one person in every four, during their lifetimes.

People often fail to understand that cancer may be beginning even though the individual feels fine. Physical examinations including cancer tests can detect the disease early and thus it can be "stopped before it really gets started."

RECOVERY GOOD

On the matter of recovering from cancer, about half the population, an ACS probe showed, believed that if a person gets cancer he has a "fairly good" chance of recovery.

What's the attitude of the public towards cigarette smoking? Half the population of the U.S. continues to smoke cigarettes despite the warning notices on cigarette packs and medical reports of the Cancer Society and Federal government researchers. A tribute to the effectiveness of the campaign is notable, however, in the sharp drop in cigarette smoking among doctors. Only half as many MD's smoke today as compared with 10 years ago. It has been clearly established that most cancer of the lungs can be avoided simply by foregoing cigarette smoking.

CHECKUPS IMPORTANT

Why don't people go for checkups? Fear plays a part here. One person gave as a reason for not going that "the doctor might find something wrong. What you don't know, won't hurt you, is my motto."

The whole series, based on a nationwide survey undertaken by the American Cancer Society, points out that it is not eonugh just to remind people to go for cancer checkups. The duty of the ACS is to inject strong reasons into any campaign or programs being put together to urge people to have checkups. These are the first lines of defense against one of the nation's most murderous killers.

HOW MERCENARY CAN PEOPLE BE?

Dear Mrs. Post: For some time now we have been undecided about money gifts at a wedding. Please tell me what is the minimum amount. I was told that 20 dollars is the least we can give.—Mrs. J. Schaeffer.

Dear Mrs. Schaeffer: To set maximums or minimums on a sum given as a gift is against every principal of etiquette. The amount you spend should depend on your affection for the receiver, and the closeness of the tie between you. In some groups it is apparently accepted that one gives five or 10 or 20 dollars as a gift. If it is so in your area, you must go along with the custom or risk criticism, but to say "You must give thus-and-so" is all wrong.

Engaged Twice to the Same Man

Dear Mrs. Post: I broke my engagement recently, after having announced it a year before in several newspapers. Now I am engaged to the same young man again and I don't know what the proper etiquette is. I did not publish any notice about the breaking of our engagement. Should I write notes to close friends and relatives to explain or should I just send them invitations to the wedding?—Barbara

Dear Barbara: Since you published nothing about the breaking of your engagement, don't publicly announce your re-engagement. Write or call close friends and relatives who know of the break-up and tell them you are going to be married after all. Then send out wedding invitations and announcements to others in the usual way.

Tipping At A Motel

Dear Mrs Post: I always read your column and agree with you most of the time. However, twice lately you have said that it is not customary nor necessary to tip when staying at a motel. I wonder why. The maid has to vacuum the rug, clean the bathroom, change the beds, etc. We stayed in a motel recently where a card in the room reminded the occupant that the maid earned and expected a gratuity and not to forget it.—Clara C.

Dear Clara: One of the main reasons that motels have gained such tremendous popularity is that they have freed customers from the worry and expense of tipping. There are few people who expect to tip for a one night stop at a motel, and I do not think the management has any right to tell the customer what to do. If they feel their help is underpaid, they should raise the wages and stick to the no-tip custom I do maintain that a customer should tip for a longer stay or any special service.

Who do you tip? When, and how much? You will find the answers to these questions in Elizabeth L. Post's booklet "The Etiquette of Tipping." To get a copy, send twenty-five cents in coin to cover booklet and mailing expenses, to Elizabeth L. Post in care of this newspaper.

BRISK FALL WEATHER inspires many to take jaunts into the country to see leaves turn to red and gold. For such trips it would be wise to pack a first aid mini-kit in your gear bag. Such a kit is perfect for cuts and scrapes miniskirted hikers are prone to. They contain cream, plastic strips to cover scratches, gauze pads, adhesive tape and a supply of aspirins.

The Country Wife

By DOROTHY VAN DOREN

Two men I know recently made the tape for a television show that will be broadcast in December. In the studio with them were producers, assistant-producers, engineers, electricians, the wonderful man in the control room who watches versions on three screens and instantly decides which is the best, and I do not know how many other persons with some share in the event. It was a rather modest half-hour show and the two men who were to be televised were not world famous though they are by no means without repute. Since the broadcast would be in color, there were even more lights than usual, more powerful ones, more blinding. Probably more expert electricians, also.

The fee the two performers received for their half hour was not excessive, but it was exactly one tenth of what the show cost, the lights, the producers, the etceteras, and of course the overhead.

I thought this was really a triumph of man against technology. Think of the seesaw: on one end all the paraphenalia of a big TV studio; on the other two men, sitting quietly in chairs, talking to each other. No scenery, no props, no soft music, no beautiful girls, no performing dog. The human intellect versus the machine.

It is true that without the machine the voices of the two men could not be broadcast over the nation. But it is equally true that without the voices, the machinery would have nothing to do.

At first I was inclined to resent the disparity between the cost of the show itself and the fee paid the talkers. There are many shows which cost twenty times as much and a large part of it goes to the actors. On second thought I do not envy the highly paid performers. Performing acts — the song, the dance, the quip — cost money. The mind, the mind of man, is something else again, something without price. A man saying what is in his mind, saying it to another man, basing it on the experience of a lifetime, the books he has read, the people he has known, the sorrow and the joy that have come to him —all the technology of our famous technological age cannot create this. It can only reproduce it, with color and sound, after the mind has caused it to be audible.

It is worth remembering something like this when we get too worried about machines taking over and running our lives. In fact not a button would be pushed, not a connection would be made, not a wheel would turn without a hand and a brain behind it ordering it to do so. Man is still not only the maker but the director of the show.

I like to sew and often buy patterns and material long before I'm ready to use them.
To store my collection of projects, I bought a largt plastic trash can with a cover..
I wrap each length of material in a package, and include the pattern, and notions. Then I jects, I bought a large plastic mark the package "dress," "skirt," etc., and put them all in the can with a few moth balls for extra protection.
Now it's easy to select my next sewing project and storage is no problem.

The Well Child

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

Since writing, in answer to a nursing mother, that contraceptive pills would not be harmful to her or her baby I have received a communication from La Leche League International which states that these pills should not be taken by nursing mothers. The chief reason is that they dry up the mother's milk supply. The drug may also appear in the milk and cause enlargements of the infant's breasts. For these reasons other means of contraception should be used as long as the mother is nursing her baby.

Q—A neighbor boy, 8, is always hitting his 7-year-old sister very hard in the kidney region with his fists. The father says this is doing no harm. What do you think?

A—Heavy blows to the kidney region may cause blood to appear in the urine — not necessarily gross blood but blood that can be detected by a chemical test. Regardless of whether or not this boy is causing physical injury to his sister, he is developing an abnormal behavior pattern that will be hard to overcome unless it is checked promptly and completely. This type of behavior can hurt him psychologically and socially.

Q—My aunt says you don't think it proper for girls in high school to take showers together. What are your reasons?

A—I don't recall making such a statement and would be interested to know what reasons prompted someone else to make it. Boys take showers together without suffering any evil consequences, and in some highly civilized countries entire families bathe together without benefit of swim suits. It all depends on what you are used to.

Q—Our son was born with hypospadias. He has had several operations to corrcet it. What effect does this condition have on the child.

A—In this congenital defect in boys there is a failure of the urethral groove of the embryo to close. As a result the urethral opening may lie anywhere in the penis short of the normal location. The condition should be corrected in early childhood to prevent your son from developing a feeling of inferiority.

FRAN TARKENTON SAYS:

Fleaflicker Play Study in Madness

The fleaflicker (or double reverse-and-pass) that the Giants used to beat Pittsburgh 27-24 last Sunday may have seemed like a bit of madness.

But it was controlled madness based on a sound principle. The basis was to take advantage of the threat of Homer Jones's speed.

First, though, the situation. Less than two minutes remaining in the game. We were losing 24-20 and had the ball, first down on our 41. I handed the ball off to halfback Ernie Koy and stepped back. Then Homer tossed back to me and I threw downfield to Joe Morrison for the touchdown.

THIS WASN'T A DESPERATION play. It's something we've practiced every day for the last three weeks. We call it the Well Special for Wellington Mara, the Giants' president, who suggested it. There were times the last three weeks when I nearly called it in a game, but decided not to. It's got to be the right time and the right place.

Our fleaflicker is just an offshoot of the Homer Jones end-around, which has worked very well twice this season. The Steelers' coach, Bill Austin, called it a "high school play." Does it really matter, though, what play you use—as long as you have 27 points on the board and they have 24

ACTUALLY, EVERY TEAM in the league uses it sometime or other during the season. Detroit, for example, may use it several times a year.

I used it twice with the Vikings last year. Once it worked and once it did not. Against the Colts, I handed off to Bill Brown and dropped back. He went up to the line, then turned and tossed back to me. I completed a 60-yard pass to Bill Flatley.

The one that failed was about the wildest, helter-skelter fleaflicker imaginable. Later in the last quarter the Vikings trailed Green Bay. I think the score was 21-16. We had the ball around the 50.

We lined up strong to the right. I handed off to Phil King the left halfback. He ran to the right sideline. Meanwhile, I faked a bootleg to the left. King was supposed to lateral to me across the field. Then I was to throw deep to Red Phillips on the left.

But the Packers' Lionel Aldridge wasn't playing our game. He stayed with me while the rest of the Packer line chased King. So Phil ran back toward me. He got about two yards away and tossed me the ball.

"Here," he said, "you take the thing."

I got rid of it, throwing to Red Carpenter on the right side, who was the stopgap on the play. But Herb Adderly cut in nicely and intercepted the ball.

THAT PLAY TURNED OUT to be totally undisciplined. We had practiced the fleaflicker, but it just didn't turn out the way we had planned. The one against the Steelers did.

I don't think we'll use the fleaflicker again this season. It's a one-shot deal. The defenses would probably be ready for it.

But who knows. We may get Well to concoct a similar one for us."

Tempers Flare In NBA Contest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The shooting and passing still might be a little rusty, but some of the players' tempers appear to be in midseason form.

At least they were Thursday night in the National Basketball Association game between the San Francisco Warriors and Chicago Bulls, which was won by the visiting Warriors 116-106.

Several near fights marred the game and then, with two minutes left, the contest was disrupted by a torrid fist fight between the Warriors' Jim King and Guy Rodgers of the Bulls. Both were ejected.

The second-half shooting of Fred Hetzel and Rudy LaRusso brought the Warriors the victory. Hetzel and LaRusso each scored 10 points in the third quarter when San Francisco built up a commanding 12-point lead.

Hetzel finished with 29 points, LaRusso 24 and King 20. Jerry Sloan scored 26 and Bob Boozer 24 for Chicago.

St. Louis topped Los Angeles 100-95 in the only other NBA game, while New Orleans beat Houston 120-112 and Denver whipped Oakland 104-91 in the two scheduled American Basketball Association games.

Paul Silas broke an 89-89 tie with five straight points and sent St. Louis to its fourth victory in as many starts.

Dick Snyder scored 22 points and Joe Caldwell 19 for the Hawks. Elgin Baylor topped Los Angeles with 25.

Hulme Hopes to Win Auto Driving Title

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Denis Hulme of New Zealand hopes to win his first World Auto Driving Championship Sunday in the sixth annual Gran Prix of Mexico.

But Hulme, leading the International Formula One auto racing field this year with 47 points, could be jolted out by Australian teammate Jack Brabham, 42 points, if Brabham finishes first or second, which count for nine and six points, respectively.

Third place with only four points, would not be enough for Brabham to overtake Hulme even if Hulme didn't race.

Vol Reserve Tests Alabama

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bubba Wyche gets a chanc Saturday to be the Volunteer of the Year.

The 21-year-old junior from Atlanta didn't ask to be starting quarterback, but, because of injuries, that's what he'll be when the seventh-ranked Tennessee Volunteers meet No. 6 Alabama in the big game of the college football weekend.

To Wyche is given the burden of penetrating an Alabama defense, which is not as potent as in past seasons but has been good enough to help keep the Crimson Tide undefeated in four games.

Wyche did the job last Saturday when he replaced injured Charlie Fulton in the first quarter and guided the Vols to a 24-13 victory over Georgia Tech. Fulton, who started the season at tailback, moved to quarterback when the talented Dewey Warren injured a knee in the 27-13 victory over Auburn.

Warren will be in uniform and might see action, but Fulton will not play because of a broken rib.

All of the other Top Ten also see action Saturday.

No. 1 Southern California is at Washington, second-ranked Purdue is at home against Oregon State, UCLA is at Stanford, No. 4 Colorado is at Nebraska, Wake Forest plays at No. 5 North Carolina State at night, Virginia Military is at eight-ranked Georgia, No. 9 Houston is at Mississippi State and No. 10 Wyoming is at Wichita State.

Colorado, 4-0, figures to have the toughest time, although Southern California, 5-0, could get much more than token opposition from Washington, winner of four straight after an opening loss, in their Pacific-8 game.

The Colorado-Nebraska game is as important to the Big Eight race as the Tennessee-Alabama Conference clash is to the Southeastern Conference fight. Besides staying in the conference title battle, Nebraska will be out to make up for last week's 10-0 upset loss to Kansas.

CFMA at Kingston Highlights 14-Game Scholastic Slate

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Kingston High gridders return to their friendly Dietz Stadium confines for a non-league engagement Saturday against winless Cardinal Farley Military Academy.

The KHS-CFMA game heads a slate of 14 area scholastic contests. Featured are key tussles in the UCAL and DCSL as well as some interesting non-league games.

In the UCAL, league leading Rondout Valley hosts New Paltz, Onteora plays at Pine Bush, Marlboro goes to Wallkill and Highland is at Liberty.

Saugerties High has a DCSL contest at Wappingers Falls. In other action, Beacon is at Roosevelt, Arlington meets Our Lady of Lourdes. Red Hook has a Bi-Valley engagement at Haldane.

In addition to the Farley at Kingston affair, the non-league action finds Port Chester at Newburgh Free Academy, Mamaroneck at Middletown, Port Jervis at Warwick, Lakeland at Poughkeepsie and Pawling at Ellenville.

Edged by Lourdes

Kingston, which has dropped its first three games, meets a Farley club that carried the unbeaten Lourdes gridders to the last play before finally losing, 13-6, last Saturday.

Coach Bill Hurley said the locals didn't suffer any serious injuries in their 33-14 loss at Port Jervis and he is hopeful his inexperienced club can find the right combinations against the Cadets.

Farley has a senior club but has been hampered by lack of consistent quarterbacking. The Rhinecliff gridders attack from an I formation and use a flanker.

Hurley praised Marshall Byrd, his talented sophomore halfback. Byrd scampered 90 yards for a touchdown against Port and did a good job on defense.

"Our mistakes have been coming back to hurt us. If we can avoid most of these mistakes, we will win some games," the coach said.

Ganders Favored

Rondout Valley, held to a scoreless tie last week at Marlboro, should get back on the winning track against a defensive minded New Paltz eleven. The Huguenots don't give up many points but they score even less.

Gordie Taylor, stopped for the first time this season, is expected to resume his scoring against the cellar dwellers. Taylor has tallied 12 times in five starts.

Onteora, hoping for Rondout to stub its toe, is expected to encounter some trouble with an improved Pine Bush eleven. Marlboro, on the other hand, doesn't have much of a chore against Wallkill, possibly the weakest team in the circuit.

The big game in the UCAL is the Highland-Liberty match in Sullivan County. A loss by either team will finish its championship hopes.

Saugerties, which played its best game of the season in losing to Poughkeepsie, runs smack into another powerhouse at Wappingers Falls.

The Fallsmen have rebounded from their scoreless tie with Poughkeepsie to easily topple all opposition. For the second consecutive week, the Sawyers will be meeting a club that has yet to have its goal line crossed.

Lourdes will be gunning for its fifth in a row against deflated Arlington, which was upset last week by Roosevelt. The Presidents entertain Beacon, which is winless but still dangerous.

Pointing for Pawling

Red Hook should get by winless Haldane and come to its showdown battle next week with Pawling in a tie for first place in the Bi-Valley League.

Pawling, meanwhile, warms up for that game by taking on homestanding Ellenville. The Blue Devils are 2-2 but have had a decided weakness against a good passing team. Pawling likes to throw the ball.

Of the other DUSO teams playing non-league games, Newburgh has the most rugged assignment. Beaten last week by Middletown, the Goldbacks are home against Port Chester. The Westchester school has a 10-game victory string.

Middletown is favored over Mamaroneck and Poughkeepsie and Port Jervis rule favorites to topple Lakeland and Warwick.

Bloody But Unbowed, Hoople Is Back Again

By
MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
(Original Draw Back)

The Old Boy Himself

Egad, friends, never before in its long and successful history has the vaunted Hoople System suffered through such an agonizing weekend as the one just past.

From all four corners of the football world our forecast choices fell victim to a series of misfortunes—missed blocks, fumbles, interceptions, broken shoelaces, dropped passes—and other imponderables impossible to appraise in this computerized age—um-kumph!

Still Far Ahead

Despite the ill luck that befell many of our selections, we still finished with a respectable 14-11 record and the year's total of 58-27 still makes this learned observer far ahead of his so-called competitors. Harumph!

So, if I may borrow from the writings of my illustrious ancestor, William Ernest Hoople Henley:

"Under the bludgeonings of chance,
My head is bloody, but unbowed."

Now, putting the past behind us, we look forward to the challenges of the future—harrumph!

An exhaustive study of all pertinent data on the weekend opponents has resulted in some surprising conclusions.

First, let's take a peek at some of the area scholastic games.

Cardinal Farley Military Academy and Kingston High, both winless to date, will collide at Dietz Stadium. One of the clubs will be happy after the game. We favor the Cadets from Rhinecliff by a 14-13 margin. Harumph!

For those UCAL followers, we tab Onteora over Pine Bush, Rondout to topple New Paltz, Marlboro to get past Wallkill and Highland to shade Liberty.

Okay, gentle readers, Wappingers will wallop Saugerties, 20-0, and Pawling, a small school powerhouse in Dutchess County, will defeat Ellenville, 19-7.

Collegiate Surprises

On the collegiate level, I have three big surprises for you. Michigan will surprise Indiana, 29-20; Nebraska will win its Big Eight meeting with unbeaten Colorado, 19-10 and Tennessee will put the damper on Alabama, 23-15. (Editor's Note: Sounds like Hoople has been watching too many late, late movies.)

After the activity has ceased for the weekend, I will break bread with my learned assistants at Uncle George's. Rumors are that Harry Thayer, the ex-pro general manager, will treat us to some of those hot weiners. (Editor's note: Seeing is believing.)

Now, dear friends, on with the forecast.

Chance Earns Comeback Title

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP)—Dean Chance was one of the top pitchers in the American League in 1964, winning 20 games for the California Angels and posting a league-leading 1.65 ERA.

He slipped to a 15-10 won-lost record the next year, then had his worst season in the majors—12 won and 17 lost—in 1966. The Angels sent him to the Minnesota Twins as part of a four-player trade.

Chance bounced back this year for another big season, winning 20 games, including a no-hitter against the Cleveland Indians Aug. 25.

The achievement won him the selection as American League Comeback Player of the Year Thursday.

The 355 baseball writers and broadcasters taking part in the annual Associated Press poll gave Chance 156 votes to 59 for Bob Allison, also of the Twins, 38 for Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees, 26 for Carl Yastrzemski of the Boston Red Sox and 24 for Bill Freehan of the Detroit Tigers.

Allison had his best year since 1964, hitting 24 homers, driving in 75 runs and hitting .258. He was hampered by injuries last year and batted only .220 in 70 games with eight homers and 19 RBI.

The 36-year-old Mantle made a successful switch from outfield to first base and pounded out 22 home runs in 1967.

Penalize Kansas For Recruiting

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Big Eight Conference penalized Kansas Thursday for a football recruiting violation by reducing its football scholarships to 35 next year and reprimanding Coach Pepper Rodgers and his assistant, John Cooper.

Wayne Duke, Big Eight commissioner, said Cooper and "a representative of athletic interests," who wasn't named, signed three Atlanta high school prospects to interconference letters of intent last May 15, two days before the national signing date.

Duke said Rodgers wasn't involved in the signing but he and Cooper failed to cooperate in the initial phase of the investigation, conducted by the Kansas administration after Chancellor W. Clarke Wescoe received a complaint from the president of another Big Eight school.

SET RIDING RECORD

DENVER (AP) — Don Lewis, 29-year-old jockey from El Paso, Tex., rode 84 winners at Centennial Track last summer, breaking a record set 10 years ago at the track.

Pick Colts, Chargers in Top Contests

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Baltimore and San Diego should have little trouble maintaining their records as the only unbeaten major league pro football clubs in Sunday's action.

The tightest fits in the 12-game program appear to be the Philadelphia at St. Louis game in the National Football League and the Oakland at Boston battle in the American Football League.

Last week's picks hit the Giant score on the nose but many were off target for a 5-4-3 week and a combined season total of 40-14-5—NFL 27-10-3, AFL 13-4-2.

Let's try again. All games are Sunday.

NFL

Baltimore 31, Minnesota 14—Vikings finally broke into win column with upset of Packers but John Unitas and friends should ramble unless it rains or snows. Colts have won last five from Vikes and hold 10-2 edge in series. Minnesota pass defense tough.

Green Bay 24, New York 17—A lot tougher than it looked in preseason days when Packers romped 31-14 at Green Bay. If Bart Starr can play, he should lift Pack out of slump. Giants are confident of breaking 11-game losing streak to Packers, eight preseason, one regular season and two title games. Fran Tarkenton always gives Green Bay headaches. Outside chance of an upset.

St. Louis 26, Philadelphia 24—Both coming off tough losses. Those rumbles from Eagle camp cost them points in this corner. If Norm Snead can't read defenses, that Card bunch will give him a rough day. Cards get the passer and the Eagles can't protect Snead. Make it the Cards on a Jim Bakken field goal. Cards have won their last six meetings.

Los Angeles 31, Washington 21—Rams have made a believer out of this guy, especially this week against that Redskin defense. Sonny Jurgensen will work over Ram secondary in a wild game that could be closer than you think.

Dallas 24, Pittsburgh 20—This may be tough to do without Dandy Don Meredith and Steelers are seething after loss to Giants. Cowboys have too many weapons, plus a tremendous pass rush.

San Francisco 28, New Orleans 14—Forget the preseason win by Saints 24-10 at Portland Aug. 26. This is for keeps. John Brodie's passes and that big back attack will do the job while 49ers chase Saints' Gary Cuozzo to cover.

Cleveland 21, Chicago 14—This pick is a shaky one. Bears' defense is best against passes and Browns have scored 10 of 15 touchdown in air. Leroy Kelly vs. Gale Sayers on the ground could be a draw but Frank Ryan gets the nod over any and all Bear passers.

Detroit 21, Atlanta 14—Injury to Mel Farr tough blow to Lions who already had lost Nick Eddy. Return of Pat Studstill should help. Falcons should be fired up after tie with Redskins.

AFL

Kansas City 21, Houston 17—Chiefs won season opener 25-20 but Oilers picked off six Joe Namath passes last week in 28-28 tie with Jets. If Pete Beathard has learned Houston offense, he might upset his old mates but Len Dawson and Otis Taylor should be enough to save the day.

New York 30, Miami 14—A turkey shoot. Namath can call his shots against Dolphins' defense. New York won first meeting 29-7, Oct. 1.

San Diego 31, Denver 17—John Hadl impressive in Chargers' 45-31 win over Kansas City with speedy Les Duncan sparking the defense. Broncos coming off bye week should get improved effort from Steve Tensi.

Boston 24, Oakland 21—Oakland won 35-7 when they met earlier but Patriots have been rolling in recent weeks with Babe Parilli dealing a hot hand and Jim Nance enjoying three straight 100-yard plus days. Raiders ran agagainst Buffalo but will pass against Pats' weak secondary. A Gino Cappelletti field goal may win it.

Buffalo has the bye this week.

PORTLAND, Maine—Lloyd Marshall, 132, Newark, N.J., outpointed Ulysses Jiminez, 136, New York, 10.

Middie Booters Win, 2-0

Middletown's unbeaten soccer streak was in dire jeopardy for more than a half Thursday before the Middies defeated winless but improved Kingston High, 2-0, in a DUSO match at the winner's field.

Coach John Hunter's booters gave their best performance of the season as they outplayed the hosts during the first and second periods. The KHS team was forced to play without Dee Rauscher, out for the season because of a leg injury.

Middletown broke the scoring ice early in the third quarter with Chuck Smith and Giuseppi Bruni passing the ball back and forth the length of the field and past goalie Gary Schantz.

Midway through the final session, Al Caliccihio of the Middies beat Schantz from 25 yards out with a kick into the upper corner of the net.

The locals return home next week with a Monday DUSO game against winless Fallsburgh and a Thursday clash with Monticello. Both games will be held at Loughran Park, beginning at 4 p. m.

UCCC Runners Gain 7th Win

John Roettger captured individual honors and his Ulster Community College cross country teammates made it seven straight victories for the season by beating the State University (New Paltz) frosh and Post Junior College Thursday at New Paltz.

The locals finished with 19 points against 52 for the hosts and 63 for Post.

Roettger, the ex-Pine Bush track star, was timed in 17:33, ten seconds in front of teammate Joe Simmons.

Coach Dick Glazer's harriers have their toughest meet of the season slated Monday at Orange Community College. "We need this one to keep in the running for the Mid-Hudson Conference title and the boys have to do their best job of the year in order to win," Glazer said.

Worsley Stars For Canadiens

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Grumpy Gump Worsley, who lost his cool two nights ago, has recaptured his magic touch. . .and put the Toronto Maple Leafs in a deep freeze.

Worsley, Montreal's 38-year-old goaltender, breezed to the 30th shutout of his National Hockey League career Thursday night as the Canadiens blanked Toronto 1-0 on Yvan Cournoyer's fifth goal in five games.

It was a brilliant turnabout for the chubby goalie, who squandered a third-period lead Wednesday night at New York ...and then blew his top in the closing minutes of a 2-2 standoff against the Rangers.

After New York's tying goal, Worsley, a former Ranger, answered a fusilade of debris from the stands with a series of menacing gestures, then tangled with several fans.

He controlled his emotions. . .and the Maple Leafs. . .in Thursday night's game at the Montreal Forum, brushing aside 15 shots as the Canadiens held a share of first place in the NHL's Eastern Division.

Elsewhere, the amazing Boston Bruins kept pace with Montreal by drubbing Detroit 6-3 and the Philadelphia Flyers nipped Pittsburgh 1-0 behind rookie goalie Doug Favell.

THE BIG GAME

by MURRAY OLDERMAN

NFL: GREEN BAY AT NEW YORK

Fancy the Giants in any "big" game. But they are tied for their divisional lead, and they do show a noticeable gift for moving the football, while the Packers have been rather inept offensively. When he was a Viking, Fran Tarkenton always bothered the Packers with his skittery scrambling. He'll keep them on edge again. But that Giant defense is an invitation for Green Bay to get moving finally—especially if they regain Bart Starr.

AFL: HOUSTON AT KANSAS CITY

Suddenly, the Chiefs aren't the big, bad terrors of the AFL any longer. Matter of fact, they're fighting to stay alive in the West, while the Oilers are coming on as a young, eager team with hustling defense. And this will be Pete Beathard's beautiful opportunity to show his old K.C. mates his quarterbacking talents shouldn't have been kept on the shelf. Nevertheless—

The day everyone has been waiting for is finally here! Tomorrow morning beginning at 9:00 a. m. you'll see and hear your friends and neighbors perform on Ulster County's Second and biggest Annual Radio/Videothon, with all proceeds going to our Ulster County Commmunty Chest. Participating organizations will again compete with each other to see which can raise the most money for Chest, with prizes being awarded to the winning organizations. You can support the talent of your choice by pledging over the phone (338-0510 or New Paltz Enterprise 2028) your contribution to this final appeal of the 1967 Chest Campaign.

This year, in addition to your friends and neighbors taking over the normal broadcast functions traditionally reserved to the professionals, we will have some outstanding celebrities who will also be appearing. Senator Robert F. Kennedy, Senator Jacob K. Javits, Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick, Garry Moore, Peg Leg Bates, Joe Frazier (heavyweight boxing championship contender,) Bob Richards and Miss New York of 1966 (Penny Donoghue) are just a few scheduled to participate.

Another highlight: The radio personalities you have listened to over WBAZ, WKNY and WGHQ AM/FM will also be here to MC the program. See and hear Harry Thayer, Tony Bell, Bill Skilling and Jim Thompson of WGHQ; Jim Tyrell, John Allen and Joe Shuler of WKNY and Len Cane of WBAZ.

It promises to be quite an occasion at the George Washington School on Wall Street where, for the first time, a live audience can be accommodated (small donation will be requested). And like last year, interest is spreading outside Ulster County as evidenced by the New York Times which again plans to cover the event. (LIFE magazine also a possibility). So, plan to tune in to either radio or Cablevision (Channel 5) for a fabulous show. And participate personally by pledging whatever you can to this all important final Community Chest appeal.

U. S. Population to Reach 200 Million on Nov. 20

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 11 a.m. Nov. 20, the United States will reach a milestone achieved only by three other nations in history—a population of 200 million.

That's the time pinpointed by the Census Bureau, which is already arranging a round of ceremonies one official said will include a "few breathtaking moments" while its automatic population counter clicks to 200 million.

Only China, India and the Soviet Union have populations exceeding 200 million.

It took the United States until 1915 to reach its first 100 million; 52 years to reach its second 100 million, but the third 100 million could come in 35 years, even by 1990 under one bullish projection.

When the first census was taken in 1790, the bureau counted 3,929,214 persons, all on the Eastern Seaboard. Since then, Americans have taken the advice of Horace Greeley and moved westward.

The center of population in 1790 was 23 miles east of Baltimore while now it's less than 50 miles east of St. Louis and the westward movement is continuing.

In a report issued earlier this month, the bureau said the West's share of the nation's population will increase to 19.4 per cent in 1985 compared with 16.5 per cent in 1965, at the expense of the Northeast and North Central states.

Population in the South is expected to remain at roughly its present percentage of just over 31 per cent.

Negroes will comprise about 11 per cent of the 200 million Americans, including servicemen overseas. But this is far below the 20.3 per cent nonwhite population counted in the 1790 census.

Since the 1960 census, when 179,323,175 Americans were counted, California has replaced New York as the most populous state and Los Angeles has overtaken Chicago as the second largest metropolitan area. New York City is in front by far.

The 200 million ceremony will be held in the lobby of the Commerce Department where the census clock—a Washington tourist attraction— clicks off a new American every 13½ seconds based on births, deaths and migrations.

The clock hit 199,833,565 at closing time Thursday.

Dear Abby

Your Personal Morals...

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Recently you had a letter in your column from a woman signed "Californian," who stated that she and her 30-year-old son had shared a twin-bedded motel room to save expenses while traveling cross-country. She said when she casually mentioned this fact to some of her friends, their eyebrows shot up at the "indency" of such a sleeping arrangement.

Well, if I had been Californian, I would have said, "Look, my son has seen my navel before—and from the INSIDE yet.

Sincerely your, FLORIDIAN

* * *

DEAR ABBY: After reading your letter from the woman who signed herself, "Californian," and your answer that she should not concern herself with what others think, believe me, MY eyebrows shot up, too.

My son is 30, and we wouln't think of sharing a room. She claims she did it to save expenses. There must be cheaper accommodations.

I wonder if your answer would have been the same if it had been a father and his daughter? Or perhaps a brother and sister, both grown, but close in age?

And why did the mother casually mention such a matter to her friends? Would she have mentioned that she and her husband had shared a room? Probably not, because that would have been socially acceptable behavior.

I may be stupid to see anything indecent about this, but I think Mamma was looking for approval because she knew it wasn't the thing to do.

Usually, you are right on the ball. But no one can be right all the time. I think that woman should at least be told to keep such information to herself.

SURPRISED AT YOU

* * *

DEAR ABBY: You were too mild in your reply to Californian. You should have asked her how she felt about families who go on camping trips together. Would she consider it indecent for all of them to sleep in the same tent? Or should they have separate tents?

DISGUSTED

DEAR ABBY: To the Californian who shared a room with her 30-year-old son: I am a grandmother of a 27-year-old boy and when we on trips, we always share the same room. His mother and I think nothing of crawling into bed with him in the mornings for chit chat.

We've had eyebrows raised, too, but we just put it down to nasty-mindedness. There is no harm in it. To a mother he is still a small boy

* * *

HIS GRANNY

DEAR ABBY: What amazed me most about Californian's letter was that her 30-year-old son apparently had no objections to sharing a room with his mother. I would have been revolted!

He surely showed a lack of manliness. Furthermore, I am surprised that the motel proprietor would have permitted such an arrangement.

It's In The Stars—

("The wise man controls his destiny . . . astrology points the way.")

Forecast for Saturday, October 21, 1967

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): Don't expect associates to understand every subtle nuance. Some have already made concession—they require additional time. Be independent without appearing arrogant.

TAURUS (Apr.-May 20): Good news received as far as creative endeavors, romance are concerned. You are given chance for greater self-expression. Display talents, special abilities.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Cycle continues high. You are able to display unique abilities. Come out of shell. Speak up. Many are willing to listen. Some will act directly on your suggestions.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Some of your desires are smothered by a kind of false modesty. Be frank. State needs. You are apt to get what you request. Choose the best. Don't hesitate to demand your rights.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Day features change, travel, variety. You go places and spend money. Remember recent resolutions concerning extravagance. Don't give in to mere whims. Make actions meaningful.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Seek adjustments at home. Utilize tact, diplomacy. You can clear up recent misunderstanding through logic, reason. Accent today on getting things accomplished. Do so.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Key is to be perceptive. Don't believe everything you hear today. Some are sincere but apt to be misinformed. Do your own investigating. Take nothing for granted.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You receive aid from friends. But basic tasks depend upon personal efforts. You can't shirk duties. Pleasure received from job well done. Realize this and act acordingly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): What appears as opposition is actually a healthy warning, challenge. You have been yourself in recent days. Now you get a chance to "catch up." Be a very good listener.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Obtain new ideas. Take fresh look at significant persons, situations. You can learn and profit today. Accent individuality. Stress independence, originality. Get going.

The greatest advantage the Italians have is that the team represents three developed partnerships who play together all the time. But this year's American team also consisted of three good partnerships. Unlike the Italians who play together all the time, our pairs play together in two or three tournaments a year and maybe in occasional practice sessions.

This lack of complete partnership understanding shows up in competitive situations.

When Italy held the North and South cards they reached four hearts with little interference. Four hearts made easily since all the defense could get were two club tricks and an overruff of dummy's jack with East's queen of trumps.

The bidding in the box shows how Garozzo and Forquet jockeyed our pair one trick above game. The three club jump was preemptive in nature and our North player decided to do a little preempting on his own and jumped to four hearts over it. He wanted to get Forquet to five clubs and Forquet obliged.

Our South player did not realize that his partner was trying to get their opponents to five clubs. He looked at his tremendous additional values and went on to five hearts. The defense took the same tricks and we lost 720 points or 12 International Match Points.

We can't tell what would have happened to five clubs doubled. It is down three tricks off the top and any reasonable defense will take it for four tricks. Since East and West were not vulnerable a four-trick penalty would be 700 points and instead of gaining 12 IMPs Italy would have lost two IMPs.

You'll Get to Know Anne

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The public will be seeing a lot of Anne Baxter, the film star and 1946 Oscar winner, during the next couple of weeks.

Grueling Pace

She will be one of the stars of an NBC "world premiere" show on Oct. 31, one of those made-for-TV film features called "Stranger on the Run." In order to publicize the show, Miss Baxter was persuaded to take on a two-week assignment that is one of the grueling penalties of acting success and is called a "P.A. tour." That means a personal appearance tour and when it is over and Miss Baxter is back home in Hollywood, she will be a tired woman.

The film studio that turns out the NBC feature movies arranged Miss Baxter's journey and set up her schedule. The most time was spent making a week's supply of a syndicated, taped day-time variety show in Philadelphia. It will appear on the TV screens next week. She also spent some time in Cleveland and Chicago. Stars on tour are invariably routed to what are called "big Nielsen" areas, places where there are large TV audiences as well as TV and radio stations for local appearances and newspapers for interviews.

Miss Baxter reached New York City—a great spot because of the size of the population and the multiplicity of the communications media—and started her first working day at 5 a.m.

That meant getting her hair done, submitting to an assortment of interviews and appearing on a number of TV an dradio shows. When she concluded the day with an appearance on the Johnny Carson program, she had been on the go for 18 hours and, she admitted later, "I'd just about had it."

Miss Baxter has a light touch with the sales pitch and a useful assortment of opinions and anecdotes with which to fill in the spaces around publicity material.

Recommended weekend viewing: Sunday—"Johnny Belinda," ABC, 9-11 p.m. EDT, Mia Farrow plays the deaf mute in an adaptation of the film.

He—Do you believe in platonic love?

She—Well, I wouldn't mind trying it as a starter.

Policeman—Can you accurately describe your missing cashier?

Banker—He is about 5 feet 5 inches tall and $7,000 short.

NO TWO PEOPLE ARE ALIKE, AND BOTH OF THEM ARE GLAD OF IT.

Golf Widow—You think so much of your old golf game that you don't even remember when we were married.

Bug — Of course I do, my dear; it was the day I sank that thirty-foot putt.

The most pathetic citizen today is the man who wants to live in the country and has moved four times in the last four years, but each time the city annexed his area!

Son (entering office)— Well, dad, I just ran up to say hullo.

Dad — Too late, my boy. Your mother ran up to say hullo, and got all my change.

THE WORLD IS FULL OF WONDERS, BUT NOTHING IS MORE WONDERFUL THAN MAN.—

Amy—I'm going to marry a patrolman.

Ann—How thrilling! What's his name?

Amy — I don't know his name, but I've got his number.

Exercise is possible in many ways: Jumping at conclusions, sidestepping responsibility, running down the neighbors, beating out payday, chinning at the bar, wrestling with conscience, and pushing luck.

Frosh—Am I the only man you have ever kissed?

Deb—Yes, and by far the best looking.

Doctor to overweight man—I've done all I can to get your weight down. I suggest you just learn to be jolly.

Weather Curtails North Raids, 64 Reds Killed in Skirmishes

SAIGON (AP) — Typhoon Carla ran out of steam today but its backlash of winds and rain apparently curtailed the U.S. air war against North Vietnam for the second day in a row.

Carla's center winds over the Gulf of Tonkin dwindled to a piffling 29 miles an hour, but the storm washed out all strikes Thursday by U.S. Navy planes from the three carriers in the gulf.

77 Attack Missions

All air strikes Thursday were flown by Air Force and Marine fighter-bombers from Thailand or South Vietnam. They managed 77 attack missions, including an attack on a railroad bridge 70 miles northwest of Hanoi and infiltration routes and transport facilities in the southern half of North Vietnam.

Reports on Friday's operations over the north will not be available until Saturday, but military spokesmen indicated the storm still was cutting into naval air operations.

In the ground war in South Vietnam, the U.S. Command reported that South Vietnamese civilian irregulars led by U.S. Special Forces troops killed 64 Communists two days ago in three scattered actions.

There were no American casualties, headquarters said, and South Vietnamese casualties were light.

The U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division's 3rd Brigade reported killing another 25 Communist troops while suffering no casualties in a series of small skirmishes in the coastal lowlands 370 miles northeast of Saigon.

High-flying B52 bombers continued their harassment of the 35,000 to 40,000 Communist troops reported by U.S. intelligence to be operating in and around the demilitarized zone. The eight-engine Stratoforts struck twice in the DMZ Friday morning, unloading 300,000 pounds of bombs on suspected staging and bivouac areas and gun positions two and four miles northeast of the U.S. Marine outpost at Con Thien.

Naval Guns Active

U.S. Navy cruisers and destroyers also hammered away with their big guns at Communist installations in the southern part of North Vietnam.

The Navy said one cruiser shelled the Hon Me island radar warning site 32 miles southeast of Thanh Hoa and set off a secondary explosion.

Other 7th Fleet destroyers and Air Force and Marine fighter-bombers joined in the American campaign to prevent another Communist artillery siege of Con Thien like the one last month. Marine outposts along the frontier reported receiving only 22 rounds of mortar and artillery fire Thursday with only two Marines wounded.

Air Force pilots reported destroying or damaging 17 military structures and touching off nine fires in two raids just north of the DMZ. Marine pilots raked artillery positions just north of the zone and reported one secondary explosion.

A military spokesman said there was a possibility of a break in the weather by Sunday, but forecasters predicted another typhoon may hit the Tonkin Gulf area by next Thursday. Carla gave a taste of the northeast monsoon rains now about to envelop North Vietnam for six months. They will force U.S. airmen to scale down their northern operations.

Change MIG Toll

U.S. headquarters announced that four MIG jets previously listed as probably shot down by American pilots have been reclassified as confirmed kills. But although the previous total had been 86 MIGs downed, the headquarters said this was incorrect and the revised total is only 89.

A spokesman said three of the MIG probables were downed last April and one in August. He said they have now been classified as kills after extensive study of pilot reports, aerial forces have reported the loss of 26 American planes to MIGs.

Meridian Jury Convicts Seven

Meridian, Miss (AP)—Seven Mississippians were convicted and eight others acquitted by an all-white federal court jury stemming from the 1964 backwoods slaying of three young civil rights workers.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge Harold Cox declared a mistrial in the cases of three of the 18 on trial.

The jury of seven women and five men, which deliberated for more than 14 hours and at one point declared itself "hopelessly deadlocked," convicted Neshoba County Deputy Sheriff Cecil R. Price, 29, and Sam Holloway Bowers Jr., 42, identified by the FBI as the imperial wizard of the White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

Others convicted were Alton Wayne Robers, 28; Jimmy Arledge, 29; Billy Wayne Posey, 30; Jimmy Snodown, 33,; and Horace Doyle Barnett, 31.

The jury found Neshoba County Sheriff Lawrence A. Rainey, 44, innocent along with Olen L. Burrage; Herman Tucker; Travis Mayrn Barnette, 31; James T. Harris; Frank J. Herndon; Bernard L. Akin, and Richard A. Willis.

The judge declared mistrials in the cases of Edgar Ray Killen, Jerry McGrew Sharpe and Ethel G. "Hop" Barnette, the Democratic nominee for sheriff in Neshoba County.

Judge Cox ordered Price and Roberts taken into custody immediately and held without bond. He accused the two of "loose talk" after he delivered a new charge Thursday when the jury told him it could not reach a verdict.

"If you think you can intimidate this court you are sadly mistaken," Cox said to Roberts. "I'm not going to let any wild man loose on a civilized society."

The judge accused Roberts of saying, "He gave the jury the dynamite charge. Well, we've got the dynamite for him ourselves."

Judge said the statement was made in the hallway of the Meridian Post Office Building where the courtroom is located.

"We're not going to have any anarchy while I'm sitting down here,' 'Cox added. "There is'nt anybody on earth who can frighten this court. Its unthinkable that he (Roberts) made those remarks. Nobody else need be afraid of his bluster."

Bus Fare Hike In Kingston Is Requested

Kingston's Urban Transit Corporation today declared that an application to raise the city bus fare has been filed with the New York State Public Service Commission.

Approval of the application by the commission is pending, the transit corporation said. Officials said the matter will come before the commission during its next meeting, but workers added, "We have no idea when the next meeting will be held."

The application requests increasing one-way tariffs in the City from 20 cents to 25 cents, and increasing one-way adult fares on its Albany Avenue Extension route from 35 cents to 40 cents. Children fares would be increased on the latter route to 30 cents.

The proposed new tariffs would become effective Nov. 19 if approved, the transit corporation revealed.

A transit spokesman said the increased monies would cover the mounting costs of operation and overhead.

Transit hikes throughout New York's major cities have been a fairly common practice within the last two years. Since 1965, New York City has been embroiled in transit fare increases.

County Will Plant Trees In Kingston

Ulster County will participate in the program of the Historic Landmarks Preservation Commission of the City Beautification Committee through the planting of trees about county-owned property in the uptown section of the city.

The sum of $630 has been made available by the board of supervisors for the purchase of 17 trees which will be planted under the supervision of the Commission along the curb of Crown Street, around the new County Office Building and in front of the court house.

Authorization to participate in the beautification program was granted under a resolution offered by former chairman of the board of supervisors Charles Relyea, Hurley Republican.

Compressed air power was first utilized in the 19th century for such things as pneumatic tubes and air brakes.

Middle School Of RV Topic For Firemen

The basic tenets of the Rondout Valley Middle School philosophy were discussed at a recent meeting of the High Falls Fire Company.

Middle School principal Philip Buonfiglio presented the talk and gave a slide presentation showing building progress during the past six months. Printed floor plans of the new school were distributed.

During a question and answer period, Buonfiglio elicited from his audience, preferences, desires and thoughts on such matters as grading, reporting, athletics, intramurals, social events and the teaching of sex education in the schools.

High Falls Fire Company meetings are held every second Tuesday and are open to the public.

Youths Accused Of Thefts at Big Scot Store

Accused of shoplifting merchandise at the Big Scot Department store, Route 28, Thursday afternoon two youths identified as students at Bard College, Annandale-on-Hudson, were arrested on charges of petit larceny.

Officer Herbert O'Brien, of the R. B. Security Unit, on duty at the store made the arrests shortly after 3:35 p. m. He said he filed the charges against Michael Joseph Leibovic, 18, and Robert Harry Warren, 17. O'Brien said Leibovic allegedly stole a camera valued at $79.77 and Warren was accused of taking assorted merchandise valued at $27.28.

The two youths later pleaded guilty before Justice of the Peace Arthur A. Reilly, Town of Ulster. Each defendant was fined $100 and given a 30-day suspended jail sentence. In lieu of payment of the fine, Leibovic and Warren were committed to the county jail.

Assisting in the arrests were State Troopers Craig W. Bremer and Thomas J. Crowley of the Kingston sub-station.

Students Do Part for Kaper Show

Posters advertising the Kiwanis Kapers for Oct. 31, Nov. 1 and 2, are now on display in the lobby of the Ulster County Savings Bank at 280 Wall Street.

The posters are the work of the art students in the city school system and are displayed in a competitive manner with the public asked to vote for the best poster.

The display is exceptionally colorful with the designs including the most modern to the ultra conservative type of poster.

Uniform Tale

CHICAGO (AP) — A man who has been arrested five times for impersonating various uniformed personnel explained in his last court appearance that he has a tremendous yearning to wear a uniform. Judge James B. Parsons has granted his wish. For the next year, without charge, he will be wearing a distinctive prison uniform.

Three Injured, Driver Cited in 209 Crashes

Three persons were injured and one motorist was cited for failure to keep to the right, as the result of motor vehicle accidents on Route 209, according to Ellenville State Police.

Troopers reported Kevin O'Brien, 22, of Troy, was driving along the highway when his vehicle crossed the road and hit a bridge abutment. O'Brien was taken to Ellenville Community Hospital and treated for facial lacerations. He was cited for failure to keep to the right. The mishap occurred at 3.20 a.m.

Albert Bradford, 43, of RD 1, Kerhonkson, was driving his car north on Route 209 near the Ellenville Bowl-o-mat at 9:05 p. m. yesterday, when his car was in collision with the rear of a vehicle operated by James Kile, 18, of Ulster Heights Road, Woodburne. Troopers said Kile's car was stopped because of mechanical failure.

Bradford and Elizabeth Bradford, 50, were taken to the Ellenville hospital and treated for abrasions and contusions, according to investigating troopers.

$200,673 Is Allocated For UR Rehabilitation

Department of Housing and Urban Development has approved a loan for $200,673 for the purchase and rehabilitation of 15 low rent units in Kingston.

The announcement came from Senator Robert F. Kennedy and noted that all contracts will be awarded by the Kingston Housing Authority.

The rehabilitation will take place in the Seventh and parts of the Eighth Ward, Broadway West.

Alexander Yosman, executive director of Kingston Housing Authority said today he was pleased to hear the news but that his office had not been officially notified, as yet, by the federal government.

The application by the housing authority was filed April 6 of this year and approved by the Common Council at its May 2nd meeting. The delay in approval was attributed to the lack of a workable program in Kingston which was approved Oct. 10.

No estimate on completion of the 15 units for rehabilitation was given by the housing authority since the buildings will be purchased as they become available from private owners.

The dwellings will be used as a relocation resource by the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency which had 84 families on its relocations lists at the end of September.

All persons applying for residence in the 15 units, when completed, will have to meet Kingston Housing Authority requirements.

The urban renewal agency has a rehabilitation program

Retirement Goes Back to Council

Mayor's Veto Rapped

BY HUGH REYNOLDS

The Common Council, which passed the 25-year retirement plan for city police and firemen, will now be faced with the decision to override Mayor Garraghan's veto of that measure.

The Council passed the measure at its Oct. 3 meeting, 12-0. The other alderman, William G. Davis L-13th Ward), was in California on vacation at the time of the October meeting.

Wednesday, the day after the Council meeting, Garraghan said he would veto the measure, claiming the aldermen had no right to pass the retirement plan since they had no idea of what it would cost.

Fight Vowed

The next day, representatives of policemen and firemen in the city vowed to fight for the plan in a front-page Freeman article. The fire fighters and cops estimated the total cost of the 25-year retirement plan at $14,000.

In the meantime, City Treasurer Orrie R. Riehl was instructed by the mayor to write to Albany to find out what the actual cost of the 25-year retirement plan would be.

Oct. 6, Mayor Garraghan vetoed the 25-year retirement plan for reasons of lack of information on the cost of the plan. Information on the cost of the plan, indicating about a $15,000 tab, arrived from Albany on Monday, Oct. 9.

Garraghan then informed the public, in a Freeman article of Oct. 10 that he was reconsidering his former decision to veto the 25-year retirement plan. Little was heard on the issue after that.

Reaction Mixed

Reaction of the veto today was mixed. A spokesman for Uniformed Fire Fighters Local 461 said his unit had no comment to make on the veto but had been aware of the veto on the 10th.

John Machione (R-12th Ward) said he was "shocked" at the mayor's veto. Machione said he was "led to believe by the majority (Democrats) that the mayor would approve the plan."

"Is seems peculiar that the mayor, who is head of the police board and a member of the fire board, would veto a measure to benefit both those departments."

Machione also repeated his suggestion that members of the board of public works should share in all benefits that are approved for other city employes.

Bechtold Blast

Republican Mayoral candidate C. John Bechtold said the mayor's veto of the 25-year plan is typical of the Garraghan double-talk we've been subjected to in the past two years."

"For the past few months he (Garraghan) has been stressing the importance of the city arriving at a program to induce qualified young men to join the police and fire departments," Bechtold said. "Almost in the same breath he discards a plan that would have acted as a strong inducement for these men to join our police and fire departments which are now suffering from a severe lack of applicants."

Bechtold continued, "Garraghan's handling of the retirement plan is only too typical of the manner in which he operated. Any big lie to cover the situation of the moment is used."

"I, for one cannot understand why he vetoed the plan at all. Surely he had a strong mandate from the Common Council. Garraghan criticized the council for passing a measure when he says they had no idea of what it would cost but then he turns around and vetoes a measure before cost figures were in."

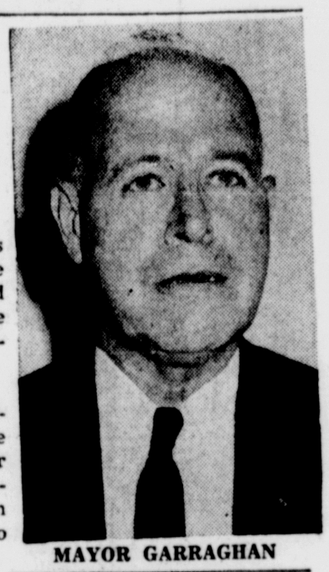

No Comment From Mayor

"His statement of Oct. 10 whereby he said he was reconsidering his decision to veto the retirement plan was nothing more than deliberate misleading of the public. How could he reconsider his decision when he had, in fact, vetoed the measure on the 6th? Perhaps he intended to "unveto" the retirement plan," Bechtold concluded.

Garraghan was not available for comment as his office reported he was out of town today.

Alderman - at - Large Francis R. Koenig, contacted by The Freeman this morning said the council would probably not meet in special session on the 25-year retirement plan veto. Rather, he expected the council to act on the measure at its Nov. 13 meeting.

In order to override the mayor's veto it would take at least 10 votes by the 13 aldermen. A ¾ margin is required to override a mayor's veto.

Pentagon Braces for Marchers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An antiwar rally at Brooklyn College erupted Thursday in a bloody clash between demonstrators and police after more than 40 of the protesting students and two faculty members were arrested.

In Oakland, California, police braced today against a threatened resumption of demonstrations at the Oakland Armed Forces Induction Center at the end of a sometimes violent "Stop the Draft Week."

Reluctant Vote

University of Wisconsin faculty members meanwhile gave a reluctant vote of confidence to Chancellor William Sewell who initiated a get tough policy with unruly student demonstrators on the Madison campus.

Defense officials in Washington airlifted troops from as far away as California to counter a threat by antiwar demonstrators to ignore government restrictions and employ "acts of civil disobedience" in laying siege to the Pentagon.

The military policemen debarked Thursday from 15 to 20 Air Force transport planes were the vanguard of what could grow to 5,000 regulars to handle the 70,000 demonstrators sponsors hope to muster for the weekend demonstration.

Leaders of the National Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam accepted a permit specifying ground rules Thursday but a spokesman said the group intends "to engage in acts of civil disobedience" which could go beyond the scope of the permit.

A demonstration in support of the war is planned in New York City this weekend by the National Committee for Responsible Patriotism. A two-day vigil will be held in Battery Park and five parades will step off in the greater metropolitan area on Sunday.

Participating groups will include veterans organizations, union, fraternal orders and "anyone who wants to march or show any spirit for his country," said Charles H. Wiley, executive director of the committee.

Another thrust against the antiwar movement occurred Thursday in San Marcos, Tex., where students at Southwest Texas State College, President Johnson's alma mater, burned antiwar literature spread on the campus by demonstrators from the University of Texas at Austin.

The Brooklyn college battle began with a sit-in to protest the presence of a Navy recruiting team in a student activities building. Several hundred students turned on police after the arrests.

One policeman was injured in the melee and dozens of students suffered cuts, bruises and torn clothing when a flying wedge of officers fought its way into a student crowd that blocked a roadway.

Wisconsin Chancellor Sewell won the vote of confidence after nearly five hours of heated debate. The professors voted 681-378 in the wake of Wednesday's bloody antiwar campus demonstrations.

The students skirmished with police over on-campus recruiting by the Dow Chemical Co., which makes napalm for the Vietnam war.

Tempo Is the Name

One month ago today The Freeman undertook the renovation of its weekly magazine section. The Saturday supplement, which had previously featured television scheduling and news of that media only, was completely revamped; given a new format spotlighting the arts and culture from a local slant.

The experiment appears successful and plans called for the future growth and enlargement of the section. The Saturday tabloid, long known as Showtime, will undergo still another change with this week's issue, to keep pace with the timeliness of the project, The Freeman magazine will boast a new masthead and cover tomorrow. Showtime has become TEMPO, a name change we feel captures the pace of modern living and the spirit and aims of the magazine.

With the new name will come a new cover each week—a cover featuring a full-page photograph of some personality or event aligned with the arts in this area. At other times, the cover may highlight the scenic beauty of this communities' landscape or a human interest snapshot taken on the scene.

Behind the new cover each week, TEMPO will continue to bring readers historical features, profiles, interviews, tidbits from television, signs of the life of the times in the Mid-Hudson Valley, theater and movie reviews and a wealth of other material.

Look for the newer, brighter TEMPO this week and every week and keep in step with Ulster and Dutchess Counties as they move forward in the arts.

Oscar A. Goodsell Succumbs, Served Under Three Mayors

Former city offical, Oscar A. Goodsell of 43 Crane Street, died Thursday morning at St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, after a short illness.

A former treasurer of the City of Kingston, Mr. Goodsell served during the administrations of Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk and Mayor Frederick H. Stang. During Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman's administration he was associated with the city engineer's office.

Prior to his city affiliation, Mr. Goodsell operated the H. R. Goodsell Company, brick mold manufacturers, for 20 years.

Mr. Goodsell was an elder and former president of the board of trustees of Rondout Presbyterian Church.

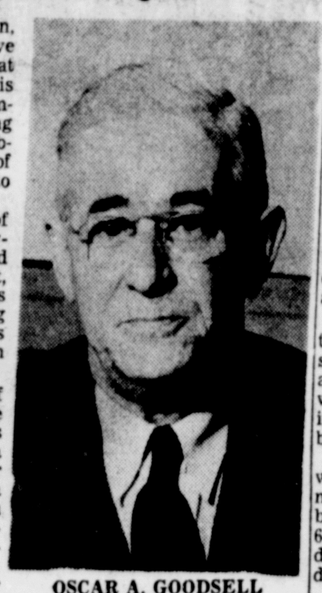

A lifelong resident of the Ponckhockie section of the city, Mr. Goodsell served as Republican committeeman in the Fifth Ward for many years.

Judge John B. Sterley, Ulster County Republican chairman, said this morning, "I have known Oscar Goodsell a great many years. I consider his death a great loss to the community. He was a good living man who rendered valuable public service to the City of Kingston. We can ill afford to lose people of his caliber."

Commenting on the death of Mr. Goodsell, Postmaster Newkirk, who as mayor appointed him to the city treasurer post, said "the City of Kingston has lost an upright and outstanding citizen—an individual who was always vitally interested in community affairs."

Mr. Goodsell was the son of the late Harmon and Katherine Addis Goodsell. Mr. Goodsell is survived by his wife, Arletta Walker Goodsell; a son, Roger Goodsell of Tyler, Texas; a daughter, Shirley, wife of John Norton of Newburgh; a brother, Charles D. DeGaulle Theory Of JFK Death

PARIS (AP) — Silence and skepticism were the main reactions today to a French journalist's book reporting that President Charles de Gaulle believes police were involved in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy and the slaying of Lee Harvey Oswald.

De Gaulle's office refused to comment on the report by Raymond Tournoux that the French president said of the assassination: "The police did the job, or else they pulled the strings or else they let it happen. In any case they were involved."

Police Chief Charles Batchelor of Dallas said: "We are standing on the reports of the investigation by the Warren Commission and will have no comment on the statements attributed to General de Gaulle."

The White House also refused comment. Asked if De Gaulle had ever told the U.S. government he had such a view of the assassination, White House press secretary George Christian replied: "I never heard of it at all until this moment."

Some Taunts, Praise For Marchers Here

The feeling, in many quarters, that only the very young people are against war in Vietnam, was somewhat disproved yesterday as 16 peace marchers paraded outside the county office building on Fair Street.

Sylvia Day, leader of the Ulster County Peace Committee, to which the marchers belong, singled out the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, pastor of Old Dutch Reformed Church; Robert Gannon, High Falls writer and Anton Refregier, Woodstock artist and other adult members of the community who joined the parade for peace.

Mixed Reaction

Undaunted by a sudden downpour, the 16 were greeted with mixed reaction.

"Good work" someone passing said surreptitiously to the group, according to Mrs. Day.

Upstairs in the county building, an office gal, observing the marchers through a rain spotted window remarked, "I hope they get soaked!"

When asked about the relatively small number of persons engaged in the demonstration, Mrs. Day, who conducted a similar effort last spring, claimed that although results are not "immediate," she feels action will be forthcoming.

"People are wondering," she said, 'Why are these nuts doing this?' Well, she adds, the people who are wondering will eventually begin to ask themselves, 'why do I condone the war?' "

Asked why only 16 out of the 45 members of the peace committee were participating, Mrs. Day explained that it was difficult for working people to get away from their jobs and that some school teachers were not able to come.

Enthusiastically she told of a chartered bus trip Saturday to New Paltz for further demonstrations, terming it "over subscribed."

Placards Vary

"Ban Napalm," "Stop the Bombing," "Peace Now" — That's what the marcher's placards read.

"And to think, they think they're helping our boys," mumbled an onlooking World War II vet.

While unidentified photographers took pictures of the marchers, members of the peace committee handed out literature to passersby.

"We are holding this vigil today," they said, "because we believe the war in Vietnam is unconstitutional and illegal. We believe that the United States has not exhausted all peaceful efforts before engaging in the war in Vietnam.

"We believe that every man and woman has a legal and moral duty to exert every effort to end the war . . . and to avoid collusion with it, to encourage others to do the same and urge the return of American boys from Vietnam."

HIGHEST HONOR — President Johnson will present the Congressional Medal of Honor to Marine Corps Major Howard V. Lee (shown in file photo) in ceremonies to be held at the White House Wednesday. The award will be presented to Maj. Lee for his gallant actions in Vietnam on Aug. 8-9, 1966. He is from New York City. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

18,000 Back Protest Against Ethnic Slurs

NEW YORK (AP) — It was a rally of the American Italian Anti-Defamation League and 18,000 persons filled Madison Square Garden to applaud protests against ethnic slurs and pay their tribute to Frank Sinatra.

As national chairman of the 18-month-old group, Sinatra was organizer of the rally Thursday night which marked the opening of a drive to increase the league's membership from 20,000 to a million.

President Johnson, saluting the contributions to American life made by citizens of Italian descent, said in a telegram: "I am sure that every American applauds your purpose in focusing national attention on this long and cherished legacy."

Civil Court Judge, Ross J. DiLorenzo, league president, sounded the keynote, saying: "We must uncover and combat, the fallacy that organized crime is in control of Americans of Italian ancestry."

He told the cheering crowd of two television programs in which the criminals in "documented crime stories were alleged to be Italian." An AID investigation proved both cases fictional, he said.

DiLorenzo noted that Sinatra had recently been criticized in various publications for having in the past associated with notorious racketeers, including Salvatore (Momo) Giancana, one-time Mafia leader in Chicago.

The Nevada Gaming Control Board revoked Sinatra's gambling license in 1963 because the singer had offered Giancana hospitality in his Cal-Neva Lodge, a gambling casino in North Lake Tahoe.

"Frank Sinatra is guilty of having associated with presidents, heads of stages, governors, dignitaries and notables from all over the world," DiLorenzo said. "(Sinatra) is guilty of having toured the world. . to do benefits for and make contributions to the needy."

Early in the evening there were occasional shouts of "Where's Frank?". from the audience. From 10 p.m. on until Sinatra appeared, telephone booths at the garden were jammed.

"They're calling home," explained a garden official. "They're calling the babysitters, they're calling the buses and the trains but NONE of them are going home."

Finally at 11:15 p.m. Sinatra, flanked by detectives, arrived on stage and was greeted by a four-minute ovation. Extra police took up positions around the dais.

Sinatra, in a tuxedo with a red pocket handkerchief, picked up a hand microphone and sang several of his standard hits such as "Fly Me to the Moon" and "I've Got You Under My Skin."

Governors Battle Over Viet Pledge

CHARLOTTE AMALIE, V.I. (AP) — Democrats and Republicans at the National Governors' Conference headed today for a countdown in their battle over a proposal to pledge support for President Johnson's prosecution of the war in Vietnam.

Doubts Dem Chances

Gov. George Romney of Michigan predicted the Democrats would fail to get the three-fourths majority necessary to bring before the conference a resolution expressing 'resolute support' for the President's course.

Gov. Calvin L. Rampton of Utah, one of the resolution's sponsors, said he thought the Democrats have a chance of putting it over although 20 of the 44 state and territorial governors at the conference are Republicans.

"When it comes to a showdown of supporting the boys who are fighting in Vietnam, I don't think some of the Republicans are going to vote like they talk," said Rampton.

GOP Govs. David F. Cargo of New Mexico and Paul Laxalt of Nevada said that wasn't the issue at all.

"We just don't think the governors' conference is the place or this is the time to be making policy statements about Vietnam," Laxalt said.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who supported the decision of a Republican caucus decision to oppose bringing up the Vietnam matter, flew home Thursday and said he saw little chance the resolution would be passed. He added that "we all support our boys in Vietnam, but what the governors say or don't say is immaterial.'

Romney disclosed at a news conference that he is trying to draft an alternative course to Johnson's.

He also said he would use a half-hour television program on Nov. 15 to discuss a recent tour of big city ghettos. But he said he wasn't sure whether he would announce then whether he would seek the 1968 GOP presidential nomination.

The governors already have ducked one controversy—over the open housing issue—with a recommendation of the conference executive committee that a task force report be commended but not accepted officially.

Massive Program

The report, prepared by a committee headed by Romney, laid out a massive program for rebuilding of ghettos, elimination of racial inequalities and adoption and implementation of an open housing law.

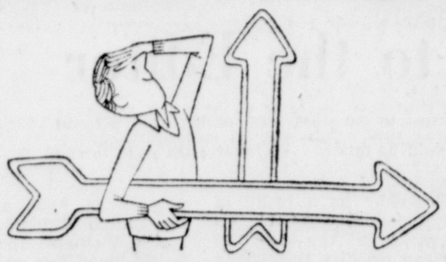

Resolutions approved by the executive committee for expected conference acceptance included a fresh commitment to law and order and improved riot control training for police and National Guardsmen. The governors also recommended wire tapping approved by federal courts to combat organized crime.

Board Approves Part 1 of Salary Survey

On recommendation of the Salary Study Committee of the Board of Supervisors, the board last night approved Part I of the Hanawalt Associates salary and classification survey which suggested salary increases to some 700 county employes, other than highway employes whose jobs will be further studied. The recommended increases will cost the county about $81,000.

No Reductions

Supervisor Peter Williams, Saugerties Republican said none of the county employes received a reduction in salary. The only opposing vote was by Gardiner Democrat George Majestic.

Chairman Peter Savago, who with Supervisors Williams, Joseph Martorana, Franklin Kelder, James Carroll and Daniel Smith, sponsored the resolution, all county employes had been notified by letter of the study and Hanawalt had met with 48. Majestic objected on the grounds there had been no meeting with Civil Service employes as a body.

The board unanimously voted to make a study for construction of a memorial plaque at the county building of Jesse McHugh of Wallkill, who served as chairman during the building of the County Office site.

Difficulty in securing probation officers was responsible for unanimous passage of a resolution by Chairman Savago raising the salary of the two remaining probation officers to $6,345 and setting that salary for newly recruited probation officers.

A resolution by Supervisor Ralph Bush, (R), Shandaken, calling for the board to endorse and recommend support of the $2.5 billion Transportation Bond issue, was tabled.

It was suggested by Supervisor William West, Woodstock Republican, that this was a matter for the voters on election day and the board should not take a stand.

An exchange of road mileage in the town of New Paltz was authorized by resolution by Chairman Savago. The entire length of both Plutarch and North Ohioville Road, comprising 6.44 miles becomes New Paltz town roads and the South Putts Corners, North Putts Corners road and a portion of Horsended Road, 5.17 miles becomes county roads.

The board authorized issuance of a budget note in the sum of $119,000 to pay part of the cost of snow and ice removal for 1967.

Reservoir Span Contract

James Berardi Inc., Kingston, was awarded a contract for construction of the Kingston Reservoir bridge in town Woodstock, it being the low bidder. The bid is $87,157.18.

County Treasurer Fred DuBois was authorized to disburse the Air Pollution Control Grant of $11,310 which has been received from the Federal authority. The resolution was offered by Supervisor De Felicis, (R-Rosendale.)

Chairman Savago was authorized to enter into contract with IBM for purchase of a 360/20 IBM System for the Tabulating Department at a cost of $201,490.

Authority was granted for transfer of money from the Tuberculosis Hospital fund to the Ulster County Infirmary Annex fund and the Chest Clinic Account. This became necessary when the TB Hospital was closed as a TB hospital and converted to infirmary purposes and for continuation of the Chest Clinic. Offered by Sup. DeFelicis, it was carried 27 to 5. The board also authorized transfer of employes now at the TB hospital to the new Infirmary Annex and Chest Clinic payroll.

The matter of overtime pay for employes of the Mental Health Department was tabled for study on motion of Majority Leader Douglas Dye, (R), Kingston town.

Donald G. Ross, trustee of the D & H Canal Society, appeared and urged abandonment of a plan to construct a new county highway through the bed of the historical canal between Accord and Alligerville. The proposed cost of the road is $165,000. The Society seeks to protect the abandoned canal and make it a historical site.

Seek Perrine Fund

On motion of Supervisor Roger Mabie, Esopus Democrat, and Sup. De Felicis, the board was authorized to make application to the State for matching funds, not to exceed $25,000, for preservation of Perrine's Bridge. The State Historical Trust is meeting Oct. 24, when it is expected it will approve plans and make available matching funds for work on restoring and preserving the bridge.

GOP Confusion

With an excellent chance for a 1968 Presidential victory, the GOP powers at this point are so sadly lacking in leadership and cohesion that if this continues into the fall of next year, Republican Party hopes will go down the drain. Republican aspirants for the White House are so divided on the Vietnam issue that it depends on which potential candidate tells it whether we are winning or losing the war in Vietnam.

Governor Reagan of California declares the United States is winning the war in Vietnam, but President Johnson is not telling the people.

Governor Romney of Michigan says the United States is losing the war in Vietnam, but President Johnson is not telling the people.

"I have a feeling we're doing much better in the war than we're being told, that the corner has been turned," said Reagan. "We'll be told when it's politically advantageous for the administration to tell us, with an election year coming up."

"The administration is pursuing a ping pong policy in Southeast Asia, first saying that the United States was protecting South Vietnamese interests, then contending that this country's national interest was pre-eminent there," said Romney.

With this confusion, the party faithful is as confused as these hopefuls themselves.

There is one ray of hope that no one in the GOP hierarchy seems to be pursuing and that is the September Gallup poll, which showed that Governor Rockefeller would beat President Johnson for the top spot if the election were now. Rockefeller, who garnered 48 per cent of the total vote to LBJ's 46 per cent, disavows any further Presidential ambitions and says he is still backing Governor Romney. Another poll shows that a Rockefeller-Reagan ticket could right now ride to the Presidency, but Reagan says he isn't interested in the Vice Presidency. But greater obstacles than Rockefeller's reticency and the Reagan aspirations have been overcome at national convention time.

The next President chosen by the people will have to have a clear program for ending the Vietnam war soon and, of course, without loss of national honor. Richard Nixon is so hawkish that far from ending it, he would undoubtedly lead us to the precipice of a third World War, if not over and into it. Reagan's views place him not far behind the Nixon thinking. Romney, after repeated attempts, has yet to make his position clear.

Senator Dirksen, who staunchly supports the President on Vietnam, isn't running for the Presidency, but he too is hurting his party's chances.

Governor Rockefeller has managed to keep out of the malestrom of confusion, to keep a clear head above water, with the result that he is topping the polls. Considered an Eastern Liberal, and therefore anethema to the Midwest and the West, the pools nevertheless show he is just about the only Republican leader who hasn't spread confusion.

General James Gavin, who bolted the Democratic Party in protest of Mr. Johnson's Vietnam policies, said last week in an interview with Newsweek that he clearly believes Rockefeller is the best candidate and that when he does enunciate his foreign-policy views they will be courageous. But as of right now the greatest tragedy of the American two-party system is taking place as the GOP flip-flops and flounders over a made-to-order issue.

Longest Boom

The starting or ending day of a boom are not easy to pinpoint. But Wednesday, Nov. 1 has been chosen by economists as the day and date on which the American economy will enter on its 81st month of expansion.

The economists tell us the boom began in February, 1961. Assuming that it continues through the winter, it will be seven years old the coming February. That is a boom period unequalled even by the long upswing that encompassed the years of World War II and beyond.

The effect on unemployment is perhaps the most dramatic. At the outset, just under 70 million were working and 5.5 million were out of work. Now, 74.5 million are at work and just under 3 million are unemployed. The economic growth added 7 million jobs, one million for each year of the boom, despite the disappearance of uncounted numbers of jobs due to automation.

The boom began when President Kennedy was scarcely inaugurated. Partisans will claim credit for him and his successor, but the only substantial government action was Kennedy's cut of taxes by $15 billion. Johnson is now trying to restore some of it with a surtax instead of with cuts to keep the government operating within its hugely inflated income.

The boom has not wiped out poverty, it has not slowed down the usual upward push of wages and prices when nearly full employment is reached, and it has not reduced the ratio of unemployment of blacks and whites. More money has helped a lot of people, but it has not been a cure-all for the nation's ills.

"Set 'em Up in the Other Alley!"

David Lawrence Says

Red China, Soviet Main Adversaries

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—What is the Vietnam War all about? Many a citizen has been misled by the argument that the United States should "stop the bombing and make peace" with the North Vietnam government. The trouble is that the Hanoi government is not the only enemy. Red China and the Soviet Union are the main adversaries.

This was made clear thirteen years ago when Richard Nixon, as vice president of the United States, delivered an off-the-record speech on the subject of Vietnam before the American Society of Newspaper Editors on April 16, 1954. The text was not given out, but a paraphrase was printed. The main points were summarized as follows:

"But the Vietnamese lack the ability to conduct the war by themselves or govern themselves. If the French withdrew, Indo-China would become Communist - dominated within a month.

"The United States as the leader of the free world cannot afford further retreat in Asia. It is hoped the United States will not have to send troops there, but if this government cannot avoid it, the administration must face up to the situation and dispatch forces.

"Therefore, the United States must go to Geneva and take a positive stand for united action by the free world. Otherwise it will have to take on the problem alone and try to sell it to the others."

This speech caused a sensation as the hint of armed intervention made the headlines. The State Department announced the next day that the speech enunciated "no new United States policy in regard to Indo-China," but that it supported the official policy set forth by Secretary of State Dulles on March 29, 1954, when he said:

"Under the conditions of today the imposition on southeast Asia of the political system of Communist Russia and its Chinese Communist ally, by whatever means, would be a grave threat to the whole free community. The United States feels that that possibility should not be tacitly accepted, but should be met by united action. This might involve risks, but these risks are far less than those that will face us a few years from now if we dare not be resolute today."

The Geneva Conference on Indo-China took place shortly after Mr. Nixon's speech was delivered. The United States made every effort there to obtain collective action to insure the independence of Vietnam and the right of the people to free elections. The conference instead decided on the partition of Vietnam, and the United States "disassociated" itself from the agreement. Secretary Dulles tried hard to prevent a communist takeover, but neither France nor Great Britain would join in this undertaking. The Secretary said that "Peace is always easy to achieve — by surrender," but is short-lived. He argued for a plan of collective defense as the best way to assure a durable peace.

So it is clear, after 13 years of accumulated evidence, that the only answer to the Vietnam problem is a collective defense against communist aggression. This cannot be achieved today through the medium of the United Nations because of Soviet influence therein. The United States has brought to its side a few allies — Australia, New Zealand, the Phillipines, Thailand and South Korea. Until more of the free countries of the world — especially the larger European nations — join in a collective defense, neither the Soviet Union nor Red China is likely to be persuaded to stop the war.

Thus, the problem of peace in Vietnam boils down to a simple issue: the Soviets and the Red Chinese must be convinced that their course—which has brought on a crisis in Vietnam — cannot be successful. Repelling communist aggression in southeast Asia is more and more coming to be viewed by the United States and its allies as the only way to forestall a major war. The sooner other nations, therefore, join the "alliance for freedom," the quicker will Moscow, Peking and Hanoi realize that their war of aggression cannot succeed.

Jerusalem, Israel. — The old city has been defeated again and it crouches within its ancient walls hugging history. It is as stony and sun-bleached as when David examined the thresher's rock and swore to build a temple on it. The rock is still there, a white hilly limestone inside a Moslem temple.

There are fresh scars. Yellow bulldozers complete the work begun by Israeli shells. Houses come down here and there, and Arab children chant wisdom in a nearby school. Jews, who have not been permitted to cross the border from new Jerusalem to old, now ride jeeps and bicycles and ancient limousines through the city where once the Great Temple of Solomon stood.

Nothing is left of the first one. That too was sacked and reduced, until a stone was not left on a stone. The second is gone too, but a 400-foot section of wall still stands, the stones big and square and gray. Religious Jews stand near it, bowing heads swiftly and weeping for the great days of Israel and the promise of a Messiah.

An Arab guide sees me watching and invites me to see the Dome of the Rock, the gold-domed blister which now dominates Solomon's courtyard. A short walk to the west, Christians kneel inside the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, the architectural abomination which shrouds in darkness the place where Christ died on a cross.

The old city, two miles long by a mile-and-a-half across, is so holy to so many religious groups that each one goes to war for sole ownership of God. It has been pillaged so many times that it lives on its own rubble. The Jerusalem of Jesus lies twenty feet below the surface of the narrow alleys. There, the huge Roman flagstones of Pontius Pilate remain as they were when the Roman procurator washed his hands and murmured: "Ecce homo."

Israel has no intention of giving up the old city of Jordan, or anyone else. The young Hebrew nation says: "Let us talk" to Nasser and King Hussein, but there is duplicity in this because there is little to talk about. All the Jordan money has been called in, and the Israel pound ($.33) is now the coin of the realm.

Israel social workers have undertaken the work of feeding the poor Arabs within the walls, as well as poor Jewish families. The dole is $8 a month for an Arab family; $33 for a Hebrew one. The difference in price is accounted for by the difference in standards of living.

Engineers from Tel Aviv have already reamed out the earth from the Wailing Wall and 11 more feet of it are now exposed. The filth of Jerusalem is being cleansed, and young Israeli soldiers, with Browning automatic rifles on their shoulders, close gates and open them at will, arrest Arabs who will not move quickly on order, and hoist the blue and white flag of Israel in front of hotels administered by Christians.

The new bosses are polite and firm. You can take a picture here, but not there. Your automobile can travel on this street, but not that one. Girls in toreador pants stoop to enter the Tomb of Christ, and boys conversant with their religious rules, but not of others, keep their hats on.

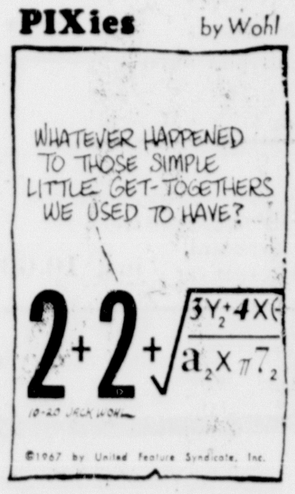

I found an Arab who speaks English and asked him what life is like under the Jews. "Better," he said. I thought he was being diplomatic. He assured me that life is better, cleaner and more productive now than before.

He does not feel oppressed. The non-Jewish hotel, the Intercontinental, a beautiful place overlooking the walled city, has stopped serving bacon and eggs. The manager, an Austrian, says that he stopped it because it might offend kosher laws.

The best thing that could happen to old Jerusalem is to place it under United Nations jurisdiction. This is impossible, because Israel is spending millions to reclaim the city in spirit as well as physically. The Eshkol government would not commit itself this far unless it plans to keep the city, no matter what the United States and the Soviet Union agree to.

Jerusalem is fated to be fought over again and again. And yet, somewhere in the sand, the blood of a Man has congealed and granulated. His favorite preachment was: "Love ye one another."...

Drew Pearson Says

Oilmen Sweating Over Auto Modifications

Barnett Comes Forward

As early as Dec. 21, 1964, Drew Pearson reported that "the most carefully guarded civilian in the United States today is Horace Barnett . . . who gave the FBI a signed confession that he participated in the murder of three civil rights workers in Philadelphia, Miss. . . . Barnett is under day-and-night FBI guard."

Last week Barnett turned up in Mississippi as the key witness for the government against the Mississippians accused of murder.

WASHINGTON — The oil barons have broken out in a sweat under their fancy silk shirts and tailored suits over the extra miles per gallon that most 1968 cars offer.

In conformity with the anti-pollution regulations, the 1968 models have been equipped with more efficient engines. These not only reduce exhaust emission but also require less gasoline.

This means, of course, that new car buyers should get more miles to the gallon and blow out less stifling exhaust fumes into the faces of the drivers behind them. But the oil boys are alarmed because it also means they will sell less gasoline.

Result: They are now pressuring their friends in Washington to ease up on the drive against air pollution.

By the 1970s, under the present program, the anti-pollution standards will require auto manufacturers to cut exhaust emissions still more drastically. Detroit engineers plan to meet these standards by continued engine modifications. To the dismay of the oilmen, this will bring even greater engine efficiency and more fuel economy.

An estimated 90 per cent of the 1968 engines offer greater horsepower plus added overall efficiency. This has been accomplished, in most instances, by improving the distributor and heating the intake air. The heated air allows the engine to operate on a leaner fuel mixture, and the new distributor provides better fuel ignition.

The oilmen are also haggling with the auto manufacturers, particularly Ford, over reducing the oil-change requirements. Ford is recommending to its 1968 customers that they need change the oil no more often than every six months or 6,000 miles.

The longer interval would be safer, of course, if better motor oils were used. The oilmen, preferring more frequent oil changes to increase sales, refused to improve the quality. Ford, in turn, threatened to include a list of approved oils in the glove compartments of its 1968 models.

Ford held off the move when the oil boys, showing the first signs of repentance, agreed to reconsider. It remains to be seen, however, whether the oil industry will change its attitude of putting profits ahead of the public good.

Note: There isn't the slightest indication, of course, that the oil crowd will accept any reduction in their tax privileges to help pay for the Vietnam war. They keep the taxpayers' money circulating in dizzy circles by draining it from the U. S. Treasury through tax loopholes, then pouring it back into the pockets of the politicians to make the loopholes in the tax laws still bigger. Most oil millionaires prefer to make cheap speeches against the communist menace and let the less-blessed taxpayers put up the money to fight communism.

Spendthrift Budget Pruners

The Congressmen who clamor the loudest for budget cuts apparently haven't heard that economy begins at home.

Republican Floor Leader Gerald Ford, for example, keeps agitating for reductions in federal spending. Yet he makes impassioned speeches every year on the need for federal school aid in the depressed areas of his native Michigan.

Rep. Mel Laird, R-Wis., another economy crier, definitely does not want to economize on the Food and Drug laboratory he has persuaded the government to build in Madison, Wis. In fact, he pulled Congressional strings to get the government to transfer the laboratory from Beltsville, Md., to his home state — though Beltsville is closer to headquarters and would require less money for travel.

Although everyone on Capitol Hill is, of course, for God, country and economy, the average Congressmen favors economies in someone else's district.

Taking note of this, House Appropriations Chairman George Mahon remarked dryly at a closed Senate-House conference on HEW appropriations: "There are 21 different projects in this bill over and above those recommended by the Budget Bureau. If we are going to cut, let's start cutting there. We can't economize by padding the President's budget."

Mahon also warned his committee colleagues that the Ways and Means Committee, headed by Wilbur Mills, by holding up a tax increase until federal spending is cut, was encroaching on their territory.

GOP Reversal

"Wilbur and I have been discussing this matter almost every day," added Mahon. "I'm convinced that he doesn't really want to intrude on our powers, but the pressure is on us. We are in danger of losing our authority over federal spending unless we knuckle down and do the job we're supposed to do."

The Republican Coordinating Committee, the party's top policy-making body, charged last week that President Johnson's clean-air program lodges too much authority in the federal government. The committee demanded that air pollution be handled more by the states. Yet it was the Republican members of the House Commerce Committee who insisted upon federal controls and refused to let California set its own, tougher standards.

The Republicans, with help from a few Democrats, knocked a provision out of the anti-pollution bill that would have permitted California to set more stringent standards. The Republicans deserted their traditional states-right stand, of course, because of pressure from the automobile industry. The auto manufacturers want the federal government to set and enforce the standards for all states. Otherwise, they will have to install special devices for cars sold in California.

In other words, the Republicans put the big auto makers ahead of their own party principles.

Hanoi Seen on Downhill Slide

BY BRUCE BIOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The Johnson administration is growing increasingly confident about the outcome of the Vietnam war at the very time popular disenchantment with it is reaching unprecedented heights.

Vice President Humphrey, who, of course, sees the key war reports, is known to believe that U. S. bombing of North Vietnam is proving heavily effective for the first time.

The steadily more daring raids on the port facilities at Haiphong are said to be hurting Hanoi's supply flow to forces in South Vietnam seriously.

Raids along a lengthy stretch of the North Vietnam-China border may be even more telling. Hanoi has long been using as a war-preparation sanctuary the 30-mile border zone where U. S. bombers feared to go because of the danger of violating Chinese air space. Sophisticated new flying techniques have nearly eliminated that peril and permitted repeated attacks against storage depots and other backup installations.

Except for the pounding Red forces are giving dug-in Marines at Con Thien and other fixed points below the "demilitarized" North Vietnam-South Vietnam border, Hanoi and the Viet Cong are not mounting anything major.

A high administration official not given to bursts of optimism about the war told this reporter that the situation today is "a whacking amount better" than it has been in the 2½ years since sizable U. S. forces entered Vietnam.

He believes that, aside from the troublesome DMZ area, Hanoi is on a downhill slide. Guerrilla activity is weakened in many sectors. Viet Cong recruitment is said to be down by half. Intelligence gathered by both U. S. and South Vietnamese forces is vastly improved, a fact partly due to an evidently growing popular conviction that the VC are losing.

The Vice President is said to feel that greatly increased flow of rice from the rich Mekong delta to Saigon is an especially significant barometer of the war. Until fairly recently, a sizable part of this flow was being diverted to or confiscated by the Viet Cong.

One consequence of the rising confidence about the war in administration circles is that some key officials seem much less nettled than they once were over antiwar criticism from some intellectuals.

In a few instances, official attitudes now border closely on contempt. A widening feeling is that the critics have never produced viable alternatives and have ignored the larger stragetic aspects of the war in Southeast Asia.

It is felt that Secretary of State Dean Rusk's stress on this aspect, with focus upon Red China as the great enemy, represents a significant turn in the administration's argument for its war policies.

The President himself foreshadowed this turn in his late September San Antonio speech. As long ago as March, 1966, the Vice President urged him to give heavier emphasis on China's role. Concern for possible direct Chinese involvement is thought to have held Johnson back.

Whether this new stress will make the needed deeper dent on the increasingly disenchanted American electorate is not at all clear.

One top authority thinks that, even though the war is going much better, the gains are not dramatically visible to the American people and are not likely to be in the next several months at least. He suspects a continuing clamor of discontent which could present a grave peril to the President in a 1868 re-election bid.

Though the Vice President is understood to be one of those sharing in the present more confident mood, nothing suggests he has any illusions about the difficulties facing a Johnson-Humphrey ticket next year. Some "visible victories" are needed in Vietnam. The hard question is how to get them, how to find the course that is more decisive and yet not imprudent. Johnson's answer may determine his fate at the polls in 1968.

Phoenicia, New York

Editor, The Freeman

David Lawrence's pompous column of October 17th in the Kingston Daily Freeman is scarcely worthy of refutation. Nevertheless, issue ought to be taken with Representative Samuel Stratton's quote in reference to opponents of the Vietnam War. (Mr. Stratton is quoted as having said most opponents of Administration policy say "My mind is made up—don't confuse me with facts.")

Both Mr. Stratton and Mr. Lawrence are obviously confused in their facts. The major proportion of these opponents only became opponents after a very searching study of the facts. Furthermore, to label senators, as Mr. Lawrence does, as "currying favor" when they speak out against Vietnam is a gross libel. And if Senator Dirksen worries about the loss of prestige of the President as a result of this criticism, how great is his concern over the loss of American prestige throughout the world because of our activities in Vietnam?

The vast majority of opponents of the Vietnam War are all too painfully aware of the facts. They are soul-sick to see the American image almost daily more besmirched. They are frightened to calculate the satisfaction of Communist countries who have only to sit back and watch the United States exhaust itself in Vietnam. They are appalled over the unwarranted slaughter of those whom Mr. Lawrence casually tosses off as "a few thousands" of our American youth who are being sacrificed in Vietnam

Speaking of brainwashing, Mr. Lawrence, are you doing it—or showing the effects of it?

Yours very truly,
RUTH F. LANDESMAN

The New Constitution

The Legislature Would Be Enlarged

Editor's Note: This is the last in a series of five articles discussing provisions of the revised state constitution to be submitted to New York voters in the Nov. 7 election.

By GERRY McLAUGHLIN

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — If New York voters decide to approve the revised state constitution Nov. 7, the many ensuing effects will include a slightly enlarged Legislature and new powers for the governor.

No details of those and other provisions will appear on the Nov. 7 ballot. The voters must pass judgment on the proposed charter as a single entity.

A Constitutional Convention that included 41 present or former legislators adopted a provision that would add three seats to the 57-seat Senate and continue the Assembly membership at 150.

The proposed legislative article also would create a special commission — to be named by the Legislature's leaders and the Court of Appeals—to handle the usually controversial questions of the legislative and congressional redistricting.

The majority and minority leaders of the Senate and Assembly each would appoint a member of the five - member commission, with the Court of Appeals to name the chairman.

The commission would re - draw Senate, Assembly and congressional district lines after each federal census; that is, every 10 years. Its product automatically would become law.

The only other substantial change in the legislative article would eliminate the controversial "lulu" — the lump-sum expense allotment granted legislators "in lieu of expenses." Instead, legislators would be reimbursed for "actual and necessary expenses."

In the area of state departments and officers, substantial revisions would affect the governor and the Public Service Commission.

The governor would be granted broad power to reorganize departments and agencies, subject to veto by the Legislature. At present, the Constitution fixes the number of state departments a 20, and only the Legislature is authorized to increase or diminish the responsibilities of individual departments.

Amid continuing controversy over the role of the Public Service Commission in dealing with such subjects as atomic-generated electric power, the convention voted to revamp the commission.

The plan, advanced by a political ally of U.S. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, would require the Legislature to set up a seven-member commission. It would include four members appointed by the governor and three members elected at a joint session of the Legislature.

It also would limit terms on the commission to six years.

The present system provides for at least five commissioners, with the possibility of expanding to seven depending on need. All are appointed by the governor to 10-year terms at salaries of $29,160 a year.

Otherwise, the proposed constitution would leave substantially unchanged the existing provisions for the executive branch of state government.

The date on which the new constitution would become the state's fundamental law would be Jan. 1, 1969.

Among the final provisions is one that would direct that the people be allawed to vote in 1972 on the question of whether to hold a constitutional convention. It also would provide for the question to be submitted every 30 years thereafter and at other times set by the Legislature.

If the voters should reject the proposed charter in November, the provisions of the existing constitution would remain in effect. In that event, the question concerning a constitutional convention would have to be put to the people again by 1977.

College Dedication Set Saturday

All Ulster County residents are invited to visit Ulster County Community College Saturday for the dedication of the college's new Stone Ridge campus, President George B. Erbstein said today.

"This is an ideal time for the county's residents to see their new community college, said President Erbstein, "and we hope they will come out to the campus then. After the dedication ceremony, these visitors will have an opportunity to tour the four new buildings and have the facilities and educational program explained to them."

Javits to Speak

The program, to be conducted outside on the plaza in front of the Macdonald DeWitt Library, will start at 10:30 a. m. with a concert by the Stewart Air Force Band. The conductor is Chief Warrant Officer Louis C. Kriebel.

The dedication ceremony will start at 11 a. m. with President Erbstein presiding.

The principal speaker will be U. S. Senator Jacob K. Javits. He will be introduced by August Hecksher, administrator of recreation and cultural affairs and commissioner of parks in New York City.

There also will be greetings from John C. Quimby, chairman of the college's Board of Trustees; Peter J. Savago, chairman of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors; Dr. John F. Park, chairman of the Faculty Organization at the college; Ward D. Todd, president of the Student Government Organization at the college and Dr. Kenneth T. Doran, associate university dean for Two-Year Colleges in the State University of New York.

The dedication prayer will be offered by the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, minister of Old Dutch Church in Kingston.

The invocation will be by the Rt. Rev. Monsignor John J. O'Reilly, dean of the Catholic Clergy in Ulster County and pastor of St. Joseph's Church in Kingston. The benediction will be by Rabbi Jonathan Eichhorn of Temple Emmanuel, Kingston.

Buildings Open

Four buildings are being dedicated on the new campus. They are the Macdonald DeWitt Library, the George Clinton Administration Building, the Jacob A. Hasbrouck Building and the John Burroughs Science Building.

After the dedication ceremony, these four buildings will be open to the public. Faculty members and students will be available to answer questions and act as guides.

Hurley Demos Dine Saturday, Gorman Speaker

Dr. Gerald P. Gorman, Democratic County chairman, will be the guest speaker at the Hurley Democratic dinner to be held Saturday night at the Alpine Restaurant.

Dr. Gorman was recently elected to the Democratic chairmanship in a spirited contest. He is also serving as Democratic City chairman.

Dr. Gorman was born in Staten Island in 1920. He received his BS degree from Manhatten College in 1941, and was awarded his MD from Georgetown University in 1944.

Gorman served in the U. S. Navy in World War II and was recalled to active duty during the Korean conflict.

In 1956 he opened his office in Kingston and has been in the practice of surgery here for the past 11 years. During that time he has served as a member of the Ulster County Board of Health, president of the American Cancer Society, Ulster County Chapter, as well as the Ulster County chapter of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society.

In 1965, Dr. Gorman was the Democratic candidate for coroner, losing by less than 400 votes. He campaigned on the establishment of a medical examiner system for Ulster County.

He is married to Dr. Lorraine Gannon Gorman and they reside at 159 Main Street with their five children.

Due to the recent controversy involving Dr. Gorman's proposal to adopt a code of ethics for elected officials, it is expected that he will have some comments to make on the matter at Saturday's gathering.

Birth Rate Dips

HONOLULU (AP) — State Health Department statistics show Hawaii's birth rate and birth count have been dropping for 13 years. The decline has been greatest during the last three years.

The birth rate stood at 34.1 per thousand in 1953; it's now down to 20.9.

Officials attribute the drop to the heavy exodus of military dependents following the departure of husbands to Vietnam, availability of birth control measures and sizable emigration of young people in the most eligible, child-bearing age group.

Instrument Data Of Venus Craft Raises Doubts

By HENRY BRADSHER
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet reports of Venus 4's space triumph indicate that the instrument package radioed back information from the atmosphere of the earth's sister planet not from its surface.

The reports also raise doubts that the device made a soft landing on Venus.

The planet's surface conditions still may be unknown in detail. The highest temperature recorded by Venus 4, 536 degrees Fahrenheit, and the greatest pressure, 15 times the earth's at sea level, could be readings of the atmosphere and not those of the planet itself.

A brief Soviet announcement Wednesday said data was radioed to earth while the instruments were floating toward Venus on a 15.5-mile, 90-minute course through the planet's atmosphere.

But there has been no Soviet claim that the instrument package, a rounded object 35.4 inches in diameter, was still transmitting when it reached the surface. Just where and why it stopped transmitting has not been disclosed.

Observers suggested that Soviet scientists may not know. One possible explanation is that the heat melted the instruments or burned up the parachute that was carrying them, sending the device crashing into the surface of Venus.

The official announcement said the instruments descended smoothly through the atmosphere and that they landed. But it did not claim a soft landing, in the sense of a space vehicle floating down intact on an object.

Britain Faces National Rail Stoppage Threat

LONDON (AP) — Britain was threatened today with a national railroad stoppage that could deal a crippling blow to the country's already shaky economy.

Brakemen at more than 40 depots were on strike, forcing the cancellation of hundreds of trains on routes between London and the north. The state-run railroad system was threatened with spreading chaos.

With vital exports already curtailed by a five-week-old dock strike in London and Liverpool, Prime Minister Harold Wilson cut short his vacation in Scotland and told newsmen on his return to London: "This industrial unrest is an extremely serious problem."

Wilson's Labor government blames the upsurge of industrial unrest on Communist agitators who it says are trying to plunge the nation into "a winter of disruption." Union leaders deny and resent the charge.

Unions backing the brakemen's strike appeared on a collision course with the British Rail Board. If neither side backs off, a total shutdown of rail services would become inevitable.

Rail board chiefs rocked leaders of three unions with word that they are considering the withdrawal of all pay from railmen made idle by the dispute, not just the strikers. This would be done by ending the guaranteed 40-hour week for railroad workers, in operation since 1919. It now guarantees railmen a basic rate of pay ranging between $31.64 and $56 a week.

"We will certainly pick up the gauntlet," said Albert Griffiths, general secretary of the Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen. "This is tantamount to threatening a lockout."

Len Neal, the railboard's industrial relations chief, replied: "With our finances running down as they are, we cannot see it right to pay out public money in this way if thousands of our employes have no work to do."

Shigeru Yoshida, Former Japanese Official Dies

OISO, Japan (AP) — Former Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida, who led Japan back to prosperity from the ruins of World War II and firmly allied it with the United States, died in his sleep today. He was 89.

An aide said Yoshida died while taking his afternoon nap at his seaside estate in Oiso, 50 miles southwest of Tokyo. Doctors said a gall bladder inflammation and general deterioration of his condition overburdened his heart.

Yoshida's death caused Prime Minister Eisaku Sato to cut short his tour of Southeast Asia. His office said Sato — now in Manila—would return to Tokyo Saturday night after only a brief visit to Saigon instead of spending Saturday and Sunday there as he had planned.

A state funeral will be held in Tokyo in about a week, a government spokesman said.

Yoshida, a prewar diplomat and the foreign minister in Japan's first two postwar governments, became prime minister in May 1946 and headed the government until 1954, three years after the U.S. occupation ended with the signing of the San Francisco peace treaty.

He headed the government longer than anyone else since the parliamentary system was established in Japan in 1870.

During his first months in office millions of soldiers had to be demobilized and resettled, a democratic constitution was promulgated, food had to be imported quickly to stave off famine and aid was needed to reconstruct shattered industries.

Five years later Yoshida signed the peace treaty in San Francisco, then signed a security treaty with the United States firmly tying his newly independent country to the free world.

County Court Dispositions

A 38-year old New York city man, who said he had more faith in the "jailhouse" lawyers than he did in a regularly assigned member of the bar and sought to have a law library assigned to his use in the county jail, will have counsel assigned him to give advise before a grand jury indictment charging criminal possession of a loaded sawed off shotgun is disposed of in County Court.

David Marcus, who said his place of residence is 45 West 35th Street, New York City, and his occupation that of "sales manager", was arraigned before County Judge Raymond J. Mino Tuesday. He has been assinged Herbert Weisoff as counsel.

Marcus said he would like to have the court assign other counsel since he had heard Weinsoff was a district attorney. Assured that was not the fact, Marcus said that had been the advice he had obtained in jail and appeared to be still skeptical. He asked to have other counsel assigned since Weinsoff was a justice of the peace in the town where Marcus is accused of violation of the law.

Attorney Weinsoff did not object to being relieved. Marcus then said he wanted to ask for a writ of habeas corpus and was advised before the case progressed, it would be well to have an attorney assigned. Marcus said he could not get paper and pencil in jail to prepare his papers and suggested when told by Judge Mino that he could have paper and pencil, that he be provided with law books in jail so he could prepare his papers.

Judge Mino informed Marcus there was no law library in the jail and suggested he take the matter up with an attorney who will be assigned before the adjourned date, next Wednesday at 11 a. m. Judge Mino entered a formal plea of innocent for Marcus who was remanded to custody of the sheriff. The charge arises out of an incident in Ellenville.

Among other defendants brought before the court by District Attorney Joseph P. Torraca was George Greenidge, 17, Kingston, who had been indicted for third degree burglary; unlawful entry and first degree grand larceny. Greenidge, represented by Sherwood E. Davis, had recently withdrawn a plea of guilty to an attempt to commit grand larceny, first degree, and had pleaded innocent. Tuesday he changed his plea once again to guilty. On trial of the charge, a jury some time ago was unable to agree on a verdict and the case had been restored to the trial calendar. The charge grew out of an elleged affair at the Saccoman Jewelry store on Broadway. Judge Mino sentenced Greenidge to Elmira Reception Center there to be classified and transferred to a reformatory term of not to exceed five years.

Sean Roger Landers, 43, East Durham, charged with first degree grand larceny and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, entered a plea of not guilty and case was adjourned to Nov. 1 at 11 a. m. Edward Greene appeared for Landers. Remanded to jail.

Gerald Hollwedel, also known as Jerry Higgins, New York City, and Patrick McLaughlin, also known as Malacki P. O'Hara, both Ellenville employes, were arraigned on a charge of grand larceny, first degree, and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle last May 16. Frank Spada appeared for defendants and entered a plea of innocent. Adjourned to Nov. 1 and defendants remanded to jail.

Spencer Marshall, also known as Rocky, 18, Kingston, accused of first degree grand larceny and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, had his case adjourned to Oct. 25 at 11 a. m. The grand jury recommended the boy be treated under the youthful offender statute. It is alleged Marshall took a car from the J. H. Byrne Chevrolet lot last July 7. Joseph Avis was assigned counsel and adjourned one week. Remanded.

Other cases adjourned to Nov. 1 at 11 a. m. after arraignment were:

Richard John Francis Maguire, 23, New York windowwasher, accused of possession of burglar instruments. William Baron assigned counsel. Remanded.

John Joseph Harnen, New Paltz, second degree murder. Francis Tucker attorney. The adjournment was taken to permit a mental examination to determine whether defendant is competent mentally to defend himself. Remanded.

Andrew Grimm, Ellenville, charged with second degree assault arising out of an alleged attack on three Ellenville police officers. George Beck, counsel. Remanded.

Karl E. Spangler, charged with first degree robbery, second degree assault and petit larceny, entered a plea of not guilty and his case was marked ready for trial on the opening of the November trial term. William Mullany is counsel.

An example of how we lose.

Sometimes we lose $2,500. Or $100. Or only 25¢. Those are some of the prizes you can win with Mobil's Winning Line.

But we really haven't lost very much so far, because Winning Line is still a new game. So most of the prizes are still sitting at Mobil, waiting for someone to win them.

If you want to try your luck, pull into a Mobil station where you see a Winning Line banner.

You'll get two things on your first visit—a game folder and game card. (There's no need to buy anything.)

You're actually playing six games in this one folder. They're worth $1, $5, $50, $100, $1,000 and $2,500. Once you win a game, you might want another folder. Because there's nothing to stop you from winning more than once.

Every time you're at Mobil, you'll also get a game card. Inside, there are little stamps. These stamps match the blanks in your folder. Complete a row across with your stamps, and you're a winner.

We've also got plenty of Instant Winners. You can win 25¢ or 50¢ for doing absolutely nothing. Just get an Instant Winner stamp, give it to your Mobil Dealer, and take your money.

You'll notice that the pictures on your stamps are products from our entire Winning Line—our gasoline, oil, tires, batteries, Travel Guide and our Credit Card. So while you're trying to win some of our money, you're also learning a little bit about Mobil.

Which is why we don't mind if you beat us at our own game. We're not just losing money. We're gaining a friend.

Two Crashes At Same Locale In Ulster Town

Kingston State Police Investigated three traffic accidents on Thursday, one of which resulted in personal injury. Two of the mishaps occurred at the same location on Route 209, Town of Ulster.

Shortly before 5 p. m. Marlene Harpur, 19, of 62 Hurley Avenue, was driving south on Route 209 when she saw an unidentified person picking up lumber that fell on the pavement. The young woman swerved to avoid the pedestrian and her car struck guard rails, according to Trooper John McMickle.

While the damaged car was on the pavement Mary Ann Wheeler, 28, of West Hurley, was traveling south on the highway when she came upon the scene of the earlier mishap. She stopped her car and a vehicle driven by Wayne Roberts, 37, of Golf Terrace, swerved to the right to avoid the other cars and his car skidded into the Wheeler automobile. Both accidents were investigated by Trooper Patrick Sheehan.

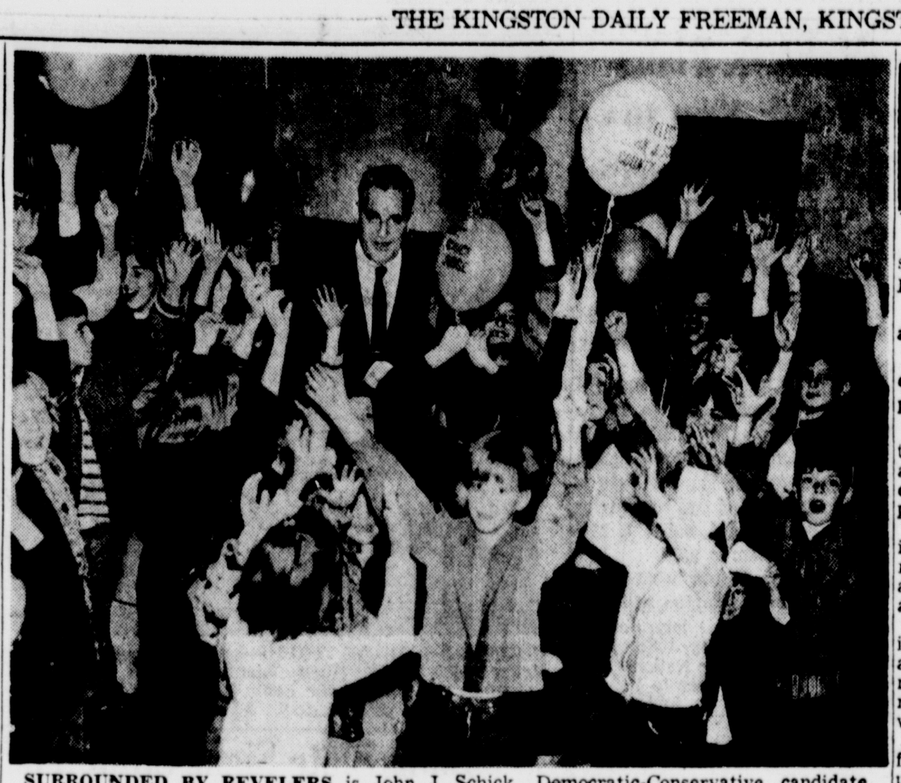

Sheila Grant, 19, of Route 2, Kingston, sustained lacerations of the forehead at 12:45 p. m. yesterday, when her car hit a tree off Sawkill Road north of Route 209. Trooper McMickle said the car was traveling east when the right wheels went on a soft shoulder. The driver lost control as the car went up an embankment and hit a tree, according to a report of Trooper Roy Martinussen.

Deceased Man's Eyes Continue To Serve Navy

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — For 20 years Thomas N. Brown served in his country's Navy and his eyes may continue to serve even though Brown is dead.

The 66-year-old retired chief petty officer died Monday.

Before his death, however, Brown specified that his eyes be made available to assist servicemen injured in Vietnam.

Within hours of his death, one cornea was transplated to a young sailor whose eyes had been damaged by an exploding booby trap.

Lt. G.E. Reeves, patient affairs officer at the Corpus Christi Naval Air Station Hospital, said without the transplant the sailor "faced permanent blindness." He said he could not reveal the name of the recipient.

Tuesday, the second cornea was transplanted to another patient who also had been wounded in Vietnam.

It was too early to determine the success of either operation, Reeves said.

Brown, who retired last July, moved with his wife, Marian, to Corpus Christi, where he had been stationed.

Death was caused by cancer.

Brown is to be buried at Saranac Lake, N.Y.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Paul Rudy, a gas station attendant, filled a customer's car, promptly made change, awarded trading stamps, washed the windshield and provided a gift tumbler. Then Rudy noticed that he had forgotten to remove the pump's hose from the car's gas tank. The hose snapped, starting a fire.

Katrine Youth Suspect in Theft of Cars

A Lake Katrine youth, suspected in the theft of five cars appeared in court today and had his case adjourned until Tuesday to seek counsel.

The accused, James D. Beecheh, 16, was nabbed by detectives Thursday afternoon. Police said two other youths have been named as accomplices but records indicate the pair is underage.

Charged with unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and third degree burglary, Beecheh is listed by detectives as having been involved in a series of Sept. auto thefts, plus cashing a check that was not his own.

According to court records, the young defendant is accused of participating in the theft of two autos from Doc Smith's garage on the night of Sept. 16. One of these autos was wrecked that night, police disclosed.

Beecheh has also been charged with the Sept. 17 and 18 theft of cars from behind Kingston Hospital and armory. In addition the Sept. heist of another auto from Doc Smith's garage has been linked to the accused, police stated.

Court records indicate that the Lake Katrine youth is also accused of cashing a check belonging to Robert Hatch at Caldor's Dept store on Route 9W.

Utility Cable Across River Termed Eyesore

TARRYTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — A state advisory commission has rejected as an eyesore a utility's plan to string a power line across the Hudson River south of Albany.

But since the Hudson River Valley Commission was given only advisory powers by the Legislature, its recommendation could be disregarded by Niagara Mohawk Power Corp.

The commission suggested Thursday that the 345,000-volt transmission line be installed under the river instead, at what the utility estimates would be more than seven times the cost of overheading it.

Overhead lines, the commission concluded, "would have an unreasonable adverse effect upon the scenic resources of the river."

To suggestions that overhead lines would be less objectionable if placed adjacent to the Hudson River bridge of the State Thruway's Berkshire spur, the commission replied: not so.

"The use of bridge structures to support transmission lines would have no less serious impairment to scenic values," the commission said.

The unitility sought to string overhead power lines from 235-foot-high towers from the Albany County town of Bethlehem to the Rensselear County town of Schodack on the river's east shore. Company engineers estimated the cost at $1.8 million, and said at least another $12 million would be tacked on if the lines went underground.

Escape Module Saves Crewmen In Crash of F111

BOWIE, Tex. (AP) — A supersonic F111A fighter-bomber crashed in a North Texas pasture Thursday night. A new escape system saved both crewmen.

The $5 million plane was an Air Force version of the controversial TFX, a variable-sweep wing jet built at the Fort Worth plant of General Dynamics 70 miles southeast of here.

The plane hit and broke apart as two oil operators, Ed Spragins and Dick Darner of Wichita Falls, worked on a farm nearby.

The two men heard a loud boom about 6:10 p.m. and saw a parachute lower the craft's ejection module into a field 10 miles southwest of Bowie.

Test pilots David Thigpen and Max Gordon, civilian employes of General Dynamics, were unhurt as the parachute draped across a power line and left them hanging upside down in the module. They quickly freed themselves.

Spragins said, "According to the pilots, the hydraulic system failed and they were unable to maneuver the aircraft. It began to pitch and roll, and they had to get out of it."

Thigpen told newsmen only that "something went wrong" about an hour after takeoff at General Dynamics and "I made the decision to eject."

A rocket motor shot the ejection module upward and a large beige parachute unfolded in a light breeze.

In addition to the F111A for the Air Force General Dynamics builds the F111B for the Navy. One of each had crashed earlier.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market declined early Friday in active trading.

Losses outnumbered gains by a good margin.

The Dow Jones industrial average was down between 1 and 2 points.

Rails, however, were buttressed by New York Central and Pennsylvania Railroad, each of which rose about 2 points.

IBM picked up 3 points or so in a routine move. Zenith, Xerox and Illinois Central rose around a point each. Pfizer was a 1-point loser.

Ford, off a fraction, continued its small, uncertain movements as from day to day an agreement to settle the strike was reported near, but no hard news was forthcoming.

Potomac Electric Power, up a fraction, was far ahead on volume.

Strength in New York Central and Pennsy was attributed to a decision by a three-judge federal court in New York that the projected merger should not be delayed.

Opening blocks included:

Youngstown Sheet, off ¼ at 31 on 29,500 shares; Alcan Aluminum, off ⅝ at 25 on 15,000; Montgomery Ward, off ⅜ at 23⅛ on 11,000; American Telephone, unchanged at 51¼ on 10,000; and Union Carbide, off ⅛ at 48 on 5,000.

The failure of Thursday's strong early rally to win a following was discouraging to the trading community. The result was an extra dose of caution before the weekend.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange.

Milady's Change of Mind Overlooked in Surveys

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — After all these years, it seems that one of the reasons consumer surveys are wrong is that the housewife changes her mind in the time that elapses between the question and the purchase.

This is a discovery that husbands, hairdressers, grocers and real estate agents have long and sometimes patiently understood, but which explorers of the consumer mind have often overlooked in asking questions.

As a result, as much as 60 per cent of new products that market tests suggest should be successful are instead left on store shelves to turn dusty and eventually to be withdrawn forever.

It is a matter of confidence, says Prof. John Howard of Columbia University, confidence in her own ability to judge a product, her knowledge of the product, the intensity of her feeling for it.

Not Just Yes or No

Howard feels that precise measurements of a woman's attitudes—not just her yes-no answers—must be made before any accurate prediction of her future behavior—her buying behavior—can be made.

Attempts have been made before to correlate attitude and behavior, but the studies had a built-in defect. A person's attitude might have been measured, but no followup was made to see if the person purchased.

"As a result," said Howard, "the surveyor often got Mrs. Jones attitude and Mrs. Smith's buying."

Howard's study, which aims to eliminate this defect, indicates that the more confidently a woman expresses her approval of a brand, the more likely she is to purchase the product being tested.

If her confidence in judging the merits of a brand is low, then her initial attitude to the product may be nearly irrelevant to her subsequent buying behavior.

Wide Implications Possible

Because confidence is based in the amount of information available, the findings could have wide implications for advertising, influencing greatly its content and approach.

"Housewives don't have good information," Howard said. "They must take what information they can get, and the problem is getting worse. The number of new products is rising, and their complexity is also."

Because of this complexity, and because housewives have only a limited amount of time for shopping, the confidence factor therefore will become increasingly important. So also will the need for better information.

Blue Chip Label

Q—Our stock portfolio is for our retirement in 10 years, since we will have no pensions. We have substantial savings and a conservatively mortaged home. Our holdings include A.J. Industries, Castle & Cook, Chesebrough-Pond's, Continental, Illinois Bank & Trust, General Motors, Pfizer. We think we should make some changes for better growth and favor more blue stocks. What do you suggest? — S. M.

A—With the exception of A.J. Industries, all your stocks may be rated blue chips. This classification is extremely elastic, for it could include such slow movers as Union Carbide and such fast gainers as Avon Products.

Castle & Cook is an excellent stock, but it has shown little growth in recent years due partly to the seasonal nature of its business. I advise you to switch it into Del Monte, the world's largest food packer, which has been extremely successful in smoothing out seasonal changes and establishing a long basic uptrend in earnings.

But Chesebrough and Pfizer measure up fully to your requirements. General Motors has been a good stock to own over a period of time, but is subject to cyclical dips, and you might do better with Plough Inc.

Continental Illinois Bank is a strong and conservative holding which, with others in its group, has fallen out of favor in a rather speculative market and sells at a low price-earnings multiple. I would retain it for its stability and its potential for enhancing your capital over the next 10 years.

A.J. Industries appears well managed, but its large stake in military business makes it too speculative for you. I would exchange it for Warner-Lambert.

Q—I bought Murphy Oil. I hear this stock is in a "buyout" position. What does this mean? — R. M.

A—It means that the company is a possible candidate for acquisition by another concern. I have heard of no such move, but I would nevertheless hold the shares for their good appreciation potential.

Deli Owner Wins $5,000 In Lottery

"I've never won anything before. I am happy but not excited."

That was the comment of Karl Glotzl, proprietor of the Terminal Delicatessen at 458 Broadway, Kingston, a $5,000 winner in the September state lottery.

Glatzl's name was the first drawn from a drum in Albany on Tuesday by State Tax Commissioner Joseph H. Murphy and he was one of five tagged for post position No. 1.

On Thursday Glotzl was eliminated with many others from chances of getting the $100,000 or other top prizes. He was a $5,000 winner.

"I have bought three tickets each month since the lottery started," Glotzl said today. "I am going to keep trying and will buy three tickets each month from now on."

Glotzl said he and his wife had made up their minds that they would be satisfied with the lowest prize—$150. "That would have been better than nothing," he said.

What is he going to do with the $5,000 — after taxes are paid?

"I am going to give a share to my son, Karl, and my daughter, Carol," Glotzl said. "My three grandchildren will get a share and my wife will get her share."

The balance of the money will be deposited in a bank. "We hope to use that for a trip to Europe after we retire," Glotzl said.

Masks for Real

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)— Two men and two women artists here estimate they may frighten at least a million people this Halloween. With their faces, they say, they can't fail.

The foursome, designers for Hallmark cards, created Halloween "fright" masks by photographing their own faces. These are the first masks ever produced that reproduce the faces of actual people.

Veteran Stars Busy In Film Westerns

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The film industry in recent years has been playing a version of musical chairs to keep veteran stars busy.

A better name might be musical saddles.

It's lots of fun, especially for the stars. They can't lose, and the stakes are high. Who could ask for more?

There once was a time when a Gary Cooper or an Errol Flynn could carry a Western on his own broad shoulders. But we have entered an era of bigness, and producers believe it takes two male stars to pull the patrons in. And so studios have come up with endless combinations for box-office appeal.

Two new combos are before the cameras now. James Stewart and Dean Martin are shooting it out at Bracketville, Tex., in "Bandolero." And Yul Brynner and Robert Mitchum are galloping over the Spanish countryside for "Villa Rides."

Last year Mitchum teamed up with John Wayne in "El Dorado" and with Kirk Douglas and Richard Widmark in "The Way West." Next February the indefatigable Mitch combines Gregory Peck, James Stewart, with Dean Martin in "Five Card Stud." See how the game is played?

Tallest man in the musical saddles game is John Wayne, of course. Besides the above-mentioned Mitchum, Wayne has combined with Dean Martin in "Rio Bravo" and "The Sons of Katie Elder," with James Stewart in "The Man Who Shot Liberty Valance," with Kirk Douglas in "War Wagon," William Holden in "The Horse Soldiers," etc.

James Stewart is no slouch, either. As noted, he has been paired with Wayne and Martin, plus Richard Widmark in "Two Rode Together" and his old pal Henry Fonda in the upcoming "Firecreek."

Kirk Douglas has combined with Wayne, Widmark, Mitchum, plus Burt Lancaster in "Gunfight at OK Corral," Anthony Quinn in "Last Train From Gun Hill" and Rock Hudson in "The Last Sunset."

Nobody knows how the game of musical saddles will end. The trend continues toward bigness, and the ultimate may be something like:

The billing will be alphabetical, of course.

There's only one trouble with the game. If the picture's no good, no combination of stars can save it. That was proved with "Horse Soldiers," "The Last Sunset," "The Way West" and others. And it could also be true of "The Thundering Herd."

Low Bidder

Low bid for work at the Catskill Reformatory, Napanoch, was opened Wednesday at the New York State Office of General Services of the Executive Department, Albany.

L. P. Kent Corp. of Bronx, was low bidder at $17,430 for construction work on replacement of roof, Building 20. Two bids were submitted.

Mohawk Plans Washington to Albany Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mohawk Airlines and Allegheny Airlines have been granted permission by the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) to provide service between Albany, N.Y. and Washington.

The CAB, however, ordered Mohawk Wednesday to serve White Plains on all flights between Albany and Washington.

The tentative starting date is Jan. 6, 1968, and two round-trips will be provided daily, a Mohawk spokesman said.

Allegheny flights between Albany and Washington will also have one intermediate stop when serving Washington through Dullas or National airports but may operate nonstop between Albany and Baltimore's Friendship Airport.

The CAB made the awards for an indefinite period.

Lions Slate Sight Clinic For October 28

Kingston Lions Club today announced that it plans to hold a Glaucoma Detection Clinic Saturday, Oct. 28, between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Sponsored jointly by the Kingston Lions Club and the local chapter of the Hudson Valley Optometric Society, the clinic will be held in back of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association building on Fair Street as part of the Health Fair.

Howard Stauble, co-chairman of the Lions Sight Conservation Committee, said that "it is important for persons over 40 years of age to be tested for glaucoma, which is one of the leading causes of blindness. If undetected, glaucoma may cause blindness without warning, but if it is discovered, it can be treated without loss of sight by the regular use of eye drops."

David Kline, Kingston optometrist and member of the Lions Club, will be conducting the tests along with Harry R. LeFever Jr., Kingston optometrist, both members of the local chapter of the Hudson Valley Optometric Society.

Lions Clubs throughout the world are known for their activities in connection with the blind. More and more Lions Clubs are conducting glaucoma clinics as a part of their sight conservation programs.

If glaucoma is detected in a person during the clinic, he is then referred to his own eye doctor for further examination and treatment.

The Lions Club has also announced transportation to the clinic for persons unable to provide their own transportation. Anyone needing transportation may call Stauble.

Saugerties Teachers Group Will Be Bargaining Agent

The Saugerties Teachers Association has requested that it be recognized as the negotiating agent for teachers within the system.

By-laws which provide for such recognition were adopted Monday by the Saugerties Board of Education.

They cover procedures to be followed by the board in implementing the Taylor Act, officially known as "Public Employes Fair Employment Act" which became effective Sept. 1, 1967. It guarantees public employes the right of organization and representation for collective negotiations with their employers.

The by-laws were passed following months of study and meetings on the subject by both administration and the board, according to Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Dexter O. Arnold.

The board also set the date of Nov. 6, 7 p. m. for the sale of the Cedar Grove School. Recently 23 persons attended a meeting of qualified voters and were unanimous in their wish to sell the site and the school. The sale will be held at the school.

Building committee chairman Arthur Simmons reported progress on the Glasco and Mt. Marion additions. Architectural or general construction drawings and designs for the Glasco addition are 80 per cent complete, plumbing, heating and ventilating designs, 25 per cent complete, and electrical work, 50 per cent complete. The Mt. Marion architectural designs are 85 per cent complete, plumbing, heating ventilating designs are 75 per cent complete, and the electrical designs, 50 per cent complete.

Additional appointments, recommended by Dr. Arnold were approved. Fred Seither will coach seventh and eighth grade basketball teams during the coming season and Paul Larose the ninth grade basketball team. Miss Nancy Wharman will supervise the junior high school cheerleading. Relieving Fred Seither as coach of the wrestling team will be Lawrence Dake. He served as co-captain of the Colgate University wrestling team during his senior year at that institution. In his capacity as director of athletics, Seither has recommended that Dake serve in this capacity in order that he may give his attention to the seventh and eight grade basketball squads.

The following additional appointments were made: Edna Wittenbecker, teacher aide; Melitta Dederick, food service helper; and James Bourguignon, cleaner.

Dr. Arnold reported that 69 pupils are attending the Board of Cooperative Educational Services vocational program.

Business manager Gerald Snyder was authorized to accept low bids for roofing the administration building from the J-A Roofing Company at $3,500, and for blacktopping an area at the high school by J. Mayone, Jr. at $1,995. No response was received from bidders on the brick veneering of the garage at the High School and it will be necessary to rebid in the near future.

Democratic Pre-Election Dinner Dance

The Town of Saugerties Democratic Party will have a pre-election dinner-dance Saturday, Oct. 21 at 8 p. m. at the Flamingo Restaurant.

Assemblyman Joseph St. Lawrence from Rockland County and delegate to the Constitutional Convention will be the guest speaker. His topic will be the constitution, to be voted on November 7.

All county officers and candidates are expected to attend, as well as the officers and candidates from the town. Music will be furnished by Vince Edwards, and Saugerties Flappers will present, "The Roaring Twenties Review."

Tickets may be purchased from any of the local Democratic candidates, committeemen or inspectors.

VFW Auxiliary Aiding Hospital

Veterans at Castle Point Hospital are in for a treat later this month as plans were formulated last week for the annual "fish pond" during the Halloween carnival in the hospital's recreation hall. It will be conducted by members of the Ladies Auxiliary, Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, VFW. The local group will also participate in the two bedside bingos slated for Nov. 8 and Dec. 13.

Mrs. Alice Benson, Mrs. Elsie Alte and Mrs. Mary Aiello were ceremoniously received into the Auxiliary and given their obligation by the chaplain, Mrs. Marie Parks. Mrs. Janice Dengler, president, presented each with her pin and explained the significance of it. Mrs. Benson is the wife of the present VFW Post Commander, Max Benson.

A Christmas article sale will take place in the former Delson building, Main Street, Thursday and Friday, Nov. 16 and 17 from 9 to 5 each day. Handmade novelties for Christmas gift giving and decorating will be featured. A day long demonstration of liquid embroidery will also take place.

Girl Scout Troop 192 will be presented its own American Flag Tuesday, Oct. 24 at 7:30 p. m. by the auxiliary.

Reservations for the annual Christmas bus trip to New York City Dec. 9 are now being accepted by Mrs. Mildred Sperl, Mrs. Dorothy Wood and Mrs. Mary Lou Dengler. The bus will leave Saugerties at 7 a. m. from the Exchange Hotel and return at 10 p. m. Deadline for reservations is Dec. 1.

Members are asked to make special note of the change in the meeting nights to the first Wednesday in November and in December on the usual meeting nights.

Grim Factors at Work On Highway, Chief Warns

There is no such thing as legislating "instant safety" on our streets and highways, according to Chief of Police Gordon Keeley of Saugerties.

"The new federal safety regulations which establish vehicle standards and call for greatly expanded safety programs at the state, county and local levels are certain to bring improvement in the death rate, but it won't come soon," the chief said. "And there are other grim factors at work which convince me that things are going to get a lot worse on our streets and highways before they get better."

Among the factors listed by the chief which will make it more hazardous on the highways are the following: More young drivers, higher speeds, popularity of motorcycles, increasing travel, alcohol consumption and failure to use seat belts.

"All of these elements at work in our traffic stream are almost certain to push our death toll upward in the years immediately ahead," Chief Keeley said.

"We are approaching the critical winter months when normal driving hazards are compounded by the weather.

"Reduced visibility and inadequate traction make it tougher for drivers to stay out of trouble."

He urged motorists to study the following tips for safe winter driving.

1. Get the "feel" of the road by accelerating carefully to see if wheels spin; or brake gently to see if the skid. Reduce speed accordingly.
2. Increase your following distance. It takes three to nine times as far to stop on snow and ice as on dry pavement.
3. "Pump" your brakes to slow or stop—don't jam them on. An intermittent pumping action keeps the wheels rolling and helps maintain steering control.
4. Have good tires with good treads. Better yet, use snow tires.
5. Always carry reinforced tire chains in the trunk of your car.
6. Keep your windshield and windows clear at all times. Be sure that your windshield washer solution contains adequate anti-freeze.

"These are practical down-to-earth recommendations," Chief Keeley said. "I urge every motorist to heed them."

Legion Aux. Plans Events

Committe reports were heard and plans made for coming events at a recent meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary of Lamouree Hackett Unit 72 with President Edith Shaffer presiding.

Reports were received from Catherine Teetsel, child welfare; Anne Johnson, chaplain; Edith Shaffer, rehabilitation; Catherine Van Gaasbeck, publicity and Alice Kolano, community service.

It was announced that the Third District Fall Conference will be Friday at Kozel's Restaurant, Rt. 9-H, Columbia County. A Halloween party and dance will be held Saturday, Oct. 28.

CYO Basketball Field Day Sat.

Final plans for a CYO basketball field day were announced by Ernest Galinis, athletic committee chairman of St. Mary of The Snow CYO. The event will be held on Saturday, Oct. 21, at 10 a. m. in the Roger Donlon auditorium.

The contest is open to members of 6, 7, and 8th grades both boys and girls, and will consist of dribbling, free throws, layups, and other skills applicable to basketball.

Prizes will be awarded and the winners in the free throw contest will represent St. Mary of The Snow at the Ulster County competition Nov. 18 in Kingston.

Donald Longtoe, executive committee chairman, announced two recent appointments to the committee. They are: Peggy Karashay, cultural committee, and Mrs. Mary Coons, social committee.

Investiture into the CYO will take place on Sunday, Oct. 22, at 2 p. m. in St. Mary's Church. The Rev. Joseph F. Hamilton, CYO moderator, has announced that all members must be present in order to particpate in the activities for the coming year.

Other programs dates have been made known by the executive committee and they are: Oct. 27, Teenage Federation Barn Dance; Oct. 28, Halloween Dance; Oct. 29, Communion Breakfast in conjunction with the opening of CYO Week; Nov. 5, 6, 7, CYO benefit movie at the Orpheum Theatre; Nov. 12, checker tournament. Final plans for these events will be announced at a later date.

Senior Citizen Club Elects New Officers

Officers were elected at the last meeting of the Senior Citizens Club. Mrs. Frances Bayer was named president, Mrs. Thelma Decker, chairman and Mrs. Frederick Kukuk, assistant treasurer.

Members have been making greeting card folders for children's homes and the rehabilitation of discarded toys. The toys will be distributed by the center at Christmas. Toy donations may be made at the center, 81 Partition Street between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Senior Citizen meetings usually feature entertainment, group singing, refreshments, speakers, films and slides. No dues are required. Refreshments are donated.

Jayncees Raise Funds for Scholarships

"Dollars For Scholars" is being initiated in Saugerties by the Jayncees. The project calls for the forming of a chapter of the Citizens' Schoalrship Foundation of America, Inc. The organization's purpose is to raise money for local scholarships.

Local service organizations are being contacted for help in the formation of an executive committee. The Lions Club and Jaycees have indicated support and other groups are invited.

Jayncees is providing speaking representatives who will explain the underteaking to interested organizations. Mrs. Barbara Buchle and Mrs. Mary Pardonner are in charge.

Paint Windows For Halloween

Saugerties Jaycees combined with the local merchants announce their first Halloween painting contest.

The contest is open to all art students age 12 to 17, in both the Saugerties Central School System and St. Mary's School.

Students must register in groups of two, three or four with a window being assigned each group. The assignment of windows will be made according to order of registration. The painting sets necessary will be supplied by the Jaycees.

The painting will take place Saturday, Oct. 28, between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Judging and awarding of prizes will start at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Prizes will be awarded for the most artistic, in 12-14 age group; the most artistic, in 15-17 age group; the most original, the scariest, in 12-14 age group and the scariest, in 15-17 age group.

Fuses Are Safety Valves; Don't Nullify Their Use

By MR. FIX

You burn more lights and watch more television in the winter. In the summer, air conditioners are running and the refrigerator works harder. There isn't a time of the year that electricity isn't being used heavily in the home.

Overloading of electric lines is a problem that can occur any time of the year. Fortunately, your home is equipped with a safety valve of sorts, a fuse.

When there is a short circuit or an overload, more current flows through the wires than they were destined to handle. When this happens, a fuse blows out or a circuit breaker opens. The current is turned off and the wires don't get a chance to overheat.

Fuses vary in appearance but basically they all work the same. A metal strip inside has a lower melting point than the wire it is designed to protect. Fuses are rated to handle a particular current, starting at 15 amps generally and on up.

When the current goes over this amount, the metal strip melts and the fuse blows out. Using a heavier fuse is dangerous and completely negates the value of fusing. The copper wire itself will be dangerously hot before the fuse blows out.

Never use a larger fuse than the one you should use. Never use a penny, scrap of wire or tinfoil instead of a new fuse.

Keep extra fuses on hand. Most are of the plug type which screws in. These have transparent tops so that you can see when the wire inside has melted. Fuse plugs are available which are designed to handle a temporary overload—such as the starting of a motor—without blowing. You can recognize these by the spring-like wire under the window.

The other common type of fuse is the cartridge, generally—but not always—for heavier circuits.

Fuses such as those used for electric ranges are always the cartridge type. A cartridge fuse simply snaps into a holder in the fuse box.

Fuse replacement is easy if you plan ahead. Know the location of the fuse box. Know which current each fuse protects. Make a list and paste it in the fuse box, inside the cover. Turn on all the lights, make use of all outlets, and remove one fuse at a time. This will help you locate the circuit for each fuse.

When a particular fuse blows out, you will then know on which circuit there was trouble.

Trouble is generally caused by overloading too many electrical lines on a single circuit. Occasionally on appliance or lamp may be at fault. Once in a while the trouble may be in the house wiring itself.

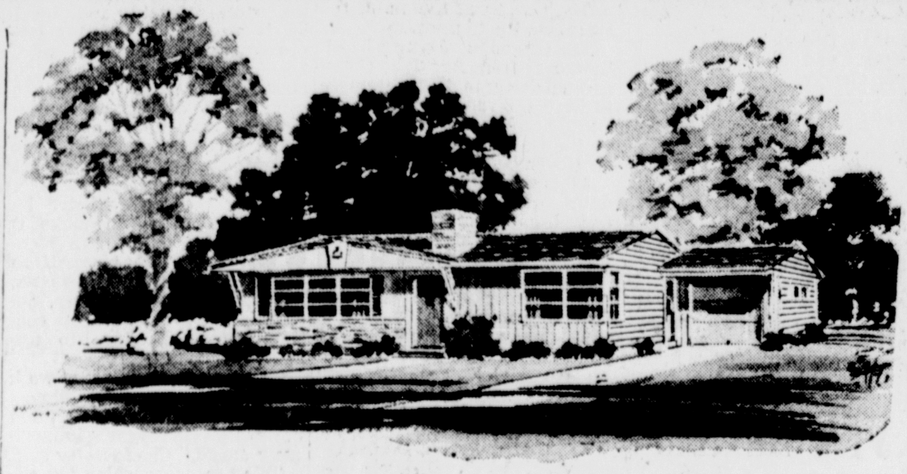

When a fuse blows, disconnect all items on that circuit. With a new fuse in, turn on lights and and connect appliances one at a time. If a particular item is at fault, the fuse will blow out as soon as you plug it in.

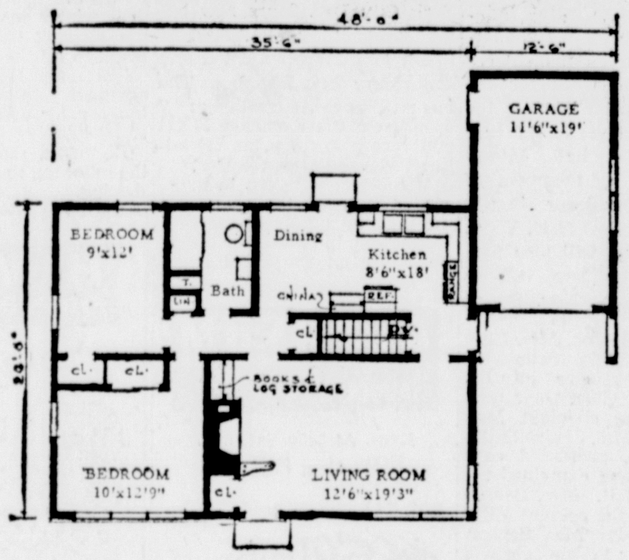

If everything is on, and in a few minutes the fuse pops again, then it was simply a matter of overloading. Eliminate something.

If the fuse blows out before you have turned everything on, the trouble is the wiring and you'd better call in an electrician.

If all the lights go out, then the main fuse has blown out. Most homes are protected with fuse boxes having several large cartridge fuses and many smaller fuses.

Economy Two-Bedroom Julep: Retirement Home

By JACK McELENEY

Today's feature, "The Julep," is a combination of rooms to fit the needs of small home requirements. The kitchen is fairly large and arranged for efficiency, which takes the drudgery out of meal preparations.

Bedrooms are spacious and isolated from the rest of the house to insure quiet privacy, and the living room, which has actual dimensions of 12'-6" by 19'-3", has a large corner picture window for effective light source plus a fireplace with adjoining bookcase and woodbox.

The front vestibule is created by a decorator screen wih guest closet on the left.

Of note is the one-car garage, positioned to the rear, adding interest to the overall design, and at the same time providing sheltered access to the side entrance.

"The Julep" living area has 870 square feet plus 250 square feet for the garage.

Building plans are available at moderate cost by using the accompanying coupon, and show how "The Julep" may be built of frame, brick or block.

The Weeders Guide

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

It wasn't surprising that motorists stopped and climbed the sloping lawn to the side of the house to ask the name of the spectacular, tall plant with the big purple ball atop.

It was allium giganteum.

This summer we had four in bloom. This member of the onion family, sometimes called Jewel of Tibet, bloomed for a month. The bright purple ball sits on a plus-four-foot, sturdy stalk that emerges from among long, pineapple-like leaves.

Allium giganteum sparked much interest when we wrote about it many months ago.

The big bulb is planted in the fall, as tulips are, but deeper, since the bulbs are larger. The bulbs may be dug up, dried and stored in a cool place any time after the purple cluster of florets open, or when it fades. The bulb does not have to be left in the ground to ripen, we were told by Cees van der Mey of Lisse, Holland, whose firm ships thousands abroad. (Van der Mey surprised us with a visit on an early, cold spring evening.)

When we dug up our bulbs, we found that they had divided into two or three each. This means we'll have an even more spectacular show next summer, but we'll plant them with a better background — near a building or wall to show them off.

One reader asked about drying the stalk and flower. Van der Mey said he had never done this, but thought it would be right to let the flowers dry on the stem if it was a dry flowering season; otherwise to cut the flower when it had faded only slightly, and hang it upside down in a garage or other dry place.

Van der Mey recommended treating the ground with PCMB before replanting in the same area.

Dr. J. Victor Miller of Greenwich, N.Y., said he left his bulbs in the ground through a winter of deep snow and they survived with vigor.

Dr. Miller received his first bulb, unlabeled, from his grandson in 1963 and planted it. Shortly after, a small stalk appeared, it shriveled, and it happened again the next year after developing a few leaves and an eight-inch stalk.

Then he saw the allium pictured in a flower catalog and bought two bulbs. In the spring of 1966, all three grew to about 4½ feet, one with three stalks and the others with one each.

"They were a show by themselves in my perrenial border," Dr. Miller said. "Real conversation pieces. Why the first one waited three years to bloom I do not know, unless it wanted companions."

Just as Dr. Miller did, we planted the bulbs 7 to 8 inches deep. They should be planted about two feet apart because of the leaf spread.

There are many other alliums. One is aflatunense; another is albopilosum. But we do not know of any as spectacular as allium giganteum.

No One Can Afford To Buy Unseen Property

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeature Writer

"What do you think of buying land sight-unseen?" asks a working wife, who says that her husband has a friend who has a friend who wants to sell a piece of vacation property at a loss "because he needs money."

"It would require a three-day automobile trip and a loss of pay since we have had our vacation. The deal is supposed to be terrific. We don't know much about the area except that it has trees, good fishing and is a good place for retirement."

Well — if one can afford to lose the money involved, one can take a chance. If the money represents a lifetime's savings, it would be better to lose three days' pay and see it.

If it must be bought sight-unseen, a reliable real estate agent in the area should be asked to check out a few things. These include:

How is the land or lot situated? Corner? Narrow? Wide? Road frontage?

Is there water on the land? Utilities available? Are there animals in the vicinity?

Does the town have building regulations that would prohibit you from building or unloading property at the price you must ask?

Ask about the town code restrictions. Some towns regulate these codes so that vacation-type buildings can't be constructed. Sometimes the type of architecture is specified, where the house must be located on a property and so on. You don't want to buy a piece of land three days from home that will be good only for picnics.

How far is it to the nearest neighbor? Telephone? Garage? Is it a likely spot for a thruway? Has there been talk of new roads?

And don't forget to inquire about the taxes.

* * *

One lucky woman has it made. She is about to have the house of her dreams because her husband is the builder. Wonder of wonders, he has asked her to specify what she'd like in her new house.

"But now that he's asked me to give him a list of ideas, I can't think of anything but an indoor barbecue, and don't even know whether it is worth the expense. Are there other things that aren't normally included in houses that might be useful? I'd appreciate any ideas...."

The first thing to decide is whether you will get enough use out of an indoor barbecue, even if he wants to do the work. Or could the spot be used for something else. The most satisfactory barbecues are those set into the floor away from the wall. There are certain dangers in building a barbecue next to an outer wall and it is all involved with grease. If it can be built so that the grease does not become trapped in fan or hood or tile on the inner wall, fine. But many people who have had these barbecues in the early days of their popularity ceased to use them because of the large accumulation of grease.

A built-in ironing board is a great convenience. These are not often found even in new houses, probably because builders have been told that women don't want to be confined to one ironing place. But it could be useful for quick pressing. And if one wants to do a lot of ironing sitting down, one could have a spare board for such occasions. If you build in the board, plan a section above it to hold the iron.

A clothes chute that could pass dirty clothes right to the utility room would prove to be a great convenience. If he won't go for that, try him on a built-in clothes hamper.

A revolving garbage bin in the kitchen that would permit the garbage man to remove the pail from the outside of the house would get rid of that messy little carrying job, especially in bad weather.

An adjoining revolving bin might be used for deliveries for anything — parcels, laundry, groceries.

Predictions are that bathrooms in new houses will be bigger, accommodating such things as exercise machines, hair dryers, wig stands, facial saunas and other beauty and health gadgets. It's an idea.

A closet for towels, tissues, bath oils, soaps, built into the bathroom is another great asset.

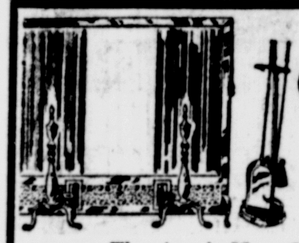

A well-planned clothes closet can take up less space than a closet planned in a haphazard way. Put it on paper, planning it so that there is room for hats, shoes, pocketbooks. There could be small drawers to hold accessories — costume jewelry, belts and so on.

The average man, builder or not, usually doesn't see the necessity of so much closet space. A man's own paraphernalia is limited, whereas the lady of the house must worry about storing everything from antimacassars to xylophones, besides her own clothes.

Major Rec Complex Planned for Onteora

John R. Parete, a Kingston stockbroker, has announced plans for the proposed construction of a major recreation complex in the Onteora area.

The preliminary plans for the project, which is estimated to cost more than one quarter million dollars, include a golf course, large smimming pool, tennis courts, riding stables, club house with exercise gymnasium and lodge. The winter activities will include skiing, tobagganing, ice skating and hunting. The preliminary plans also call for an enclosed pool, which can be used for year-round enjoyment. There are several sites in the Onteora area presently under consideration.

Parete, a resident of Boiceville, commenting on the project said "The availability of good recreation is a determining factor in the uniform growth of a community and a prime influence in attracting new investment for a community. The lack of suitable recreation facilities is unhealthy for the existing community framework and severely distorts a community's potential."

The project is being steered in its preliminary stages by a number of local business and civic leaders. They include Peter Tosi, Boiceville postmaster; F. William Sheehan, Wittenberg insurance man; Bert Mayer, Woodstock architect; John Malloy, West Shokan officer of the Kingston Trust Co.; Kent Reeves, director of The Ashokan campus of the State University of New Paltz; Edward Wiederspiel, Shokan, of Wiedy Furniture; Ronald Laduke, Shokan, manager of the Goodyear Store; Rudy Frank, Shandaken and past president of the Phoenicia Rotary. Additional members of the steering committee from the Woodstock and Shandaken area will be named. This is a privately planned project, which is independant of town government. However, local governmental bodies are encouraged to actively participate in its development.

In conclusion, Parete said "the major impetus for this program will result from the interest generated by the people in the area. Recreation is certainly needed and must be provided."

There are over 30 types of pneumococcus, the germ which causes pneumonia.

By JEAN F. DOLAN

A Mt. Marion youth who started flying at the age of 15 is distinguishing himself with a "can do" spirit and flight know-how in Vietnam.

Awarded DFC

Twenty-year-old Jeffrey P. Borges, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Borges of 27 Country Club Drive, Mt. Marion, is the holder of the Air Medal with 21 clusters, a Letter of Commendation and the Distinguished Flying Cross.

Aircraft Commander of C Company, 227th Helicopter Assault Battalion, 1st Air Cavalry Division, Warrant Officer Borges is serving in Central Highlands of Vietnam.

Soloed at 17

Holder of commercial helicopter license and tactical instrument rating, Borges began his civilian pilot training at Stormville at the tender age of 15. Prior to entering service he held a student-pilot license (fixed wing) and had soloed at the Rhinebeck Aerodrome at the age of 17. His flight instructor was David R. Fox of West Hurley, noted World War I aircraft devotee who has worked closely with Cole Palen in restoration and exhibition of the early craft.

In Vietnam, Borges has distinguished himself with heroism and gallantry in one of the most precarious arms of the war—that of the assault helicopter division.

He received the Distinguished Flying Cross for bravely evacuating wounded soldiers under fire with disregard of his own safety. According to the citation which accompanied the medal, "Warrant Officer Borges distinguished himself by heroism in action" June 20, 1967.

Details of Action

Details of the action were described as follows:

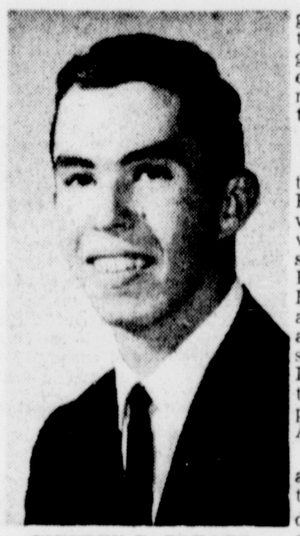

"While flying his support mission in the Nui Mieu mountains, Republic of Vietnam, Warrant Officer Borges received a call from a heavily engaged infantry company requesting the medical evacuation of several casualties, including the commanding officer. Realizing that the men were critically wounded and that there would be a delay before medical evacuation helicopters could get to the area he volunteered to undertake the mission . . ."

Which he did with "extraordinary heroism and gallantry."

His first month in the thick of Vietnam aerial combat earned him the Air Medal. He made more than 25 missions during that time and was lauded for "his outstanding degree of professionalism and devotion to duty" in the finest traditions of the service.

The Letter of Commendation was issued in July for Borges' vital service in the vicinity of Dak To.

The Infantry Commander, William J. Buchanan who sent the Letter of Commendation cited Borges for his "high degree of professional competence" while giving support to ground forces. His "wholehearted cooperation . . . was magnificent," contributing greatly to the success of the mission.

JEFFREY P. BORGES

Tradition in Family

Military devotion and competence are a tradition in the Borges family. His father is a veteran of 28 years Army service. He is still in active reserve with 854th Engineers Battalion at Staff Sgt. Dietz Reserve Center in Kingston and holds the rank of lieutenant colonel. The elder Borges served throughout World War II and was awarded three battle stars for Normandy Campaign, Battle of the Bulge and Asiatic-Pacific Theater.

Jeffrey's sisters are Valerie, a teacher in Red Hook Elementary School and Denise, a student in Saugerties Junior High School.

Letters of Commendation honoring students for their high performance on the 1967 National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test have been awarded to five senior students at John A. Coleman High School, Kingston.

Those named commended students are: Linda Hoffay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Hoffay, 160 Tremper Avenue; Elizabeth Ocskay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Ocskay, 176 Wall Street; Bernadette Schiller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cletus Schiller, 23 Old Ford Road, New Paltz; Catherine Tucker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tucker, Hilltop Drive, Kingston; and Christine Woods, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Woods, 44 Hanratty Street, Kingston.

They are among 40,000 students in the United States who scored in the upper two per cent of those who will graduate from high school in 1968. The Commended students rank just below the 14,000 Semi-finalists announced in September by the National Merit Scholastic Corporation.

DINNER CALVES LIVER

The most important — both as regards its volume and excellence — of the internal of all mammals, but more particularly of the calf. Lamb's liver is rarely served as such, but is included in various garnishings; sheep's liver is of poor texture, but may be prepared for the table like calf's liver; ox's liver is coarse and a second rate substitute for calf's liver; pig's liver is used mostly in the making of stuffing and sausage meat. Fresh calf's liver is by far the best and it lends itself to a great number of culinary preparations.

Little Known Cancer Facts

Why does one woman go regularly for physical checkups while another goes only when ill?

In the field of health this tendency to be different is perhaps best seen in the attitude of the American public toward cancer, a dangerous killer that must be brought under control.

Cancer often gives very definite warning signals. They are: 1. unusual bleeding or discharge; 2. a lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere; 3. a sore that does not heal; 4. change in bowel or bladder habits; 5. hoarseness or cough; 6. indigestion or difficulty in swallowing; 7. change in a wart or mole.

In many cases, cancers can be cured when it is possible to remove or destroy all of the cancerous cells existing in a patient's body. This is accomplished either by surgery or radiation. Some forms of cancer can be treated by drugs. Early diagnosis, followed by speed of treatment, is the proper course for an individual to take to fight off the dread disease.

An American Cancer Society survey constantly brought out that women were more aware of cancer and its signals and the need for taking regular cancer checkups. And of these women, it was invariably the college educated and the upper middle income bracket groups that led the field.

PAP TEST EFFECTIVE

In the survey made concerning the famous Pap test, 67 percent of the women queried said they have had such a test, proof that this life-saving technique is gaining wide acceptance. The effectiveness of the Pap test can be seen from the decline of the death rate from uterine cancer over the past 25 years.

While there is widespread recognition that cancer plays no favorites and can strike anyone, people underestimate the likelihood of getting cancer and have little knowledge about how many people get cancer.

According to the American Cancer Society, cancer will strike about 25 percent of the population, or one person in every four, during their lifetimes.

People often fail to understand that cancer may be beginning even though the individual feels fine. Physical examinations including cancer tests can detect the disease early and thus it can be "stopped before it really gets started."

RECOVERY GOOD

On the matter of recovering from cancer, about half the population, an ACS probe showed, believed that if a person gets cancer he has a "fairly good" chance of recovery.

What's the attitude of the public towards cigarette smoking? Half the population of the U.S. continues to smoke cigarettes despite the warning notices on cigarette packs and medical reports of the Cancer Society and Federal government researchers. A tribute to the effectiveness of the campaign is notable, however, in the sharp drop in cigarette smoking among doctors. Only half as many MD's smoke today as compared with 10 years ago. It has been clearly established that most cancer of the lungs can be avoided simply by foregoing cigarette smoking.

CHECKUPS IMPORTANT

Why don't people go for checkups? Fear plays a part here. One person gave as a reason for not going that "the doctor might find something wrong. What you don't know, won't hurt you, is my motto."

The whole series, based on a nationwide survey undertaken by the American Cancer Society, points out that it is not eonugh just to remind people to go for cancer checkups. The duty of the ACS is to inject strong reasons into any campaign or programs being put together to urge people to have checkups. These are the first lines of defense against one of the nation's most murderous killers.

Doing the Right Thing

HOW MERCENARY CAN PEOPLE BE?

Dear Mrs. Post: For some time now we have been undecided about money gifts at a wedding. Please tell me what is the minimum amount. I was told that 20 dollars is the least we can give.—Mrs. J. Schaeffer.

Dear Mrs. Schaeffer: To set maximums or minimums on a sum given as a gift is against every principal of etiquette. The amount you spend should depend on your affection for the receiver, and the closeness of the tie between you. In some groups it is apparently accepted that one gives five or 10 or 20 dollars as a gift. If it is so in your area, you must go along with the custom or risk criticism, but to say "You must give thus-and-so" is all wrong.

Engaged Twice to the Same Man

Dear Mrs. Post: I broke my engagement recently, after having announced it a year before in several newspapers. Now I am engaged to the same young man again and I don't know what the proper etiquette is. I did not publish any notice about the breaking of our engagement. Should I write notes to close friends and relatives to explain or should I just send them invitations to the wedding?—Barbara

Dear Barbara: Since you published nothing about the breaking of your engagement, don't publicly announce your re-engagement. Write or call close friends and relatives who know of the break-up and tell them you are going to be married after all. Then send out wedding invitations and announcements to others in the usual way.

Tipping At A Motel

Dear Mrs Post: I always read your column and agree with you most of the time. However, twice lately you have said that it is not customary nor necessary to tip when staying at a motel. I wonder why. The maid has to vacuum the rug, clean the bathroom, change the beds, etc. We stayed in a motel recently where a card in the room reminded the occupant that the maid earned and expected a gratuity and not to forget it.—Clara C.

Dear Clara: One of the main reasons that motels have gained such tremendous popularity is that they have freed customers from the worry and expense of tipping. There are few people who expect to tip for a one night stop at a motel, and I do not think the management has any right to tell the customer what to do. If they feel their help is underpaid, they should raise the wages and stick to the no-tip custom I do maintain that a customer should tip for a longer stay or any special service.

Who do you tip? When, and how much? You will find the answers to these questions in Elizabeth L. Post's booklet "The Etiquette of Tipping." To get a copy, send twenty-five cents in coin to cover booklet and mailing expenses, to Elizabeth L. Post in care of this newspaper.

BRISK FALL WEATHER inspires many to take jaunts into the country to see leaves turn to red and gold. For such trips it would be wise to pack a first aid mini-kit in your gear bag. Such a kit is perfect for cuts and scrapes miniskirted hikers are prone to. They contain cream, plastic strips to cover scratches, gauze pads, adhesive tape and a supply of aspirins.

The Country Wife

By DOROTHY VAN DOREN

Two men I know recently made the tape for a television show that will be broadcast in December. In the studio with them were producers, assistant-producers, engineers, electricians, the wonderful man in the control room who watches versions on three screens and instantly decides which is the best, and I do not know how many other persons with some share in the event. It was a rather modest half-hour show and the two men who were to be televised were not world famous though they are by no means without repute. Since the broadcast would be in color, there were even more lights than usual, more powerful ones, more blinding. Probably more expert electricians, also.

The fee the two performers received for their half hour was not excessive, but it was exactly one tenth of what the show cost, the lights, the producers, the etceteras, and of course the overhead.

I thought this was really a triumph of man against technology. Think of the seesaw: on one end all the paraphenalia of a big TV studio; on the other two men, sitting quietly in chairs, talking to each other. No scenery, no props, no soft music, no beautiful girls, no performing dog. The human intellect versus the machine.

It is true that without the machine the voices of the two men could not be broadcast over the nation. But it is equally true that without the voices, the machinery would have nothing to do.

At first I was inclined to resent the disparity between the cost of the show itself and the fee paid the talkers. There are many shows which cost twenty times as much and a large part of it goes to the actors. On second thought I do not envy the highly paid performers. Performing acts — the song, the dance, the quip — cost money. The mind, the mind of man, is something else again, something without price. A man saying what is in his mind, saying it to another man, basing it on the experience of a lifetime, the books he has read, the people he has known, the sorrow and the joy that have come to him —all the technology of our famous technological age cannot create this. It can only reproduce it, with color and sound, after the mind has caused it to be audible.

It is worth remembering something like this when we get too worried about machines taking over and running our lives. In fact not a button would be pushed, not a connection would be made, not a wheel would turn without a hand and a brain behind it ordering it to do so. Man is still not only the maker but the director of the show.

Dear Heoise:
I like to sew and often buy patterns and material long before I'm ready to use them.
To store my collection of projects, I bought a largt plastic trash can with a cover..
I wrap each length of material in a package, and include the pattern, and notions. Then I ject, I bought a large plastic mark the package "dress," "skirt," etc., and put them all in the can with a few moth balls for extra protection.
Now it's easy to select my next sewing project and storage is no problem.

The Well Child

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

Since writing, in answer to a nursing mother, that contraceptive pills would not be harmful to her or her baby I have received a communication from La Leche League International which states that these pills should not be taken by nursing mothers. The chief reason is that they dry up the mother's milk supply. The drug may also appear in the milk and cause enlargements of the infant's breasts. For these reasons other means of contraception should be used as long as the mother is nursing her baby.

Q—A neighbor boy, 8, is always hitting his 7-year-old sister very hard in the kidney region with his fists. The father says this is doing no harm. What do you think?

A—Heavy blows to the kidney region may cause blood to appear in the urine — not necessarily gross blood but blood that can be detected by a chemical test. Regardless of whether or not this boy is causing physical injury to his sister, he is developing an abnormal behavior pattern that will be hard to overcome unless it is checked promptly and completely. This type of behavior can hurt him psychologically and socially.

Q—My aunt says you don't think it proper for girls in high school to take showers together. What are your reasons?

A—I don't recall making such a statement and would be interested to know what reasons prompted someone else to make it. Boys take showers together without suffering any evil consequences, and in some highly civilized countries entire families bathe together without benefit of swim suits. It all depends on what you are used to.

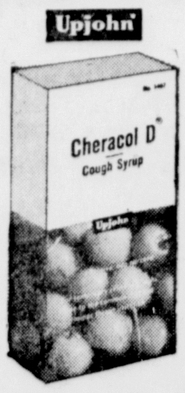

Q—Our son was born with hypospadias. He has had several operations to corrcet it. What effect does this condition have on the child.

A—In this congenital defect in boys there is a failure of the urethral groove of the embryo to close. As a result the urethral opening may lie anywhere in the penis short of the normal location. The condition should be corrected in early childhood to prevent your son from developing a feeling of inferiority.

FRAN TARKENTON SAYS:

Fleaflicker Play Study in Madness

The fleaflicker (or double reverse-and-pass) that the Giants used to beat Pittsburgh 27-24 last Sunday may have seemed like a bit of madness.

But it was controlled madness based on a sound principle. The basis was to take advantage of the threat of Homer Jones's speed.

First, though, the situation. Less than two minutes remaining in the game. We were losing 24-20 and had the ball, first down on our 41. I handed the ball off to halfback Ernie Koy and stepped back. Then Homer tossed back to me and I threw downfield to Joe Morrison for the touchdown.

THIS WASN'T A DESPERATION play. It's something we've practiced every day for the last three weeks. We call it the Well Special for Wellington Mara, the Giants' president, who suggested it. There were times the last three weeks when I nearly called it in a game, but decided not to. It's got to be the right time and the right place.

Our fleaflicker is just an offshoot of the Homer Jones end-around, which has worked very well twice this season. The Steelers' coach, Bill Austin, called it a "high school play." Does it really matter, though, what play you use—as long as you have 27 points on the board and they have 24

ACTUALLY, EVERY TEAM in the league uses it sometime or other during the season. Detroit, for example, may use it several times a year.

I used it twice with the Vikings last year. Once it worked and once it did not. Against the Colts, I handed off to Bill Brown and dropped back. He went up to the line, then turned and tossed back to me. I completed a 60-yard pass to Bill Flatley.

The one that failed was about the wildest, helter-skelter fleaflicker imaginable. Later in the last quarter the Vikings trailed Green Bay. I think the score was 21-16. We had the ball around the 50.

We lined up strong to the right. I handed off to Phil King the left halfback. He ran to the right sideline. Meanwhile, I faked a bootleg to the left. King was supposed to lateral to me across the field. Then I was to throw deep to Red Phillips on the left.

But the Packers' Lionel Aldridge wasn't playing our game. He stayed with me while the rest of the Packer line chased King. So Phil ran back toward me. He got about two yards away and tossed me the ball.

"Here," he said, "you take the thing."

I got rid of it, throwing to Red Carpenter on the right side, who was the stopgap on the play. But Herb Adderly cut in nicely and intercepted the ball.

THAT PLAY TURNED OUT to be totally undisciplined. We had practiced the fleaflicker, but it just didn't turn out the way we had planned. The one against the Steelers did.

I don't think we'll use the fleaflicker again this season. It's a one-shot deal. The defenses would probably be ready for it.

But who knows. We may get Well to concoct a similar one for us."

Tempers Flare In NBA Contest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The shooting and passing still might be a little rusty, but some of the players' tempers appear to be in midseason form.

At least they were Thursday night in the National Basketball Association game between the San Francisco Warriors and Chicago Bulls, which was won by the visiting Warriors 116-106.

Several near fights marred the game and then, with two minutes left, the contest was disrupted by a torrid fist fight between the Warriors' Jim King and Guy Rodgers of the Bulls. Both were ejected.

The second-half shooting of Fred Hetzel and Rudy LaRusso brought the Warriors the victory. Hetzel and LaRusso each scored 10 points in the third quarter when San Francisco built up a commanding 12-point lead.

Hetzel finished with 29 points, LaRusso 24 and King 20. Jerry Sloan scored 26 and Bob Boozer 24 for Chicago.

St. Louis topped Los Angeles 100-95 in the only other NBA game, while New Orleans beat Houston 120-112 and Denver whipped Oakland 104-91 in the two scheduled American Basketball Association games.

Paul Silas broke an 89-89 tie with five straight points and sent St. Louis to its fourth victory in as many starts.

Dick Snyder scored 22 points and Joe Caldwell 19 for the Hawks. Elgin Baylor topped Los Angeles with 25.

Hulme Hopes to Win Auto Driving Title

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Denis Hulme of New Zealand hopes to win his first World Auto Driving Championship Sunday in the sixth annual Gran Prix of Mexico.

But Hulme, leading the International Formula One auto racing field this year with 47 points, could be jolted out by Australian teammate Jack Brabham, 42 points, if Brabham finishes first or second, which count for nine and six points, respectively.

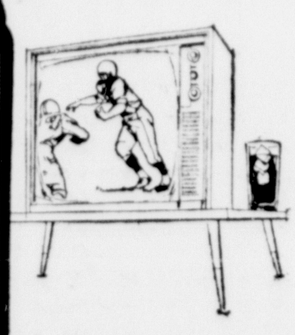

Third place with only four points, would not be enough for Brabham to overtake Hulme even if Hulme didn't race.

Vol Reserve Tests Alabama

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bubba Wyche gets a chanc Saturday to be the Volunteer of the Year.

The 21-year-old junior from Atlanta didn't ask to be starting quarterback, but, because of injuries, that's what he'll be when the seventh-ranked Tennessee Volunteers meet No. 6 Alabama in the big game of the college football weekend.

To Wyche is given the burden of penetrating an Alabama defense, which is not as potent as in past seasons but has been good enough to help keep the Crimson Tide undefeated in four games.

Wyche did the job last Saturday when he replaced injured Charlie Fulton in the first quarter and guided the Vols to a 24-13 victory over Georgia Tech. Fulton, who started the season at tailback, moved to quarterback when the talented Dewey Warren injured a knee in the 27-13 victory over Auburn.

Warren will be in uniform and might see action, but Fulton will not play because of a broken rib.

All of the other Top Ten also see action Saturday.

No. 1 Southern California is at Washington, second-ranked Purdue is at home against Oregon State, UCLA is at Stanford, No. 4 Colorado is at Nebraska, Wake Forest plays at No. 5 North Carolina State at night, Virginia Military is at eight-ranked Georgia, No. 9 Houston is at Mississippi State and No. 10 Wyoming is at Wichita State.

Colorado, 4-0, figures to have the toughest time, although Southern California, 5-0, could get much more than token opposition from Washington, winner of four straight after an opening loss, in their Pacific-8 game.

The Colorado-Nebraska game is as important to the Big Eight race as the Tennessee-Alabama Conference clash is to the Southeastern Conference fight. Besides staying in the conference title battle, Nebraska will be out to make up for last week's 10-0 upset loss to Kansas.

CFMA at Kingston Highlights 14-Game Scholastic Slate

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Kingston High gridders return to their friendly Dietz Stadium confines for a non-league engagement Saturday against winless Cardinal Farley Military Academy.

The KHS-CFMA game heads a slate of 14 area scholastic contests. Featured are key tussles in the UCAL and DCSL as well as some interesting non-league games.

In the UCAL, league leading Rondout Valley hosts New Paltz, Onteora plays at Pine Bush, Marlboro goes to Wallkill and Highland is at Liberty.

Saugerties High has a DCSL contest at Wappingers Falls. In other action, Beacon is at Roosevelt, Arlington meets Our Lady of Lourdes. Red Hook has a Bi-Valley engagement at Haldane.

In addition to the Farley at Kingston affair, the non-league action finds Port Chester at Newburgh Free Academy, Mamaroneck at Middletown, Port Jervis at Warwick, Lakeland at Poughkeepsie and Pawling at Ellenville.

Edged by Lourdes

Kingston, which has dropped its first three games, meets a Farley club that carried the unbeaten Lourdes gridders to the last play before finally losing, 13-6, last Saturday.

Coach Bill Hurley said the locals didn't suffer any serious injuries in their 33-14 loss at Port Jervis and he is hopeful his inexperienced club can find the right combinations against the Cadets.

Farley has a senior club but has been hampered by lack of consistent quarterbacking. The Rhinecliff gridders attack from an I formation and use a flanker.

Hurley praised Marshall Byrd, his talented sophomore halfback. Byrd scampered 90 yards for a touchdown against Port and did a good job on defense.

"Our mistakes have been coming back to hurt us. If we can avoid most of these mistakes, we will win some games," the coach said.

Ganders Favored

Rondout Valley, held to a scoreless tie last week at Marlboro, should get back on the winning track against a defensive minded New Paltz eleven. The Huguenots don't give up many points but they score even less.

Gordie Taylor, stopped for the first time this season, is expected to resume his scoring against the cellar dwellers. Taylor has tallied 12 times in five starts.

Onteora, hoping for Rondout to stub its toe, is expected to encounter some trouble with an improved Pine Bush eleven. Marlboro, on the other hand, doesn't have much of a chore against Wallkill, possibly the weakest team in the circuit.

The big game in the UCAL is the Highland-Liberty match in Sullivan County. A loss by either team will finish its championship hopes.

Saugerties, which played its best game of the season in losing to Poughkeepsie, runs smack into another powerhouse at Wappingers Falls.

The Fallsmen have rebounded from their scoreless tie with Poughkeepsie to easily topple all opposition. For the second consecutive week, the Sawyers will be meeting a club that has yet to have its goal line crossed.

Lourdes will be gunning for its fifth in a row against deflated Arlington, which was upset last week by Roosevelt. The Presidents entertain Beacon, which is winless but still dangerous.

Pointing for Pawling

Red Hook should get by winless Haldane and come to its showdown battle next week with Pawling in a tie for first place in the Bi-Valley League.

Pawling, meanwhile, warms up for that game by taking on homestanding Ellenville. The Blue Devils are 2-2 but have had a decided weakness against a good passing team. Pawling likes to throw the ball.

Of the other DUSO teams playing non-league games, Newburgh has the most rugged assignment. Beaten last week by Middletown, the Goldbacks are home against Port Chester. The Westchester school has a 10-game victory string.

Middletown is favored over Mamaroneck and Poughkeepsie and Port Jervis rule favorites to topple Lakeland and Warwick.

Bloody But Unbowed, Hoople Is Back Again

By
MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
(Original Draw Back)

Egad, friends, never before in its long and successful history has the vaunted Hoople System suffered through such an agonizing weekend as the one just past.

From all four corners of the football world our forecast choices fell victim to a series of misfortunes—missed blocks, fumbles, interceptions, broken shoelaces, dropped passes—and other imponderables impossible to appraise in this computerized age—um-kumph!

Still Far Ahead

Despite the ill luck that befell many of our selections, we still finished with a respectable 14-11 record and the year's total of 58-27 still makes this learned observer far ahead of his so-called competitors. Harumph!

So, if I may borrow from the writings of my illustrious ancestor, William Ernest Hoople Henley:

"Under the bludgeonings of chance,
My head is bloody, but unbowed."

Now, putting the past behind us, we look forward to the challenges of the future—harrumph!

An exhaustive study of all pertinent data on the weekend opponents has resulted in some surprising conclusions.

First, let's take a peek at some of the area scholastic games.

Cardinal Farley Military Academy and Kingston High, both winless to date, will collide at Dietz Stadium. One of the clubs will be happy after the game. We favor the Cadets from Rhinecliff by a 14-13 margin. Harumph!

For those UCAL followers, we tab Onteora over Pine Bush, Rondout to topple New Paltz, Marlboro to get past Wallkill and Highland to shade Liberty.

Okay, gentle readers, Wappingers will wallop Saugerties, 20-0, and Pawling, a small school powerhouse in Dutchess County, will defeat Ellenville, 19-7.

Collegiate Surprises

On the collegiate level, I have three big surprises for you. Michigan will surprise Indiana, 29-20; Nebraska will win its Big Eight meeting with unbeaten Colorado, 19-10 and Tennessee will put the damper on Alabama, 23-15. (Editor's Note: Sounds like Hoople has been watching too many late, late movies.)

After the activity has ceased for the weekend, I will break bread with my learned assistants at Uncle George's. Rumors are that Harry Thayer, the ex-pro general manager, will treat us to some of those hot weiners. (Editor's note: Seeing is believing.)

Now, dear friends, on with the forecast.

Chance Earns Comeback Title

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP)—Dean Chance was one of the top pitchers in the American League in 1964, winning 20 games for the California Angels and posting a league-leading 1.65 ERA.

He slipped to a 15-10 won-lost record the next year, then had his worst season in the majors—12 won and 17 lost—in 1966. The Angels sent him to the Minnesota Twins as part of a four-player trade.

Chance bounced back this year for another big season, winning 20 games, including a no-hitter against the Cleveland Indians Aug. 25.

The achievement won him the selection as American League Comeback Player of the Year Thursday.

The 355 baseball writers and broadcasters taking part in the annual Associated Press poll gave Chance 156 votes to 59 for Bob Allison, also of the Twins, 38 for Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees, 26 for Carl Yastrzemski of the Boston Red Sox and 24 for Bill Freehan of the Detroit Tigers.

Allison had his best year since 1964, hitting 24 homers, driving in 75 runs and hitting .258. He was hampered by injuries last year and batted only .220 in 70 games with eight homers and 19 RBI.

The 36-year-old Mantle made a successful switch from outfield to first base and pounded out 22 home runs in 1967.

Penalize Kansas For Recruiting

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Big Eight Conference penalized Kansas Thursday for a football recruiting violation by reducing its football scholarships to 35 next year and reprimanding Coach Pepper Rodgers and his assistant, John Cooper.

Wayne Duke, Big Eight commissioner, said Cooper and "a representative of athletic interests," who wasn't named, signed three Atlanta high school prospects to interconference letters of intent last May 15, two days before the national signing date.

Duke said Rodgers wasn't involved in the signing but he and Cooper failed to cooperate in the initial phase of the investigation, conducted by the Kansas administration after Chancellor W. Clarke Wescoe received a complaint from the president of another Big Eight school.

SET RIDING RECORD

DENVER (AP) — Don Lewis, 29-year-old jockey from El Paso, Tex., rode 84 winners at Centennial Track last summer, breaking a record set 10 years ago at the track.

Pick Colts, Chargers in Top Contests

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Baltimore and San Diego should have little trouble maintaining their records as the only unbeaten major league pro football clubs in Sunday's action.

The tightest fits in the 12-game program appear to be the Philadelphia at St. Louis game in the National Football League and the Oakland at Boston battle in the American Football League.

Last week's picks hit the Giant score on the nose but many were off target for a 5-4-3 week and a combined season total of 40-14-5—NFL 27-10-3, AFL 13-4-2.

Let's try again. All games are Sunday.

NFL

Baltimore 31, Minnesota 14—Vikings finally broke into win column with upset of Packers but John Unitas and friends should ramble unless it rains or snows. Colts have won last five from Vikes and hold 10-2 edge in series. Minnesota pass defense tough.

Green Bay 24, New York 17—A lot tougher than it looked in preseason days when Packers romped 31-14 at Green Bay. If Bart Starr can play, he should lift Pack out of slump. Giants are confident of breaking 11-game losing streak to Packers, eight preseason, one regular season and two title games. Fran Tarkenton always gives Green Bay headaches. Outside chance of an upset.

St. Louis 26, Philadelphia 24—Both coming off tough losses. Those rumbles from Eagle camp cost them points in this corner. If Norm Snead can't read defenses, that Card bunch will give him a rough day. Cards get the passer and the Eagles can't protect Snead. Make it the Cards on a Jim Bakken field goal. Cards have won their last six meetings.

Los Angeles 31, Washington 21—Rams have made a believer out of this guy, especially this week against that Redskin defense. Sonny Jurgensen will work over Ram secondary in a wild game that could be closer than you think.

Dallas 24, Pittsburgh 20—This may be tough to do without Dandy Don Meredith and Steelers are seething after loss to Giants. Cowboys have too many weapons, plus a tremendous pass rush.

San Francisco 28, New Orleans 14—Forget the preseason win by Saints 24-10 at Portland Aug. 26. This is for keeps. John Brodie's passes and that big back attack will do the job while 49ers chase Saints' Gary Cuozzo to cover.

Cleveland 21, Chicago 14—This pick is a shaky one. Bears' defense is best against passes and Browns have scored 10 of 15 touchdown in air. Leroy Kelly vs. Gale Sayers on the ground could be a draw but Frank Ryan gets the nod over any and all Bear passers.

Detroit 21, Atlanta 14—Injury to Mel Farr tough blow to Lions who already had lost Nick Eddy. Return of Pat Studstill should help. Falcons should be fired up after tie with Redskins.

AFL

Kansas City 21, Houston 17—Chiefs won season opener 25-20 but Oilers picked off six Joe Namath passes last week in 28-28 tie with Jets. If Pete Beathard has learned Houston offense, he might upset his old mates but Len Dawson and Otis Taylor should be enough to save the day.

New York 30, Miami 14—A turkey shoot. Namath can call his shots against Dolphins' defense. New York won first meeting 29-7, Oct. 1.

San Diego 31, Denver 17—John Hadl impressive in Chargers' 45-31 win over Kansas City with speedy Les Duncan sparking the defense. Broncos coming off bye week should get improved effort from Steve Tensi.

Boston 24, Oakland 21—Oakland won 35-7 when they met earlier but Patriots have been rolling in recent weeks with Babe Parilli dealing a hot hand and Jim Nance enjoying three straight 100-yard plus days. Raiders ran agagainst Buffalo but will pass against Pats' weak secondary. A Gino Cappelletti field goal may win it.

Buffalo has the bye this week.

Middie Booters Win, 2-0

Middletown's unbeaten soccer streak was in dire jeopardy for more than a half Thursday before the Middies defeated winless but improved Kingston High, 2-0, in a DUSO match at the winner's field.

Coach John Hunter's booters gave their best performance of the season as they outplayed the hosts during the first and second periods. The KHS team was forced to play without Dee Rauscher, out for the season because of a leg injury.

Middletown broke the scoring ice early in the third quarter with Chuck Smith and Giuseppi Bruni passing the ball back and forth the length of the field and past goalie Gary Schantz.

Midway through the final session, Al Caliccihio of the Middies beat Schantz from 25 yards out with a kick into the upper corner of the net.

The locals return home next week with a Monday DUSO game against winless Fallsburgh and a Thursday clash with Monticello. Both games will be held at Loughran Park, beginning at 4 p. m.

UCCC Runners Gain 7th Win

John Roettger captured individual honors and his Ulster Community College cross country teammates made it seven straight victories for the season by beating the State University (New Paltz) frosh and Post Junior College Thursday at New Paltz.

The locals finished with 19 points against 52 for the hosts and 63 for Post.

Roettger, the ex-Pine Bush track star, was timed in 17:33, ten seconds in front of teammate Joe Simmons.

Coach Dick Glazer's harriers have their toughest meet of the season slated Monday at Orange Community College. "We need this one to keep in the running for the Mid-Hudson Conference title and the boys have to do their best job of the year in order to win," Glazer said.

Worsley Stars For Canadiens

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Grumpy Gump Worsley, who lost his cool two nights ago, has recaptured his magic touch. . .and put the Toronto Maple Leafs in a deep freeze.

Worsley, Montreal's 38-year-old goaltender, breezed to the 30th shutout of his National Hockey League career Thursday night as the Canadiens blanked Toronto 1-0 on Yvan Cournoyer's fifth goal in five games.

It was a brilliant turnabout for the chubby goalie, who squandered a third-period lead Wednesday night at New York ...and then blew his top in the closing minutes of a 2-2 standoff against the Rangers.

After New York's tying goal, Worsley, a former Ranger, answered a fusilade of debris from the stands with a series of menacing gestures, then tangled with several fans.

He controlled his emotions. . .and the Maple Leafs. . .in Thursday night's game at the Montreal Forum, brushing aside 15 shots as the Canadiens held a share of first place in the NHL's Eastern Division.

Elsewhere, the amazing Boston Bruins kept pace with Montreal by drubbing Detroit 6-3 and the Philadelphia Flyers nipped Pittsburgh 1-0 behind rookie goalie Doug Favell.

NFL: GREEN BAY AT NEW YORK

Fancy the Giants in any "big" game. But they are tied for their divisional lead, and they do show a noticeable gift for moving the football, while the Packers have been rather inept offensively. When he was a Viking, Fran Tarkenton always bothered the Packers with his skittery scrambling. He'll keep them on edge again. But that Giant defense is an invitation for Green Bay to get moving finally—especially if they regain Bart Starr.

AFL: HOUSTON AT KANSAS CITY

Suddenly, the Chiefs aren't the big, bad terrors of the AFL any longer. Matter of fact, they're fighting to stay alive in the West, while the Oilers are coming on as a young, eager team with hustling defense. And this will be Pete Beathard's beautiful opportunity to show his old K.C. mates his quarterbacking talents shouldn't have been kept on the shelf. Nevertheless—

The day everyone has been waiting for is finally here! Tomorrow morning beginning at 9:00 a. m. you'll see and hear your friends and neighbors perform on Ulster County's Second and biggest Annual Radio/Videothon, with all proceeds going to our Ulster County Commmunty Chest. Participating organizations will again compete with each other to see which can raise the most money for Chest, with prizes being awarded to the winning organizations. You can support the talent of your choice by pledging over the phone (338-0510 or New Paltz Enterprise 2028) your contribution to this final appeal of the 1967 Chest Campaign.

This year, in addition to your friends and neighbors taking over the normal broadcast functions traditionally reserved to the professionals, we will have some outstanding celebrities who will also be appearing. Senator Robert F. Kennedy, Senator Jacob K. Javits, Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick, Garry Moore, Peg Leg Bates, Joe Frazier (heavyweight boxing championship contender,) Bob Richards and Miss New York of 1966 (Penny Donoghue) are just a few scheduled to participate.

Another highlight: The radio personalities you have listened to over WBAZ, WKNY and WGHQ AM/FM will also be here to MC the program. See and hear Harry Thayer, Tony Bell, Bill Skilling and Jim Thompson of WGHQ; Jim Tyrell, John Allen and Joe Shuler of WKNY and Len Cane of WBAZ.

It promises to be quite an occasion at the George Washington School on Wall Street where, for the first time, a live audience can be accommodated (small donation will be requested). And like last year, interest is spreading outside Ulster County as evidenced by the New York Times which again plans to cover the event. (LIFE magazine also a possibility). So, plan to tune in to either radio or Cablevision (Channel 5) for a fabulous show. And participate personally by pledging whatever you can to this all important final Community Chest appeal.

U. S. Population to Reach 200 Million on Nov. 20

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 11 a.m. Nov. 20, the United States will reach a milestone achieved only by three other nations in history—a population of 200 million.

That's the time pinpointed by the Census Bureau, which is already arranging a round of ceremonies one official said will include a "few breathtaking moments" while its automatic population counter clicks to 200 million.

Only China, India and the Soviet Union have populations exceeding 200 million.

It took the United States until 1915 to reach its first 100 million; 52 years to reach its second 100 million, but the third 100 million could come in 35 years, even by 1990 under one bullish projection.

When the first census was taken in 1790, the bureau counted 3,929,214 persons, all on the Eastern Seaboard. Since then, Americans have taken the advice of Horace Greeley and moved westward.

The center of population in 1790 was 23 miles east of Baltimore while now it's less than 50 miles east of St. Louis and the westward movement is continuing.

In a report issued earlier this month, the bureau said the West's share of the nation's population will increase to 19.4 per cent in 1985 compared with 16.5 per cent in 1965, at the expense of the Northeast and North Central states.

Population in the South is expected to remain at roughly its present percentage of just over 31 per cent.

Negroes will comprise about 11 per cent of the 200 million Americans, including servicemen overseas. But this is far below the 20.3 per cent nonwhite population counted in the 1790 census.

Since the 1960 census, when 179,323,175 Americans were counted, California has replaced New York as the most populous state and Los Angeles has overtaken Chicago as the second largest metropolitan area. New York City is in front by far.

The 200 million ceremony will be held in the lobby of the Commerce Department where the census clock—a Washington tourist attraction— clicks off a new American every 13½ seconds based on births, deaths and migrations.

The clock hit 199,833,565 at closing time Thursday.

Dear Abby

Your Personal Morals...

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Recently you had a letter in your column from a woman signed "Californian," who stated that she and her 30-year-old son had shared a twin-bedded motel room to save expenses while traveling cross-country. She said when she casually mentioned this fact to some of her friends, their eyebrows shot up at the "indency" of such a sleeping arrangement.

Well, if I had been Californian, I would have said, "Look, my son has seen my navel before—and from the INSIDE yet.

Sincerly your, FLORIDIAN

* * *

DEAR ABBY: After reading your letter from the woman who signed herself "Californian," and your answer that she should not concern herself with what others think, believe me, MY eyebrows shot up, too.

My son is 30, and we wouln't think of sharing a room. She claims she did it to save expenses. There must be cheaper accommodations.

I wonder if your answer would have been the same if it had been a father and his daughter? Or perhaps a brother and sister, both grown, but close in age?

And why did the mother casually mention such a matter to her friends? Would she have mentioned that she and her husband had shared a room? Probably not, because that would have been socially acceptable behavior.

I may be stupid to see anything indecent about this, but I think Mamma was looking for approval because she knew it wasn't the thing to do.

Usually, you are right on the ball. But no one can be right all the time. I think that woman should at least be told to keep such information to herself.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: You were too mild in your reply to Californian. You should have asked her how she felt about families who go on camping trips together. Would she consider it indecent for all of them to sleep in the same tent? Or should they have separate tents?

DISGUSTED

DEAR ABBY: To the Californian who shared a room with her 30-year-old son: I am a grandmother of a 27-year-old boy and when we on trips, we always share the same room. His mother and I think nothing of crawling into bed with him in the mornings for chit chat.

We've had eyebrows raised, too, but we just put it down to nasty-mindedness. There is no harm in it. To a mother he is still a small boy

* * *

HIS GRANNY

DEAR ABBY: What amazed me most about Californian's letter was that her 30-year-old son apparently had no objections to sharing a room with his mother. I would have been revolted!

He surely showed a lack of manliness. Furthermore, I am surprised that the motel proprietor would have permitted such an arrangement.

It's In The Stars—

("The wise man controls his destiny . . . astrology points the way.")

Forecast for Saturday, October 21, 1967

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): Don't expect associates to understand every subtle nuance. Some have already made concession—they require additional time. Be independent without appearing arrogant.

TAURUS (Apr.-May 20): Good news received as far as creative endeavors, romance are concerned. You are given chance for greater self-expression. Display talents, special abilities.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Cycle continues high. You are able to display unique abilities. Come out of shell. Speak up. Many are willing to listen. Some will act directly on your suggestions.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Some of your desires are smothered by a kind of false modesty. Be frank. State needs. You are apt to get what you request. Choose the best. Don't hesitate to demand your rights.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Day features change, travel, variety. You go places and spend money. Remember recent resolutions concerning extravagance. Don't give in to mere whims. Make actions meaningful.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Seek adjustments at home. Utilize tact, diplomacy. You can clear up recent misunderstanding through logic, reason. Accent today on getting things accomplished. Do so.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Key is to be perceptive. Don't believe everything you hear today. Some are sincere but apt to be misinformed. Do your own investigating. Take nothing for granted.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You receive aid from friends. But basic tasks depend upon personal efforts. You can't shirk duties. Pleasure received from job well done. Realize this and act acordingly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): What appears as opposition is actually a healthy warning, challenge. You have been yourself in recent days. Now you get a chance to "catch up." Be a very good listener.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Obtain new ideas. Take fresh look at significant persons, situations. You can learn and profit today. Accent individuality. Stress independence, originality. Get going.

The greatest advantage the Italians have is that the team represents three developed partnerships who play together all the time. But this year's American team also consisted of three good partnerships. Unlike the Italians who play together all the time, our pairs play together in two or three tournaments a year and maybe in occasional practice sessions.

This lack of complete partnership understanding shows up in competitive situations.

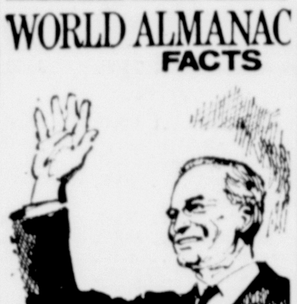

When Italy held the North and South cards they reached four hearts with little interference. Four hearts made easily since all the defense could get were two club tricks and an overruff of dummy's jack with East's queen of trumps.

The bidding in the box shows how Garozzo and Forquet jockeyed our pair one trick above game. The three club jump was preemptive in nature and our North player decided to do a little preempting on his own and jumped to four hearts over it. He wanted to get Forquet to five clubs and Forquet obliged.

Our South player did not realize that his partner was trying to get their opponents to five clubs. He looked at his tremendous additional values and went on to five hearts. The defense took the same tricks and we lost 720 points or 12 International Match Points.

We can't tell what would have happened to five clubs doubled. It is down three tricks off the top and any reasonable defense will take it for four tricks. Since East and West were not vulnerable a four-trick penalty would be 700 points and instead of gaining 12 IMPs Italy would have lost two IMPs.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The 1964 Republican candidate for president, Barry Goldwater, received 96.6 per cent of the votes cast in traditionally Democratic Holmes County, Miss., says The World Almanac. This was the highest winning margin in any U.S. county.

You'll Get to Know Anne

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The public will be seeing a lot of Anne Baxter, the film star and 1946 Oscar winner, during the next couple of weeks.

Grueling Pace

She will be one of the stars of an NBC "world premiere" show on Oct. 31, one of those made-for-TV film features called "Stranger on the Run." In order to publicize the show, Miss Baxter was persuaded to take on a two-week assignment that is one of the grueling penalties of acting success and is called a "P.A. tour." That means a personal appearance tour and when it is over and Miss Baxter is back home in Hollywood, she will be a tired woman.

The film studio that turns out the NBC feature movies arranged Miss Baxter's journey and set up her schedule. The most time was spent making a week's supply of a syndicated, taped day-time variety show in Philadelphia. It will appear on the TV screens next week. She also spent some time in Cleveland and Chicago. Stars on tour are invariably routed to what are called "big Nielsen" areas, places where there are large TV audiences as well as TV and radio stations for local appearances and newspapers for interviews.

Miss Baxter reached New York City—a great spot because of the size of the population and the multiplicity of the communications media—and started her first working day at 5 a.m.

That meant getting her hair done, submitting to an assortment of interviews and appearing on a number of TV an radio shows. When she concluded the day with an appearance on the Johnny Carson program, she had been on the go for 18 hours and, she admitted later, "I'd just about had it."

Miss Baxter has a light touch with the sales pitch and a useful assortment of opinions and anecdotes with which to fill in the spaces around publicity material.

Recommended weekend viewing: Sunday—"Johnny Belinda," ABC, 9-11 p.m. EDT, Mia Farrow plays the deaf mute in an adaptation of the film.

He—Do you believe in platonic love?

She—Well, I wouldn't mind trying it as a starter.

Policeman—Can you accurately describe your missing cashier?

Banker—He is about 5 feet 5 inches tall and $7,000 short.

NO TWO PEOPLE ARE ALIKE, AND BOTH OF THEM ARE GLAD OF IT.

Golf Widow—You think so much of your old golf game that you don't even remember when we were married.

Bug — Of course I do, my dear; it was the day I sank that thirty-foot putt.

The most pathetic citizen today is the man who wants to live in the country and has moved four times in the last four years, but each time the city annexed his area!

Son (entering office)— Well, dad, I just ran up to say hullo.

Dad — Too late, my boy. Your mother ran up to say hullo, and got all my change.

THE WORLD IS FULL OF WONDERS, BUT NOTHING IS MORE WONDERFUL THAN MAN.—

Amy—I'm going to marry a patrolman.

Ann—How thrilling! What's his name?

Amy — I don't know his name, but I've got his number.

Frosh—Am I the only man you have ever kissed?

Deb—Yes, and by far the best looking.

Doctor to overweight man—I've done all I can to get your weight down. I suggest you just learn to be jolly.

Weather Curtails North Raids, 64 Reds Killed in Skirmishes

SAIGON (AP) — Typhoon Carla ran out of steam today but its backlash of winds and rain apparently curtailed the U.S. air war against North Vietnam for the second day in a row.

Carla's center winds over the Gulf of Tonkin dwindled to a piffling 29 miles an hour, but the storm washed out all strikes Thursday by U.S. Navy planes from the three carriers in the gulf.

77 Attack Missions

All air strikes Thursday were flown by Air Force and Marine fighter-bombers from Thailand or South Vietnam. They managed 77 attack missions, including an attack on a railroad bridge 70 miles northwest of Hanoi and infiltration routes and transport facilities in the southern half of North Vietnam.

Reports on Friday's operations over the north will not be available until Saturday, but military spokesmen indicated the storm still was cutting into naval air operations.

In the ground war in South Vietnam, the U.S. Command reported that South Vietnamese civilian irregulars led by U.S. Special Forces troops killed 64 Communists two days ago in three scattered actions.

There were no American casualties, headquarters said, and South Vietnamese casualties were light.

The U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division's 3rd Brigade reported killing another 25 Communist troops while suffering no casualties in a series of small skirmishes in the coastal lowlands 370 miles northeast of Saigon.

High-flying B52 bombers continued their harassment of the 35,000 to 40,000 Communist troops reported by U.S. intelligence to be operating in and around the demilitarized zone. The eight-engine Stratoforts struck twice in the DMZ Friday morning, unloading 300,000 pounds of bombs on suspected staging and bivouac areas and gun positions two and four miles northeast of the U.S. Marine outpost at Con Thien.

Naval Guns Active

U.S. Navy cruisers and destroyers also hammered away with their big guns at Communist installations in the southern part of North Vietnam.

The Navy said one cruiser shelled the Hon Me island radar warning site 32 miles southeast of Thanh Hoa and set off a secondary explosion.

Other 7th Fleet destroyers and Air Force and Marine fighter-bombers joined in the American campaign to prevent another Communist artillery siege of Con Thien like the one last month. Marine outposts along the frontier reported receiving only 22 rounds of mortar and artillery fire Thursday with only two Marines wounded.

Air Force pilots reported destroying or damaging 17 military structures and touching off nine fires in two raids just north of the DMZ. Marine pilots raked artillery positions just north of the zone and reported one secondary explosion.

A military spokesman said there was a possibility of a break in the weather by Sunday, but forecasters predicted another typhoon may hit the Tonkin Gulf area by next Thursday. Carla gave a taste of the northeast monsoon rains now about to envelop North Vietnam for six months. They will force U.S. airmen to scale down their northern operations.

Change MIG Toll

U.S. headquarters announced that four MIG jets previously listed as probably shot down by American pilots have been reclassified as confirmed kills. But although the previous total had been 86 MIGs downed, the headquarters said this was incorrect and the revised total is only 89.

A spokesman said three of the MIG probables were downed last April and one in August. He said they have now been classified as kills after extensive study of pilot reports, aerial forces have reported the loss of 26 American planes to MIGs.

Meridian Jury Convicts Seven

Meridian, Miss. (AP)—Seven Mississippians were convicted and eight others acquitted by an all-white federal court jury stemming from the 1964 backwoods slaying of three young civil rights workers.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge Harold Cox declared a mistrial in the cases of three of the 18 on trial.

The jury of seven women and five men, which deliberated for more than 14 hours and at one point declared itself "hopelessly deadlocked," convicted Neshoba County Deputy Sheriff Cecil R. Price, 29, and Sam Holloway Bowers Jr., 42, identified by the FBI as the imperial wizard of the White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

Others convicted were Alton Wayne Robers, 28; Jimmy Arledge, 29; Billy Wayne Posey, 30; Jimmy Snodown, 33,; and Horace Doyle Barnett, 31.

The jury found Neshoba County Sheriff Lawrence A. Rainey, 44, innocent along with Olen L. Burrage; Herman Tucker; Travis Mayrn Barnette, 31; James T. Harris; Frank J. Herndon; Bernard L. Akin, and Richard A. Willis.

The judge declared mistrials in the cases of Edgar Ray Killen, Jerry McGrew Sharpe and Ethel G. "Hop" Barnette, the Democratic nominee for sheriff in Neshoba County.

Judge Cox ordered Price and Roberts taken into custody immediately and held without bond. He accused the two of "loose talk" after he delivered a new charge Thursday when the jury told him it could not reach a verdict.

"If you think you can intimidate this court you are sadly mistaken," Cox said to Roberts. "I'm not going to let any wild man loose on a civilized society."

The judge accused Roberts of saying, "He gave the jury the dynamite charge. Well, we've got the dynamite for him ourselves."

Judge said the statement was made in the hallway of the Meridian Post Office Building where the courtroom is located.

"We're not going to have any anarchy while I'm sitting down here," Cox added. "There is'nt anybody on earth who can frighten this court. Its unthinkable that he (Roberts) made those remarks. Nobody else need be afraid of his bluster."

Bus Fare Hike In Kingston Is Requested

Kingston's Urban Transit Corporation today declared that an application to raise the city bus fare has been filed with the New York State Public Service Commission.

Approval of the application by the commission is pending, the transit corporation said. Officials said the matter will come before the commission during its next meeting, but workers added, "We have no idea when the next meeting will be held."

The application requests increasing one-way tariffs in the City from 20 cents to 25 cents, and increasing one-way adult fares on its Albany Avenue Extension route from 35 cents to 40 cents. Children fares would be increased on the latter route to 30 cents.

The proposed new tariffs would become effective Nov. 19 if approved, the transit corporation revealed.

A transit spokesman said the increased monies would cover the mounting costs of operation and overhead.

Transit hikes throughout New York's major cities have been a fairly common practice within the last two years. Since 1965, New York City has been embroiled in transit fare increases.

County Will Plant Trees In Kingston

Ulster County will participate in the program of the Historic Landmarks Preservation Commission of the City Beautification Committee through the planting of trees about county-owned property in the uptown section of the city.

The sum of $630 has been made available by the board of supervisors for the purchase of 17 trees which will be planted under the supervision of the Commission along the curb of Crown Street, around the new County Office Building and in front of the court house.

Authorization to participate in the beautification program was granted under a resolution offered by former chairman of the board of supervisors Charles Relyea, Hurley Republican.

Compressed air power was first utilized in the 19th century for such things as pneumatic tubes and air brakes.

High Falls Fire Company meetings are held every second Tuesday and are open to the public.

Accused of shoplifting merchandise at the Big Scot Department store, Route 28, Thursday afternoon two youths identified as students at Bard College, Annandale-on-Hudson, were arrested on charges of petit larceny.

Officer Herbert O'Brien, of the R. B. Security Unit, on duty at the store made the arrests shortly after 3:35 p. m. He said he filed the charges against Michael Joseph Leibovic, 18, and Robert Harry Warren, 17, O'Brien said Leibovic allegedly stole a camera valued at $79.77 and Warren was accused of taking assorted merchandise valued at $27.28.

The two youths later pleaded guilty before Justice of the Peace Arthur A. Reilly, Town of Ulster. Each defendant was fined $100 and given a 30-day suspended jail sentence. In lieu of payment of the fine, Leibovic and Warren were committed to the county jail.

Assisting in the arrests were State Troopers Craig W. Bremer and Thomas J. Crowley of the Kingston sub-station.

The posters are the work of the art students in the city school system and are displayed in a competitive manner with the public asked to vote for the best poster.

The display is exceptionally colorful with the designs including the most modern to the ultra conservative type of poster.

Three Injured, Driver Cited in 209 Crashes

Three persons were injured and one motorist was cited for failure to keep to the right, as the result of motor vehicle accidents on Route 209, according to Ellenville State Police.

Troopers reported Kevin O'Brien, 22, of Troy, was driving along the highway when his vehicle crossed the road and hit a bridge abutment. O'Brien was taken to Ellenville Community Hospital and treated for facial lacerations. He was cited for failure to keep to the right. The mishap occurred at 3:20 a.m.

Albert Bradford, 43, of RD 1, Kerhonkson, was driving his car north on Route 209 near the Ellenville Bowl-o-mat at 9:05 p.m. yesterday, when his car was in collision with the rear of a vehicle operated by James Kile, 18, of Ulster Heights Road, Woodburne. Troopers said Kile's car was stopped because of mechanical failure.

Bradford and Elizabeth Bradford, 50, were taken to the Ellenville hospital and treated for abrasions and contusions, according to investigating troopers.
